Journal of Gender & the Law ,1993 Legal Status and Rights of Women Edward Stanek,1987 Women Writers and the Early Modern British Political Tradition Hilda L. Smith,1998-03-26 This collection of essays includes studies of women s political writings from Christine de Pizan to Mary Wollstonecraft and explores in depth the political ideas of the writers in their historical and intellectual context The volume illuminates the limitations placed on women s political writings and their broader political role by the social and scholarly institutions of early modern Europe In so doing the authors probe legal and political restraints distinct national and state organisation and assumptions concerning women s proper intellectual interests In this endeavour the volume explores questions and subjects traditionally ignored by historians of political thought and little considered even by current feminist theorists groups who give slight attention to women s political ideas or place women s writings within the social and intellectual structures from which they emerged and which they helped to shape

What Went Wrong? Bernard Lewis,2002-01-24 For many centuries the world of Islam was in the forefront of human achievement the foremost military and economic power in the world the leader in the arts and sciences of civilization Christian Europe a remote land beyond its northwestern frontier was seen as an outer darkness of barbarism and unbelief from which there was nothing to learn or to fear And then everything changed as the previously despised West won victory after victory first in the battlefield and the marketplace then in almost every aspect of public and even private life In this intriguing volume Bernard Lewis examines the anguished reaction of the Islamic world as it tried to understand why things had changed how they had been overtaken overshadowed and to an increasing extent dominated by the West Lewis provides a fascinating portrait of a culture in turmoil He shows how the Middle East turned its attention to understanding European weaponry and military tactics commerce and industry government and diplomacy education and culture Lewis highlights the striking differences between the Western and Middle Eastern cultures from the 18th to the 20th centuries through thought provoking comparisons of such things as Christianity and Islam music and the arts the position of women secularism and the civil society the clock and the calendar Hailed in The New York Times Book Review as the doyen of Middle Eastern studies Bernard Lewis is one of the West s foremost authorities on Islamic history and culture In this striking volume he offers an incisive look at the historical relationship between the Middle East and Europe Paperbound Books in Print ,1982
