Rise And Fall Of An African Utopia:

The Rise and Fall of an African Utopia Stanley Barrett, 1977-11 In 1947 a group of Yoruba speaking fishermen who had been persecuted because of their religious beliefs founded their own community in order to worship in peace Although located in an impoverished part of Nigeria within a few years the village enjoyed remarkable economic success This was partly because the fishermen held all goods in common pooled the profits in the community treasury and attempted to reduce the importance of the family and marriage After about a generation the utopia began to fall apart The early religious zeal faded private enterprise replaced communalism and the family became strong once more In an attempt to explain the initial success and eventual decline of the utopia the author compares it with neighbouring villages that embraced similar religious beliefs but did not enjoy the same economic success He sets the problem firmly in a broad comparative framework and draws the implications for theories of development especially Weber's Protestant ethic thesis The Rise and Fall of an African Utopia Stanley Barrett, 2010-10-30 In 1947 a group of Yoruba speaking fishermen who had been persecuted because of their religious beliefs founded their own community in order to worship in peace Although located in an impoverished part of Nigeria within a few years the village enjoyed remarkable economic success This was partly because the fishermen held all goods in common pooled the profits in the community treasury and attempted to reduce the importance of the family and marriage After about a generation the utopia began to fall apart The early religious zeal faded private enterprise replaced communalism and the family became strong once more In an attempt to explain the initial success and eventual decline of the utopia the author compares it with neighbouring villages that embraced similar religious beliefs but did not enjoy the same economic success He sets the problem firmly in a broad comparative framework and draws the implications for theories of development especially Weber's Protestant ethic thesis The Rise and Fall of an African Utopia A Wealthy Theocracy in Comparative Perspective, 2010 In 1947 a group of Yoruba speaking fishermen who had been persecuted because of their religious beliefs founded their own community in order to worship in peace Although located in an impoverished part of Nigeria within a few years the village enjoyed remarkable economic success This was partly because the fishermen held all goods in common pooled the profits in the community treasury and attempted to reduce the importance of the family and marriage After about a generation the utopia began to fall apart The early religious zeal faded private enterprise replaced communalism and the family became strong once more In an attempt to explain the initial success and eventual decline of the utopia the author compares it with neighbouring villages that embraced similar religious beliefs but did not enjoy the same economic success He sets the problem firmly in a broad comparative framework and draws the implications for theories of development especially Weber's Protestant ethic thesis Zeitschrift für Ethnologie, 1999 Includes the society's Verhandlungen Oct 1870 1902 and its Nachrichten über deutsche Altertumsfunde 1890 1904 published as a separate supplement to the journal Books in Print, 1982 The African Metropolis Toyin Falola, Bisola Falola, 2017-08-07 On a planet where urbanization is rapidly expanding nowhere is the growth more pronounced than in cities of the global South and in particular Africa African metropolises are harbingers of the urban challenges that lie ahead as societies grapple with the fractured social economic and political relations forming within these new often mega cities The African Metropolis integrates geographical and historical perspectives to examine how processes of segregation marginalization resilience and resistance are shaping cities across Africa spanning from Nigeria and Ghana to Kenya Ethiopia and South Africa The chapters pay particular attention to the voices and daily realities of those most vulnerable to urban transformations and to questions such as Who governs Who should the city serve Who has a right to the city And how can the built spaces and contentious legacies of colonialism and prior development regimes be inclusively reconstructed In addition to highlighting critical contemporary debates the book furthers our ability to examine the transformations taking place in cities of the global South providing detailed accounts of local complexities while also generating insights that can scale up and across to similar cities around the world This book will be of interest to students and scholars of African Studies urban development and human geography
