Perspectives on Academic Writing Bernd Herzogenrath, 2022-11-17 Particularly for the disciplines of the humanities and social sciences for which writing is their lifeblood the crisis in academic writing has become existential It is not hard to diagnose the disease and its causes This book showcases what we desperately need radical alternatives experiments we can try out ways of writing that don't just tweak the system but plot a different course altogether This isn't just about finding new genres for these only change the surface appearance without altering the underlying dynamic Rather the editor and contributors focus on finding new ways to join thinking both with writing and the things of which and with which we write Each chapter brims with the kind of liveliness outspokenness and urgency that their theme demands Far from tiptoeing around the edifice of academia they are intent on stirring things up reigniting their scholarship with a fuse of activism in the hope of setting off an explosion that could send ripples throughout the academy Ethnographic Perspectives on

Academic Writing Brian Paltridge, Sue Starfield, 2016-12-05 This book argues that adopting ethnographically oriented perspectives on research into academic writing is a valuable means of deepening understanding of the social influences on language use and individuals' experiences in academic writing contexts helping to gain insider views of writers' experiences writing practices and the contexts in which academic texts are produced and assessed College Academic Writing A

Dirgeyasa, M.Hum., 2017-01-02 The College Academic Writing A Genre Based Perspective course book is organized based on genre perspective It teaches and trains the students about the writing process and content writing It also guides them to identify to whom the writing is for what purpose it is and to what context it is used It is commonly understood that in teaching writing to students with low entry level of English proficiency there is always the risk of sacrificing creativity in order to achieve accuracy or vice versa College Academic Writing A Genre Based Perspective is designed to guide and help students about the process of writing and the product of the writing itself in such a way that the final work of writing is not only expressive and rich in content but also clear and accurate as well as relevant to their needs Buku persembahan penerbit Prenada Media Exploring Academic Writing in Cameroon English: A

Corpus-based Perspective Daniel A. Nkemleke, 2011-10-20 A Multilingual Perspective on the Diversification of Academic Writing Verbra Frances Pfeiffer, 2024-11-01 This book presents an analysis derived from data collected across South Africa Brazil and Switzerland focusing on multilingual academic writing through translanguaging Exclusive to university students from these nations it examines the disparity between thinking in one language and writing in another Addressing the challenges faced by non-native language writers it advocates for acknowledging student voices and identities in the decolonization of academic writing While briefly touching on code switching often deemed obsolete this book reframes

it within the context of university level academic writing across the three countries Its primary objective is to illustrate how translanguaging along with voice and identity can be integrated into writing practices for non native language speakers Offering practical strategies for educators the research reveals student anxieties surrounding identity loss and voice neglect in academic settings Ultimately it suggests that accommodating multilingual students can alleviate their writing related stress fostering a more inclusive academic environment Professor Adelia Carstens commended the book for its valuable insights into translanguaging predicting a favorable reception worldwide

Demystifying Academic Writing in Higher Education: A Process View on Academic Textual Production Xinghua Liu, Rui Alexandre Alves, Angelique Aitken, Josef Schmied, 2025-10-30 Academic writing in this Research Topic refers to the type of writing demonstrating students disciplinary knowledge of and proficiency in synthesizing analyzing and responding critically to new information Hyland 2004 Swales 1990 which may include those genres like course

essays project reports research proposals lab notes journal articles conference paper theses and dissertations As the current workplaces have become increasingly specialized higher education worldwide has been increasingly charged with the task of developing students academic writing and correspondingly on students parts learning through writing has been necessary for them to succeed in higher education To prepare university students for writing challenges during the past decades numerous studies have been devoted to the study of linguistic and rhetorical resources in students academic writing under such umbrella terms like style reader awareness authorial voice writers identity stance evaluation textual structures steps and moves Charles Hunston Hinkel 2002 However previous research on academic writing has been predominantly focused on the linguistic and rhetorical aspects namely the final product of students writing while the nature and processes of composition students engagement and individual differences and the influence of contextual factors like emerging technology have been under explored Thus the goal of this Research Topic is to bring a process oriented and dynamic perspective to the study of textual production in academic contexts by both encouraging an expanded view of existing research paradigms and also welcoming novel approaches Data can be collected by using corpus building interviews and questionnaires but we would also welcome the use of experimental methods and a mixed method approach for data collection Meanwhile previous research mainly studied university students who were learning English as a second or foreign language hence we also welcome research examining first language writers and students who are learning a second or foreign language other than English We believe for the study of the complex phenomenon like academic writing no single method or tool can suffice Therefore we strongly recommend a more creative perspective in data collection and analyzing and interpreting academic writing Papers can present quantitative data analyses based on experimental design or qualitative data analyses stemmed from more ethnographic oriented research Systematic review studies are also welcome We encourage contributions related but not restricted to the following topics 1 Cognitive processes in academic texts planning composing and revisions and student writers individual differences 2 Metacognition and self regulation in academic texts planning composing and revisions and student writers individual differences 3 Motivation and self efficacy in academic texts planning composing and revisions and student writers individual differences 4 Linguistic and rhetorical choices identity construction and disciplinary knowledge construction 5 Student writers textual production peer feedback and interactions with discourse communities 6 Affordances and challenges of artificial intelligence AI in the process of academic textual production in higher education Academic Writing Development in Higher Education ,1999 Academic Writing and Information Literacy Instruction in Digital Environments Tamilla Mammadova,2023-01-01 This book offers an interdisciplinary approach to the teaching of academic writing and information literacy in a new digital dimension drawing on recent trends towards project based writing digital writing and multimodal writing in Education and synthesising theory with practice to provide a handy toolkit for teachers and researchers The author combines a practical orientation to teaching academic writing and information literacy with a

grounding in current theories of writing instruction in the digitalized era and argue that as digital environments become more universal in modern society particularly in the aftermath of the coronavirus pandemic the lines between traditional academic writing and multi modal digital writing must necessary become blurred This book will be of use to teachers and instructors of academic writing and information literacy particularly within the context of English for Academic Purposes EAP as well as students and researchers in Applied Linguistics Pedagogy and Digital Writing

Writing and Learning in Cross-national Perspective David Foster, 2017-10-03 Despite the increasingly global implications of conversations about writing and learning U S composition studies has devoted little attention to cross national perspectives on student writing and its roles in wider cultural contexts Caught up in our own concerns about how U S students make the transition as writers from secondary school to postsecondary education we often overlook the fact that students around the world are undergoing the same evolution How do the students in China England France Germany Kenya or South Africa the educational systems represented in this collection write their way into the communities of their chosen disciplines How for instance do students whose mother tongue is not the language of instruction cope with the demands of academic and discipline specific writing And in what ways is U S students development as academic writers similar to or different from that of students in other countries With this collection editors David Foster and David R Russell broaden the discussion about the role of writing in various educational systems and cultures Students development as academic writers raises issues of student authorship and agency as well as larger issues of educational access institutional power relations system goals and students roles in society The contributors to this collection discuss selected writing purposes and forms characteristic of a specific national education system describe students agency as writers and identify contextual factors social economic linguistic cultural that shape institutional responses to writing development In discussions that bookend these studies of different educational structures the editors compare U S postsecondary writing practices and pedagogies with those in other national systems and suggest new perspectives for cross national study of learning writing issues important to all educational systems Given the worldwide increase in students entering higher education and the endless need for effective writing across disciplines and nations the insights offered here and the call for further studies are especially welcome and timely

Improving the Academic Writing Experience in Higher Education Tatiana Sanches, Maria da Luz Antunes, Carlos Lopes, 2019-07-16 To fulfill their academic purposes in higher education students must mobilize knowledge learned in the classroom but also obtained individually and with access to a variety of sources in particular the information resources available in their libraries To achieve an academic degree as master or doctor information resources grow in importance and meaning since because from them a great part of the theoretical and methodological support is obtained for the pursuit of this purpose The validation of their learning is carried out in large part by the written presentation of these academic works The book reflects on the importance of academic writing and presents methods and techniques for writing in a grounded manner The contributions that make up the book Improving the Academic Writing Experience in Higher Education aim to bring ideas and share experiences broaden horizons and shed some light on the landscape of academic writing The different formulations perspectives and approaches are divided into two parts the first one with a conceptual point of view explaining the importance of the development of academic writing within the university and theorizing about the transformative impact of this practice on the higher education student The second one seeks to bring a more practical diversified and comprehensive contribution to the thematic and to respond to the challenge of professionals related to the area particularly those involved in higher education libraries but not only and who work with the transformation of information into knowledge Through concrete tips for writing appropriately in a university context the focus is on how and why to write well The challenge that mobilized the achievement of this book was to encourage better learning and academic success through awareness of a concrete action of teachers students and librarians who in higher education develop their activities in support of academic writing We hope therefore that this will be a catalyst for renewed learning around this subject
