Ritual and Domestic Life in Prehistoric Europe Richard Bradley, 2012-10-12 This fascinating study explores how our prehistoric ancestors developed rituals from everyday life and domestic activities Richard Bradley contends that for much of the prehistoric period ritual was not a distinct sphere of activity Rather it was the way in which different features of the domestic world were played out until they took on qualities of theatrical performance With extensive illustrated case studies this book examines farming craft production and the occupation of houses all of which were ritualized in prehistoric Europe Successive chapters discuss the ways in which ritual has been studied drawing on a series of examples that range from Greece to Norway and from Romania to Portugal They consider practices that extend from the Mesolithic period to the Early Middle Ages and discuss the ways in which ritual and domestic life were intertwined The Prehistory of Britain and Ireland Richard Bradley, 2007-03-05 Sited at the furthest limits of the Neolithic revolution and standing at the confluence of the two great sea routes of prehistory Britain and Ireland are distinct from continental Europe for much of the prehistoric sequence In this landmark 2007 study the first significant survey of the archaeology of Britain and Ireland for twenty years Richard Bradley offers an interpretation of the unique archaeological record of these islands based on a wealth of current and largely unpublished data Bradley surveys the entire archaeological sequence over a 4 000 year period from the adoption of agriculture in the Neolithic period to the discovery of Britain and Ireland by travellers from the Mediterranean during the later pre Roman Iron Age Significantly this is the first modern account to treat Britain and Ireland on equal terms offering a detailed interpretation of the prehistory of both islands The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Ritual and Religion Timothy Insoll, 2011-10-28 The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Ritual and Religion provides a comprehensive overview by period and region of the relevant archaeological material in relation to theory methodology definition and practice Although as the title indicates the focus is upon archaeological investigations of ritual and religion by necessity ideas and evidence from other disciplines are also included among them anthropology ethnography religious studies and history The Handbook covers a global span Africa Asia Australasia Europe and the Americas and reaches from the earliest prehistory the Lower and Middle Palaeolithic to modern times In addition chapters focus upon relevant themes ranging from landscape to death from taboo to water from gender to rites of passage from ritual to fasting and feasting Written by over sixty specialists renowned in their respective fields the Handbook presents the very best in current scholarship and will serve both as a comprehensive introduction to its subject and as a stimulus to further research The Bioarchaeology of Ritual and Religion Alexandra Livarda, Richard Madgwick, Santiago Riera Mora, 2017-12-21 The Bioarchaeology of Ritual and Religion is the first volume dedicated to exploring ritual and religious practice in past societies from a variety of environmental remains Building on recent debates surrounding for instance performance materiality and the false dichotomy between ritualistic and secular behavior this book investigates notions of ritual and religion through the lens of perishable material culture Research centering on bioarchaeological evidence and drawing on methods from archaeological science has traditionally focused on functional questions surrounding environment and economy. However, recent years have seen an increased recognition of the underexploited potential for scientific data to provide detailed information relating to ritual and religious practice. This volume explores the diverse roles of plant, animal, and other organic remains in ritual and religion as foods, offerings, sensory or healing mediums, grave goods, and worked artifacts. It also provides insights into how archaeological science can shed light on the reconstruction of ritual processes and the framing of rituals. The 14 papers showcase current and new approaches in the investigation of bioarchaeological evidence for elucidating complex social issues and worldviews. The case studies are intentionally broad, encompassing a range of sub-disciplines of bioarchaeology, including archaeobotany, anthracology, palynology, micromorphology, geoarchaeology, zooarchaeology (including avian and worked bone studies), archaeomalacology, and organic residue analysis. The temporal and geographical coverage is equally wide, extending across Europe from the Mediterranean and Aegean to the Baltic and North Atlantic regions, and from the Mesolithic to the medieval period. The volume also includes a discursive paper by Prof. Brian Hayden, who suggests a different interpretative framework of archaeological contexts and rituals.

Women's Ritual Competence in the Greco-Roman Mediterranean Matthew Dillon, Esther Eidinow, Lisa Maurizio, 2016-10-14. Contributions in this volume demonstrate how, across the ancient Mediterranean and over hundreds of years, women's rituals intersected with the political, economic, cultural, or religious spheres of their communities in a way that has only recently started to gain sustained academic attention. The volume aims to tease out a number of different approaches and contexts and to expand existing studies of women in the ancient world, as well as scholarship on religious and social history. The contributors face a famously difficult task: ancient authors rarely recorded aspects of women's lives, including their songs, prophecies, and prayers. Many of the objects women made and used in ritual were perishable and have not survived; certain kinds of ritual objects, lowly undecorated pots, for example, tend not even to be recorded in archaeological reports. However, the broad range of contributions in this volume demonstrates the multiplicity of materials that can be used as evidence, including inscriptions, textiles, ceramics, figurative art, and written sources, and the range of methodologies that can be used, from analysis of texts, images, and material evidence to cognitive and comparative approaches.

The Prehistory of Home Jerry D. Moore, 2012-04-18. The Prehistory of Home addresses a topic of widely shared interest and provides easy-to-understand evidence and well-argued interpretations. Jerry Moore is deft with words, phrasing, and building arguments, shifting effortlessly between antiquity and today while keeping the themes of home and prehistory clear. Alongside the rigorous archaeological and scientific research, Moore's wit and personality shine throughout. Wendy Ashmore, coauthor of Household and Community in the Mesoamerican Past. Bronzization: Essays in Bronze Age Archaeology Heide W. Nørgaard, Samantha S. Reiter, 2025-02-20. A collection of state-of-the-art articles which integrate new insights from the many advances in research on the subject into a new and up-to-date vision of the Bronze Age.

as a Europeanised or even globalised period Papers revise current understanding of bronzization and bronzification in line with a holistic view of recent scientific advances

Prehistoric Journeys Vicki Cummings, Robert Johnston, 2007 This collection of thirteen papers focuses on what it meant to be on the move at different times in prehistory Ideas of journeys and travel are integral to many traditions of interpreting the prehistoric archaeological record Travel was after all the driving force behind the formation and transformation of identity How ironic it is that this feature of prehistory has been so overlooked when the ancient world's discovery in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries occurred primarily as the result of travel The contributors to this volume see journeys as an integral part of prehistoric life socially meaningful which must be understood within their prehistoric contexts

Sentient Archaeologies Courtney Nimura, Rebecca O'Sullivan, Richard Bradley, 2023-07-15 Archaeology in the past century has seen a major shift from theoretical frameworks that treat the remains of past societies as static snapshots of particular moments in time to interpretations that prioritize change and variability Though established analytical concepts such as typology remain key parts of the archaeologist's investigative toolkit data gathering strategies and interpretative frameworks have become infused progressively with the concept that archaeology is living in the sense of both the objects of study and the discipline as a whole The significance for the field is that researchers across the world are integrating ideas informed by relational epistemologies and mutually constructive ontologies into their work from the initial stage of project design all the way down to post excavation interpretation This volume showcases examples of such work highlighting the utility of these ideas to exploring material both old and new The illuminating research and novel explanations presented contribute to resolving long standing problems in regional archaeologies across Africa Asia Australia Europe and Oceania In this way this volume reinvigorates approaches taken towards older material but also acts as a springboard for future innovative discussions of theory in archaeology and related disciplines

Archäologie und Ritual Jannis Mylonopoulos, Hubert Roeder, 2006 Madriider Mitteilungen Dr Ludwig Reichert Verlag, 2015-06-17 In den Madriider Mitteilungen werden Beiträge zu Themen der hispanischen und west nordafrikanischen Altertumskunde von den Anfängen bis zur Zeit der Reconquista veröffentlicht Besondere Berücksichtigung finden die von der Abteilung betreuten Forschungen sowie kurze Berichte zur Archäologie der Iberischen Halbinsel und des westlichen Nordafrika

Proceedings of the Prehistoric Society Prehistoric Society (London, England), 2010 The Handbook of Religions in Ancient Europe Lisbeth Bredholt Christensen, Olav Hammer, David Warburton, 2014-09-11 The Handbook of Religions in Ancient Europe surveys the major religious currents of Europe before Christianity the first continental religion with hegemonic ambition wiped out most local religions The evidence whether archaeological or written is notoriously difficult to interpret and the variety of religions documented by the sources and the range of languages used are bewildering The Handbook brings together leading authorities on pre Christian religious history to provide a state of the art survey The first section of the book covers the Prehistoric period from the Paleolithic to the Bronze Age The second section covers the period since writing systems began Ranging across the Mediterranean and Northern Celtic and Slavic Europe the essays assess the archaeological and textual evidence Dispersed archaeological remains and biased outside sources constitute our main sources of information so the complex task of interpreting these traces is explained for each case The Handbook also aims to highlight the plurality of religion in ancient Europe the many ways in which it is expressed notably in discourse action organization and material culture how it is produced and maintained by different people with different interests how communities always connect with or disassociate from adjunct communities and how their beliefs and rituals are shaped by these relationships The Handbook will be invaluable to anyone interested in ancient History and also to scholars and students of Religion Anthropology Archaeology and Classical Studies

Children, Childhood and Society
 Sally Elizabeth Ellen Crawford, Gillian B. Shepherd, 2007 The IAA Series is an interdisciplinary volume reflecting the wide geographical chronological and disciplinary range of the Institute of Archaeology and Antiquity at the University of Birmingham The volumes are based on a thematic research seminar series held at the IAA Childhood was an obvious theme to initiate the new series The Institute has a strong record of publication in the field and members of the Institute have made a significant contribution to childhood studies The Institute is also host to the Society for the Study of Childhood in the Past which was established to pursue and foster interdisciplinary approaches to the study of childhood

Making Spaces Into Places Nenad N. Tasić, Dushka Urem-Kotsou, Marcel Burić, 2020 During three millennia of the Neolithic in southeastern Europe important changes in the social organisation everyday practices and beliefs formed a diverse and rich cultural landscape expressed in settlement patterns architecture and numerous aspects of material culture A growing body of data uncovered over the last few decades shows striking variety in settlement organisation from single layered short lived sites to long lived tell settlements located in different geographical settings In addition small sites e.g. 0.5 ha and extended settlements also appear in most sub regions This volume brings together new data on the Neolithic of southeastern Europe emphasising the organisation and use of space within the regions of Northern Greece the Balkan hinterland and north western Turkey To this end individual chapters focus either on the intra site organisation of recently excavated settlements or provide an up to date synthesis on the regional level combining old and new data

Bronze Age Settlement and Land-Use in Thy, Northwest Denmark Jens-Henrik Bech, Berit Valentin Eriksen, Kristian Kristiansen, 2018 This two volume monograph about the region of Thy in the early Bronze Age provides a high resolution archaeological and ecological model of the organisation of landscape settlements and households during the period 1500-1100 BC Bordering the North Sea to the west and the calmer waters of the Limfjord to the east the region of Thy in Denmark experienced four centuries of intense economic and demographic expansion By combining results from environmental and economic research pollen and palaeobotanical analyses with intensive field surveys and excavations of farmsteads with exceptional preservation it has been possible to open a window to the changes that transformed Bronze Age society and its environment during a few centuries of exceptional expansion and wealth consumption The results from this interdisciplinary venture made it possible to link together the histories of local farmsteads with the wider regional and global history of the Bronze Age in North western Europe during this period Here is much to feed on for students and researchers of the Bronze Age alike Annual Review of Anthropology ,2007 Annual compilation of critical articles from all areas of the discipline of anthropology Tiryns Deutsches Archäologisches Institut. Athenische Abteilung,2015 Analecta Praehistorica Leidensia ,1964 Going Over: The Mesolithic-Neolithic Transition in North-West Europe Alasdair Whittle,Vicki Cummings,2007-11-22 This wide ranging collection of essays covers the transformation from Mesolithic hunter gatherers to Neolithic farmers This comprehensive and authoritative treatment provides the best available overview of this fundamental change in human society BOOK JACKET
