The Ultimate Treasure: Cultivating a Deep-Seated and Ever-Present Hunger for God Felix Bamirin, 2018-06-30 The system of the world is deliberately set up to retard the genuine life of faith and sincere love for God an extremely difficult or utterly impossible adventure An undying passion and hunger for God must be deliberately cultivated in order to be able to withstand the onslaught of the enemy of our souls He is a prince of the power of the air that makes the world system so hostile to genuine faith Learn how not to become a victims of the deceitfulness of sin and the enticing pleasures of this present world Learn how to consciously deepen your desires for the Ultimate Treasure which is the treasure of the Kingdom of God peace joy power and the presence of God Your appetite for the things of God will increase so that nothing will be able to assuage your thirsts or satisfy your hunger until you have been filled with all the fullness of God God and all He offers will be your new ultimate and the desire for all others will now be where they belong secondary

Parables and Rhetoric in the Sermon on the Mount Ernst Baasland, 2015-07-27 Parable research has to a large degree ignored the Sermon on the Mount SM and for its part research into the SM has likewise left the parables by the wayside. However the use of parabolic language in more than one third of the SM influences its interpretation and indeed opens up a new approach to it. In the current volume Ernst Baasland focuses on this important factor whilst also taking the rhetoric of Jesus teaching into consideration. The author maintains that rhetorical features have a great bearing on the interpretation of the text with the overall structure illuminating the entire composition of the sermon. Fresh insights into its oration therefore serve to challenge the source problem in a new way. The religious and philosophical settings of this most well known of Christ's preachings are clarified by its parables and rhetoric and the sermon's Jewish background has often been investigated. While the author continues with that particular task he simultaneously affords more emphasis to the parallels in Greek Hellenistic literature. The combining of all these factors leads to a clearer comprehension of the Sermon on the Mount's philosophy of life and provides a better understanding of this classical text. Hagigah (romanized Form) Annesley William Streane, 1891

The Lord's Prayer and the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew's Gospel Charles Nathan Ridlehoover, 2019-12-26
Charles Nathan Ridlehoover examines the Lord's Prayer in Matthew's Gospel focusing on the prayer's centrality and showing how this centrality affects our reading of the Sermon on the Mount and subsequently the prayer itself. Ridlehoover argues that the Lord's Prayer is structurally, lexically and thematically central to the Sermon on the Mount and the means through which disciples of Jesus are empowered to live out the kingdom righteousness it defines. In turn the Sermon on the Mount clarifies what the answer to the petitions of the Lord's Prayer might look like in the life of the disciple of Jesus. Whilst the centrality of the Lord's Prayer has been noted by previous commentators this centrality and its intended purpose has not hitherto been defined or examined in great depth. Ridlehoover fills this gap with a closely argued and in depth study ranging from methodology and the structure of the prayer itself to examining the Father will, forgiveness and evil petitions and the relevance of word and deed for hearers and doers. Ridlehoover's examination of the relationship between the Sermon and Prayer advances studies in compositional criticism and intratextuality. The biblical illustrator: or, Anecdotes [&c.] on the verses of the Bible, by J.S.
