Rise Of A Refugee God Hong Kongs Wong Tai Sin:

The Rise of a Refugee God Graeme Lang, Lars Ragvald, 1993 In this case study Lang describes how plagues war revolutions and industrialization affected the worship of the Chinese god Wong Tai Sin and why after his cult was extinguished within China in the 1960s Wong Tai Sin became hugely successful in Hong Kong Originally a healing god he has now become a generalist and is consulted by anxious urbanites about love careers and emigration The Transformation of Yiguan Dao in Taiwan Yunfeng Lu, 2008-02-25 The most influential sect in the Chinese mainland in the 1940s Yiguan Dao was largely destroyed in mainland China in 1953 Yiguan Dao not only survived however but developed into the largest sect in Taiwan despite its suppression by the Kuomintang state In 1987 through relentless efforts the sect finally gained legal status in Taiwan Today Yiguan Dao not only thrives in Chinese societies but has also become a world wide religion which has spread to more than sixty countries This book based on fieldwork conducted in 2002 in Taiwan is the first English language scholarly study exclusively focusing on Yiguan Dao Lu includes a history of Yiguan Dao in mainland China but focuses on the sect s evolution in Taiwan in the past few decades Specifically he probes the operation of Yiguan Dao under suppression in the past twenty years and examines the relationship between Yiguan Dao and its rivals in Taiwan s religious market The Transformation of Yiguan Dao in Taiwan develops the religious economy model by extending it to Chinese societies

Handbook of Religion and the Asian City Peter van der Veer, 2015-05-19 Handbook of Religion and the Asian City highlights the creative and innovative role of urban aspirations in Asian world cities It does not assume that religion is of the past and that the urban is secular but instead points out that urban politics and governance often manifest religious boundaries and sensibilities in short that public religion is politics The essays in this book show how projects of secularism come up against projects and ambitions of a religious nature a particular form of contestation that takes the city as its public arena Questioning the limits of cities like Mumbai Singapore Seoul Beijing Bangkok and Shanghai the authors assert that Asian cities have to be understood not as global models of futuristic city planning but as larger landscapes of spatial imagination that have specific cultural and political trajectories Religion plays a central role in the politics of heritage that is emerging from the debris of modernist city planning Megacities are arenas for the assertion of national and transnational aspirations as Asia confronts modernity Cities are also sites of speculation not only for those who invest in real estate but also for those who look for housing employment and salvation In its potential and actual mobility the sacred creates social space in which they all can meet Handbook of Religion and the Asian City makes the comparative case that one cannot study the historical patterns of urbanization in Asia without paying attention to the role of religion in urban aspirations
