Nebraska Symposium on Motivation Nebraska Symposium on Motivation, William J. Arnold, 1990 Dual-process Theories in Social Psychology Shelly Chaiken, Yaacov Trope, 1999-02-19 This informative volume presents the first comprehensive review of research and theory on dual process models of social information processing These models distinguish between qualitatively different modes of information processing in making decisions and solving problems e g associative versus rule based controlled versus uncontrolled and affective versus cognitive modes Leading contributors review the basic assumptions of these approaches and review the ways they have been applied and tested in such areas as attitudes stereotyping person perception memory and judgment Also examined are the relationships between different sets of processing modes the factors that determine their utilization and how they work in combination to affect responses to social information

Motivational Factors in the Etiology of Drug Abuse Rick A. Bevins, 2004 This volume presents the latest research in a dynamic area of inquiry and practice namely cross cultural differences in the idea of the person and in models of balancing obligations to the self family and community Interaction in the Language Curriculum Leo Van Lier, 2014-06-03 Interaction in the Language Curriculum offers an innovative theory of language education integrating curriculum practice research and teaching It emphasises the interdependence of knowledge and values and stresses the central importance of learning as a social process Leo van Lier argues that moral as well as intellectual and practical principles must underlie curriculum development and everyday teaching captured in his triple focus on Awareness Autonomy and Authenticity In addition to its rich grounding in language education practice the book draws support for his position from diverse sources in sociology philosophy and cognitive science from the work of Bourdieu Giddens Wittgenstein Peirce Vygotsky Bakhtin and Dewey In the current broadening context of language education this study makes an important contribution to research It presents a coherent philosophical theory as well as considering practical issues in implementation of a new language curriculum As such it will be of great benefit to teachers applied linguists and educationalists generally
