Bronner, 2021-11-21 Chains carved from a single block of wood cages whittled with wooden balls rattling inside all made with just a pocketknife are among our most enduring folk designs Who makes them and why what is their history what do they mean for their makers for their viewers for our society Simon J. Bronner portrays four wood carvers in southern Indiana men who had been transplanted from the rural landscapes of their youth to industrial towns After retiring they took up a skill they remembered from childhood Bronner discusses how creativity helped these men adjust to change and how viewers responses to carving reflect their own backgrounds By recording the narratives of these men s lives the stories and anecdotes that laced their conversation Bronner finds new insight into the functions and symbolism of traditional craft Including anew illustrated afterword in which the author discusses recent developments in the carver s art this new edition will appeal to carvers scholars and anyone interested in traditional woodworking      Critical Issues In American Art Mary Ann Calo, 2018-02-12

This anthology of essays on different critical approaches and methodologies for the analysis and interpretation of American art and artists is designed for students and teachers in American art history and American studies programs. It contains twenty selections from academic journals on American art from colonial times to 1940. Mary Ann Calo provides an introduction to the anthology explaining its purpose and organization and each selection has a brief introduction about its main focus and scholarly approach. These case studies show the diversity of scholarly thinking about interpreting American works of art which should be useful for teachers and comprehensible and interesting for students. This anthology contains twenty articles on American art from colonial times to 1940. The selections are mainly from academic journals and aim to provide the student and teacher with different critical approaches and methodologies for the analysis and interpretation of American art and artists. Mary Ann Calo's preface to the anthology explains its purpose and organization and each article will have a brief introduction about its main focus and scholarly approach. This text meets the need in American art history studies for an anthology of essays on critical approaches and methodologies      Material Culture Kenneth L. Ames, 1985

Perspectives in Folk Art Marie J. Pentz, 1994      American Folklore Studies Simon J. Bronner, 1986      A World of Their Own Joseph Jacobs, Newark Museum, 1995

Ce catalogue d'exposition reflète la préoccupation ayant fait surface dans les années 90 avec la peinture, le dessin et la sculpture des artistes américains d'art brut. Des textes de Joseph Jacobs et des biographies de nombreux artistes d'art brut américain viennent accompagner de grandes reproductions couleurs de leurs œuvres      Folk Art Study in Higher Education in North America Marsha MacDowell, 1982      From the Inside Out Mexican Museum, 1989      Encyclopedia of American Folklife, 2006

Offers approximately 270 essays on topics in American folklife as diverse as chain letters, the Internet, Little Havana, fans of heavy metal music, Wiccans, and zydeco      Souls Grown Deep William Arnett, 2000

The first comprehensive overview of an important genre of American art. Souls Grown Deep explores the visual arts genius of the black South. This first work in a multivolume study introduces 40 African American self-taught artists who without significant formal training often employ the most unpretentious and unlikely materials. Like blues and jazz artists, they create powerful statements amplifying the call for freedom and vision      International repertory of the literature of art, 1984      Decorative Arts and Household Furnishings in America, 1650-1920 Kenneth L. Ames, Gerald W. R. Ward, 1989

This bibliography of the study of household furnishings used in the United States from the seventeenth century to the early twentieth century contains twenty-one sections. Each section begins with an essay that outlines the development of scholarship in the field and points toward new directions for research with annotated entries on the most significant works. Three chapters present the basic reference tools and surveys of art and architecture. These are followed by chapters devoted to such topics as furniture, metals including silver and gold, pewter and Britannia metal, ceramics and glass, textiles, timepieces, household activities and systems, and craftsmen and the Arts and Crafts Movement in
