Porphyry Architecture And Technique:

Il porfido. Architettura e tecnica. Ediz. inglese Antonio Frattari, Flavio Stenico, 2001 Vasari on Technique Giorgio Vasari, 2012-07-12 Giorgio Vasari 1511-1571 is well known for his celebrated work on the lives of the Renaissance artists. But not many people know that Vasari was a painter and architect as well as a biographer and that he wrote one of the most valuable treatises on the technical methods of the painters, architects and sculptors of his time. This is the first and only English translation of this important technical material originally published in 1550 as an introduction to Vasari's Lives of the Artists. Vasari, as a practical craftsman, brings to his work an unusual understanding of the processes and materials he writes about and conveys this knowledge to the reader in a style of the pleasantest and most readable kind. In the section on architecture he describes the methods used in constructing rustic fountains and grottos; how Michelangelo developed new uses for architectural materials; the architectural uses of enriched plaster; the Renaissance view of Ionic, Doric, Gothic and other types of architecture; and many similar topics. In the section on sculpture the reader will learn about the making of the model, completion of the statue, reliefs, bronze casting, modelled plaster work, sculpture in wood and other processes. The final section on painting discusses aesthetics, perspective, foreshortening, how colors were blended, fresco painting, painting in tempera, oil painting and much more. Scholars and historians of art have long used this book as the most detailed and valuable sourcebook of its time. But its full readable discussions combined with the sense of actuality and historical presence it contains make it also perhaps the best possible description of the Renaissance artists in the heyday of their achievement.

Technical Record of Design and Construction United States. Bureau of Reclamation, 1961 Colorado-Big Thompson Project, Constructed 1938-56, Technical Record of Design and Construction. Denver, Colorado, April 1957 United States Reclamation Bureau, 1957 Hellenistic Painting Techniques Vincent J. Bruno, 1985 Architects and Intellectual Culture in Post-Restoration England Matthew Walker, 2017-10-13 Architects, Builders and Intellectual Culture in Restoration England charts the moment when well-educated, well-resourced English intellectuals first became interested in classical architecture in substantial numbers. This occurred after the Restoration of the Monarchy in 1660 and involved people such as John Evelyn, Robert Hooke, Sir Christopher Wren and Roger North. Matthew Walker explores how these figures treated architecture as a subject of intellectual enquiry, either as writers, as designers of buildings or as both. In four substantial chapters it looks at how the architect was defined as a major intellectual figure; how architects acquired material that allowed them to define themselves as intellectually competent architects; how intellectual writers in the period handled knowledge of ancient architecture in their writing; and how the design process in architecture was conceived of in theoretical writing at the time. In all, Walker shows that the key to understanding English architectural culture at the time is to understand how architecture was handled as knowledge and how architects were conceived of as collectors and producers of such knowledge. He also makes the claim that architecture was treated as an extremely serious and important area of intellectual enquiry the result of which was that by the turn of the eighteenth century architects and architectural writers could count themselves amongst England's intellectual and cultural elite
