

Selection Process

- Hiring decisions are about finding the people who will be a good fit with the job and the organization.
- Personnel selection: the process through which organizations make decisions about who will or will not be allowed to join the organization.
- Selection begins with the candidates identified through recruitment and attempts to reduce their number to the individuals best qualified to perform the available job.
- The best selection methods:
  - Will provide information that is reliable and valid and can be generalized to apply to the organization's group of candidates
  - Should measure characteristics that have practical benefits for the organization
  - Must meet legal requirements in effect where the organization operates
