adult education work and civil society Rather than focusing on active participants and active participation the objective is to scrutinize the whole adult population in terms of participation and to pay special attention to those who are so easily left out of studies concerning adult education learning at work or active participation in civil society. The aim of the book is to bring into the discussion the views of those who do not find attending adult education possible and who thus form a challenge for the promotion of active citizenship. In the collection of articles researchers from various disciplines and with cross disciplinary interests in adult education and marginalisation meet and discuss with each other within and beyond their own disciplines.

The Politics of Citizenship in Germany Eli Nathans, 2004-07 Why did German states for so long make it extraordinarily difficult for foreigners who were not ethnic Germans to become citizens. In a study that begins in the early 19th century and reaches the Nazi period the author challenges the traditional interpretation of the role of ethnicity.

Between State and Nation Myra A. Waterbury,2010-11-15 This book investigates the relationship between states and transborder ethnic groups in Eastern Europe It uses the case of Hungary which has long standing ties to the nearly three million ethnic Hungarians in neighboring countries to address why and how kin states take action on behalf of their ethnic diasporas and the consequences of that engagement for regional relations and domestic politics. The book argues that it is not ethnic affiliation but elite political competition within a newly liberalized post communist party system together with European Union integration that both drives increased engagement with ethnic kin abroad and constrains its most dangerous forms.
