Pesticide Bound Residues in Soil Senate Commission on the Assessment of Chemicals used in Agriculture, 1998-10-27
20 to 80 % of the chemicals applied in agriculture are sorbed fixed encapsulated or bound in the soil so they are not anymore analytically detectable This book covers the results of a workshop initiated by the Senate Commission for the Assessment of Chemicals used in Agriculture of the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft It discusses the state of the art and outlines future research priorities The topics presented range from methods of determining the nature of the bond new extraction methods and their role in humic chemistry in general stimulation of formation of bound residues and their practical relevance the role of dissolved organic matter on turnover and translocation bioavailability and uptake of bound residues by plants and soil organisms to ecotoxicological assessment of bound residues in soil plant system The results finally lead to a modification of the definition of bound residues

Pesticide/Soil Interactions Juan Cornejo, Paul Jamet, 2000 This joint authored book brings together approximately 50 current research methods developed and implemented in research laboratories in Europe to study pesticide soil interactions Its usefulness for researchers teachers and professionals concerned by the environmental impact of pesticides was one of the major elements taken into consideration when structuring this book It will be a valuable asset to chemists physical chemists biochemists biologists and geologists interested in studying the behaviour of pesticides in soils
