Rise Of Caring Power Elizabeth Fry And Josephine Butler In Britain And The Netherlands:

The Rise of Caring Power Annemieke van Drenth, Francisca de Haan, 1999 This original study discusses the role of women in developing and dispersing caring power and vice versa the role of caring power in constituting women as modern social subjects processes which began around 1800 Based on the historian philosopher Foucault's concept of pastoral power caring power also takes into account the vital role played by gender Both humanitarian and religious motives fostered the ideal of serving the well being of individual others and thereby the interest of society as a whole With the rise of caring power this book argues women began to feel responsible for those of their own sex and to organize themselves in all female organizations In the process they carved out new gender identities for themselves and the women in their care The authors illustrate this profound historical change with the work of the reformers Elizabeth Fry 1780-1845 and Josephine Butler 1828-1906 and trace their impact in Britain and the Netherlands

Models of Charitable Care: Catholic Nuns and Children in their Care in Amsterdam, 1852-2002 Annelies van Heijst, 2008-06-30 Models of Charitable Care analyses the practice of Catholic nuns in Amsterdam in the 19th and 20th century Attention is paid to the ambiguous ascetic spiritual discourse that underpinned their work it encouraged charity as solidarity with strangers but caused intense emotional distance too Historiography is mainly manufactured by religious and lay academics who shared the congregational perspective and presented fairly positive evaluations Criticism from within however is voiced by care leavers who grew up in homes ran by religious Some are grateful others bitter The sisters were living models who combined an anti worldly outlook with a practical concern for vulnerable creatures Relating various theoretical interpretations a typology of three models is developed with agency as the differentiating criterion

Capitalism's Sexual History Nicola Jo-Anne Smith, 2020 As ongoing controversies over commercial sex attest the relationship between capitalism and sexuality is deeply contentious Economic and sexual practices are assumed to be not only separable but antithetical hence why paid sex is so often criminalized and morally condemned Yet while sexuality is highly politicized in moral terms it has largely been overlooked in the discipline devoted to the study of global capitalism international political economy IPE Likewise the prevailing field in sexuality studies queer theory has frequently sidelined questions of political economy This book calls for critical scholarship to challenge the economy sexuality dichotomy as it not only structures disciplinary debates but is part and parcel of capitalism itself Capitalism's Sexual History brings IPE and queer theory into close dialogue to explore how the division between economy and sexuality has been historically produced to appear both natural and moral By examining sex work in Britain Nicola J Smith draws on in depth archival research to chart a history of capitalism's sexual relations from medieval times to the present day She shows how capitalist development was made possible by the appropriation of unpaid sexual labor that relied in turn on the repression and production of paid sex By tracing the historical construction of boundaries around sex and work this book exposes how capitalism has long profited from the notion that the sexual and economic spheres can and must be kept apart In so doing it offers a distinctive contribution to the study of sex and work as well as to wider scholarly activist and policy debates about political economy reproductive labor gender equality and sexual justice Women, Educational Policy-Making and Administration in England Joyce Goodman, Sylvia Harrop, 2002-11-01 The role of women in policy making has been largely neglected in conventional social and political histories This book opens up this field of study taking the example of women in education as its focus It examines the work attitudes actions and philosophies of women who played a part in policy making and administration in education in England over two centuries looking at women engaged at every level from the local school to the state Women Educational Policy Making and Administration in England traces women s involvement in the establishment and management of schools and teacher training the foundation of the school boards women s representation on educational commissions and their rising professional profile in such roles as school inspector or minister of education These activities highlight vital questions of gender class power and authority and illuminate the increasingly diverse and prominent spectrum of political activity in which women have participated Offering a new perspective on the professional and political role of women this book represents essential reading for anybody with an interest in gender studies or the social and political history of England in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries “L’” homme Erna Appelt, Waltraud Heindl-Langer, 2001 Contested Concepts in Gender and Social Politics Barbara Hobson, Jane Lewis, Birte Siim, 2002-01-01 This text challenges mainstream thinking on welfare states citizenship family work and social policy It analyses the corresponding shifts in political discourse and the changes in socio political configurations that mirror changing gender relations Dutch Literature and Culture in an Age of Transition Thomas Frederic Shannon, Johan P. Snapper, 2007 Transforming the Public Sphere Maria Grever, Berteke Waaldijk, 2004-06-23 First complete study of the 1898 Dutch National Exhibition of Women s Labor its international relevance and how the Exhibition s representations of the colonies gender class and ethnicity influenced political culture in the Netherlands Nursing History Review, Volume 11, 2003 Patricia D’Antonio, RN, PhD, FAAN, Barbra Mann Wall, Book Rev Editor, 2002-09-26 Nursing History Review an annual peer reviewed publication of the American Association for the History of Nursing is a showcase for the most significant current research on nursing history Regular sections include scholarly articles over a dozen book reviews of the best publications on nursing and health care history that have appeared in the past year and a section abstracting new doctoral dissertations on nursing history Historians researchers and individuals fascinated with the rich field of nursing will find this an important resource Women's Emancipation Movements in the Nineteenth Century Sylvia Paletschek, Bianka Pietrow-Ennker, 2004 Annotation The nineteenth century a time of far reaching cultural political and socio economic transformation in Europe brought about fundamental changes in the role of women Women achieved this by fighting for their rights in the legal economic and political spheres In the various parts of Europe this process went forward at different paces and followed different patterns Most historical research up to now has ignored this diversity preferring to focus on women's emancipation movements in major western European countries such as Britain and France. The present volume provides a broader context to the movement by including countries both large and small from all regions of Europe. Fourteen historians, all of them specialists in women's history, examine the origins and development of women's emancipation movements in their respective areas of expertise. By exploring the cultural and political diversity of nineteenth century Europe and at the same time pointing out connections to questions explored by conventional scholarship, the essays shed new light on common developments and problems. Feminist Studies, 2001

Encyclopedia of Women Social Reformers: M-Z Helen Rappaport, 2001 Quaker History, 1999 History, Politics and Policy-making in Education Richard Aldrich, 2007 Richard Aldrich, Emeritus Professor of History of Education, retired in 2003 after a 30 year career at the Institute of Education where he continues to serve as Public Orator. In his scholarship, Aldrich has particularly emphasized the importance of historical perspectives and the relationship between the educational past, politics and policy making. This volume of eleven essays by fellow historians of education who have been privileged to work closely with him takes up the theme of history, politics and policy making and pays tribute to his leadership of the field in the UK and overseas.

Encyclopedia of European Social History from 1350 to 2000 Peter N. Stearns, 2001. By examining the values, ideas and social and political movements of people from all over Europe, this encyclopedia illuminates the underlying framework of its vast and colourful social history. Beyond the Canon Maria Grever, Siep Stuurman, 2007-10-11. This book reflects on the culture wars over the historical canon in today's globalizing world. It discusses the attempts to review and transcend the received canon in historical research and teaching in Europe, Canada, the United States and South Africa. In the aftermath of the culture wars, the national and Western canons still largely dominate teaching and public memory. The book addresses the challenge of moving beyond these traditional narratives without sacrificing history as a coherent, attractive and teachable subject. Disability & the Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel, Scot Danforth, 2008. Disability and the Politics of Education. An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education. For nearly two decades, global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All (EFA) and the Salamanca Statement. Yet, according to UNESCO, reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community. Today, millions of the world's disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education, particularly in countries with limited resources. Even in the wealthiest countries, many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled, particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment. International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best, thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness. This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling, resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches

Blood and Homeland Marius Turda, Paul J. Weindling, 2006-01-11 The history of eugenics and racial nationalism in Central and Southeast Europe is a neglected topic of analysis in contemporary scholarship The 20 essays in this volume written by distinguished scholars of eugenics and fascism alongside a new generation of scholars excavate the hitherto unknown eugenics movements in Central and Southeast Europe including Austria and Germany Eugenics and racial nationalism are topics that have constantly been marginalized and rated as incompatible with local national traditions in Central and Southeast Europe These topics receive a new treatment here On the one hand the historiographic perspective connects developments in the history of anthropology and eugenics with political ideologies such as racial nationalism and anti-Semitism on the other hand it contests the Sonderweg approach adopted by scholars dealing with these issues

The Europeans in Australia: Democracy Alan Atkinson, 1997 This book takes the story from around 1815 to the early 1870s The author tells of the expansion and enrichment of the colonies and the emergence of democracy By exploring the nineteenth century communication revolution he also casts new light on the way Australia first took its place in a global world Book jacket
