Aid from International NGOs Dirk-Jan Koch, 2009-02-03 International NGOs are increasingly important players within the new aid architecture but their geographic choices remain uncharted territory This book focuses on patterns of development assistance mapping while analysing and assessing the country choices of the largest international NGOs Koch's approach is interdisciplinary and uses qualitative quantitative and experimental methods to provide a clear insight in the determinants of country choices of international NGOs The book aims to discover the country choices of international NGOs how they are determined and how they could be improved This work which uses a dataset created specifically for the research comes to the conclusion that international NGOs do not target the poorest and most difficult countries They are shown to be focussing mostly on those countries where their back donors are active Additionally it was discovered that they tend to cluster their activities for example international NGOs also have their donor darlings and their donor orphans Their clustering is explained by adapting theories that explain concentration in for profit actors to the non profit context The book is the first on the geographic choices of international NGOs and is therefore of considerable academic interest especially for those focusing on development aid and third sector research Furthermore the book provides specific policy suggestions for more thought out geographic decisions of international NGOs and their back donors Comparative Perspectives on

Trade John S. Odell, 2006-02-16 Negotiations between governments shape the world political economy and in turn the lives of people everywhere Developing countries have become far more influential in talks in the World Trade Organization including infamous stalemates in Seattle in 1999 and Cancun in 2003 as well as bilateral and regional talks like those that created NAFTA Yet social science does not understand well enough the process of negotiation and least of all the roles of developing countries in these situations This 2006 book sheds light on three aspects of this otherwise opaque process the strategies developing countries use coalition formation and how they learn and influence other participants beliefs This book will be valuable for many readers interested in negotiation international political economy trade development global
