Rights And Wrongs Vol 89 How Children And Young Adults Evaluate The World:

Rights and Wrongs: How Children and Young Adults Evaluate the World Marta Laupa,2000-10-23 This issue focuses on the way children and young adults understand and form judgements of right and wrong and examines the ways these judgements are independent yet coordinated Authors address the formation of judgements of right and wrong within and across different domains of knowledge as well as interrelations or coordinations across judgements of different types They present research on judgements of truth and how children distinguish domains of truth They examine how children judge moral and mathematical rights and wrongs and coordinate them with concepts of authority They also discuss children's distinction between what is held to be factually true and morally right as well as how they make judgements about moral worthiness and moral obligation By drawing on distinctions both psychological and epistemological between social and nonsocial knowledge as well as between different domains of reasoning within each area this issue offers great insight into children's and adolescents understanding of rights and wrongs This is the 89th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development

Connections Between Theory of Mind and Sociomoral Development Bryan W. Sokol,2004-04-13 The heightened attention to research on theory of mind is due in large part to the shared intuition that this core aspect of development must have important consequences for and connections with children's evolving social competence. This seems particularly true for the moral domain where a psychological or inward focus is often taken to be a constitutive feature of what distinguishes moral actions from other kinds of behavior. Unfortunately the theory of mind enterprise has largely failed to capitalize on this fundamental connection between mental life and morality and as a result it has been effectively cut off from the study of sociomoral development. Contributors to this volume illustrate different though complementary attempts to bridge the gap that exists between these research traditions. Two central questions are addressed. First, what is the impact of children's conceptions of the mind on their moral judgments? Second, does children's mental state understanding influence the moral quality of their own behavior? In the concluding chapters prominent scholars from both the theory of mind literature and the moral development domain comment on the efforts being made to link these research traditions and offer suggestions for future inquiry.
