Deep-Time Images in the Age of Globalization Oscar Moro Abadía, Margaret W. Conkey, Josephine McDonald, 2024-05-13 This open access volume explores the impact of globalization on the contemporary study of deep time art The volume explores how early rock art research's Eurocentric biases have shifted with broadened global horizons to facilitate new conversations and discourses in new post colonial realities The book uses seven main themes to explore theoretical methodological ethical and practical developments that are orienting the study of Pleistocene and Holocene arts in the age of globalization Compiling studies as diverse as genetics visualization with the proliferation of increasingly sophisticated archaeological techniques means that vast quantities of materials and techniques are now incorporated into the analysis of the world's visual cultures Deep Time Images in the Age of Globalization aims to promote critical reflection on the multitude of positive and negative impacts that globalization has wrought in rock art research The volume brings new theoretical frameworks as well as engagement with indigenous knowledge and perspectives from art history It highlights technical methodological and interpretive developments and showcases rock art characteristics from previously unknown in the global north geographic areas This book provides comparative approaches on rock art globally and scrutinises the impacts of globalization on research preservation and management of deep time art This book will appeal to archaeologists social scientists and art historians working in the field as well as lovers of rock art

The Archaeology of Portable Art Michelle Langley, Mirani Litster, Duncan Wright, Sally K May, 2018-04-17 The development of complex cultural behaviour in our own species is perhaps the most significant research issue in modern archaeology Until recently it was believed that our capacity for language and art only developed after some of our ancestors reached Europe around 40 000 years ago Archaeological discoveries in Africa now show that modern humans were practicing symbolic behaviours prior to their dispersal from that continent and more recent discoveries in Indonesia and Australia are once again challenging ideas about human cultural development Despite these significant discoveries and exciting potentials there is a curious absence of published information about Asia Pacific region and consequently global narratives of our most celebrated cognitive accomplishment art has consistently underrepresented the contribution of Southeast Asia Australia and the Pacific Islands This volume provides the first outline of what this region has to offer to the world of art in archaeology Readers undertaking tertiary archaeology courses interested in the art of the Asia Pacific region or human behavioural evolution along with anyone who is fascinated by the development of our modern ability to decorate ourselves and our world should find this book a good addition to their library

Invisible Women of Prehistory Marlene Derlet, Judy Foster, 2013-06-01 Based on many years of research into ancient history and prehistory this insightful tome argues that three million years of peace a period when women's status in society was much higher than it is now preceded the last 6 000 years of war during which men have come to hold power over women The book challenges the idea accepted in academia that history is a linear development in which society is steadily moving out of a violent and patriarchal past to a more equitable and peaceful future and it reexamines both the archaeological work of Marjia Gimbutas and recent research into the prehistories of Africa Asia the Americas and Australia and Oceania

Indigenous People's Innovation Peter Drahos, Susy Frankel, 2012-08-01 Traditional knowledge systems are also innovation systems This book analyses the relationship between intellectual property and indigenous innovation The contributors come from different disciplinary backgrounds including law ethnobotany and science Drawing on examples from Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands each of the contributors explores the possibilities and limits of intellectual property when it comes to supporting innovation by indigenous people
