Implementing Mental Health Promotion Margaret M. Barry, Aleisha M. Clarke, Inge Petersen, Rachel Jenkins, 2019-10-31

This book offers a comprehensive overview of current research policy and practice developments in promoting mental health and well being. It offers guidance on developing and delivering mental health promotion interventions across a variety of settings internationally. Chapters outline key mental health promotion concepts, implementation processes and outcomes through empirical findings, practical advice based on successful evidence based approaches and templates for action. In addition, chapters answer key 'how' questions on practical implementation as well as the 'whys' providing rationales for mental health promotion and identifying the key factors and underlying principles that make these interventions work. The book includes examples of evidence based practice with 17 case studies of innovative interventions from different international settings. These case studies illustrate the practical aspects of intervention development and delivery and the realities of implementing policies and programmes outside of controlled research conditions. Topics featured in this book include: Interventions that promote gender equality, Community empowerment models of mental health promotion, Mental health promotion in the home for children and parents, Promoting social and emotional learning in schools, Addressing stress and promoting mentally healthy workplaces, Mental health promotion within primary health care, Re-orienting mental health services to mental health promotion for service users and caregivers. Implementing Mental Health Promotion Second Edition is a must have resource for researchers, clinicians and related professionals and policymakers as well as graduate students across such interrelated disciplines as health promotion, public health, child and school psychology, social work, clinical psychology, child and adolescent psychiatry, health psychology, educational policy and practice, school nursing, occupational therapy, school counseling and family studies.

Low-Cost Approaches to Promote Physical and Mental Health Luciano L'Abate, 2007-06-06. Most physical and mental health professionals will agree that their time, space and funds are generally in short supply even under optimal conditions. Their participants, clients or patients too will admit to similar deficits of time and patience even with optimal motivation. Overburdened mental health facilities are trying to cope with limited budgets and overworked and underpaid personnel. Low Cost Approaches to Promote Physical and Mental Health addresses both sides of this shortfall by offering either self-administered or easily administered verbal and non-verbal interventions designed to promote positive health behaviors while requiring little or no outside funding. Editor Luciano L'Abate continues his long tradition of prolific innovations by identifying major changes in today's health care systems and explaining how targeted prescriptive promotion/prevention strategies can enhance traditional primary, secondary and tertiary interventions in key behavioral and relational areas: Nutrition, weight, obesity control, diets, meal planning, vitamins and minerals, herbal supplements, Exercise, expressive movement, relaxation, meditation and mindfulness. Writing for mental health promotion from structured protocols, workbooks to less structured focused expressive and guided writing including diaries and autobiographies Sex sexuality affection intimacy and fear of intimacy Mother child bonding as well as couple and family togetherness Spirituality and forgiveness in dealing with inevitable life hurts and disappointments Friendships and support groups Plus leading edge interventions including emotional intelligence animal companionship and computer technology Reviews of each promotional approach are engaging effective and consistent with standard psychological practice for lasting results either away from or in addition to non clinical and clinical settings schools hospitals seniorcitizen centers etc L Abate and his fifty colleagues have designed a future oriented sourcebook for mental and public health professionals who want to maximize their resources and those of their participants Mental Health Promotion in Schools Carmel Cefai,Paul Cooper,2017-06-09 The narratives of the children and young people school teachers and school leaders parents and carers policy makers and service managers and mental health workers and professionals presented in this book should provide an invaluable resource for all those involved in mental health promotion in school The insights drawn from these direct field experiences may help to inform policy and good practice and serve as an inspiration to schools in their efforts to introduce and promote mental health for their communities Most of the chapters present original research carried out in schools services universities and other contexts across different cultures Through various qualitative studies carried out in different cultural contexts Mental Health Promotion in Schools provides a platform for children teachers school leaders parents professionals policy makers and teacher educators to express their views on what works and does not work in mental health promotion in school In our continued quest for evidence based research we may tend to underestimate the value and significance of capturing the views and experiences of those most directly involved in mental health promotion such as children and young people school teachers and parents carers in seeking to enhance policy and practice in the area This book should be of particular interest to those involved in mental health promotion in school at practice training and research levels and we are sure that among these chapters they will discover many new and stimulating insights into the promotion of mental health in such complex systems as schools This is a timely book since mental health difficulties among children and young people are on the increase across the world The editors Carmel Cefai and Paul Cooper are passionate about the crucial role to be played by schools in creating safe spaces in which to learn develop and socialise They have spent many years in the development of creative initiatives for the promotion of emotional health and well being amongst young people The editors bring an international perspective to the issue of mental health and youth and show how important it is to collaborate and share expertise and knowledge Cefai and Cooper have assembled an impressive range of authors to share their knowledge and to show how initiatives can be adapted to a range of cultural contexts Helen Cowie Professor Faculty of Health and Medical Sciences University of Surrey UK Encyclopedia of Primary Prevention and Health Promotion Thomas P.
