School Violence And Children In Crisis:

School Violence and Children in Crisis Joshua Miller, Irene Rodriguez Martin, Gerald Schamess, 2003 School Violence and Children in Crisis uses a holistic approach to show how schools families and community agencies can build partnerships to reduce school violence The book examines various theoretical perspectives to facilitate understanding of the etiology and consequences of school family and community violence The authors cover crisis teams teacher interventions debriefing group psychotherapy and building partnerships for success The final part of this text presents community interventions suggesting that community based clinical social workers take leadership in collaborations to build systems of care This effective resource provides practical insight into the emerging culture of violence in our schools and is specially designed to help school social workers counselors and community leaders address this critical issue This work presents specific interventions to alleviate violent behavior in schools and emphasizes building partnerships between schools families and community agencies The coverage includes ideas for parents to help their children in coping with the aftermath of trauma It also includes a step by step plan to prevent school violence

Handbook of Crisis Counseling, Intervention, and Prevention in the Schools Jonathan H. Sandoval, 2001-10 Featuring new chapters on bullying sexual assault natural disasters eating disorders and cultural considerations the second edition of this highly popular Handbook provides a one stop reference for mental health professionals who face a bewildering variety of school based crises Key features include a focus on both prevention and intervention and ongoing discussions of the research that underlies best practice Like the first edition chapters follow a parallel structure that includes the incidence prevalence and impact of the crisis theories regarding precipitating factors discussion of who is at risk for encountering the crisis primary prevention activities methods of working with high risk clients developmentally appropriate methods and intervention activities for individuals and developmentally appropriate methods and activities for groups The result is an unusually coherent volume that is suitable for graduate work in school psychology school counseling school social work and school nursing or as a reference work for in service practitioners

School Violence Mohammad Shafii, Sharon Lee Shafii, 2008-11-01 The statistics are appalling Between 8% and 10% of U S high school students carry guns to school every day In a typical mid size city 30 to 50 cases of school violence are reported daily and half of these cases involve guns School Violence Assessment Treatment Prevention shows us the reality behind the statistics Its distinguished contributors include leading clinicians researchers school counselors and legal authorities who closely examine every aspect of this complex epidemic challenging us to solve this multifaceted public health problem and offering concrete recommendations on how to do it The comprehensive volume is divided into four parts Part I Contributing Factors presents the multiple contributing factors including those involved in creating violent children and violence prone schools the nature and context of school violence and its biological and cultural causes For example although the number of violent deaths by shooting in schools remained stable through the 1990s the number of violent acts against female students increased significantly as did gang activity and the availability of guns in schools Part II Assessment and Management details diagnostic assessment management and treatment of children and adolescents who have the potential for or have threatened school violence Eyewitnesses describe the shootings and their aftermaths in Pearl Mississippi and Littleton Colorado including the extensive measures taken to decrease the traumatic effect of these incidents on the children and adolescents and their families the educators and the community at large Also presented is a model for time limited cognitive behavioral group therapy for those who sustain or witness violent injuries in schools a model that could be adapted to other settings Part III Legal Aspects begins by putting us on notice that anyone aware of a potentially violent act by a youth has a legal responsibility to alert the intended victim s and others who could warn or protect them offering a uniquely insightful view by the plaintiff attorney for the victims of school violence in Paducah Kentucky of the Tarasoff case and its ramifications Part IV Prevention concludes with what we can do now to help prevent school violence detailing effective prevention measures that range from the innovative a method that focuses on the school as a whole rather than on individuals and uses a social system and power dynamics perspective to the everyday teaching tolerance and conflict resolution Psychiatric practitioners clinical social workers pediatricians art and activity therapists school counselors and administrators and other educators and mental health care professionals and concerned adults who want to help prevent violence in our schools and minimize its traumatic effects on children parents and the community at large will appreciate this lucid in depth treatment of what has become one of today s most disturbing issues Classroom Crisis Kendall

Johnson,2004 Today s teachers are faced with unprecedented challenges Students arrive with critical family and personal problems School wide emergencies such as shutdowns campus violence and loss bring unanticipated stress Community events impact the classroom and there are threats of disaster terror and war Worried All the Time David

Anderegg,2010-06-15 A much needed book for parents about themselves In the tradition of Dr Benjamin Spock who in 1946 revolutionized parenting with the famous opening words of his classic child rearing guide You know more than you think you know child and family therapist David Anderegg reminds contemporary parents that parenting is not rocket science It s not even Chem 101 So why do those of us with children worry so much Whether they re thinking about school violence or getting a child into the right college American moms and dads are a pretty worried crowd Even though most American families are safer and healthier today than at any other time in our history studies show that parental worrying has in recent years reached an all time high In Worried All the Time Dr Anderegg draws on social science research and his more than twenty years experience as a therapist treating both parents and their children to clarify facts and fantasies about kids lives today and the key issues that preoccupy parents In the process he offers a comforting and useful message Parents are suffering needlessly and there are things they can do to take the edge off and focus on what their children really need In Worried All the Time Dr Anderegg identifies some of the causes of worry in contemporary American families including fewer children exaggerated fear of competition and overblown media reports of children at risk Anderegg calls this the tabloidization of children and critiques the fashion for media portrayals of children in crisis One at a time he takes on the hot button issues of our times the use of day care and nannies overexposure to media school violence overscheduling experimentation with drugs and looks a little closer to see the facts and the fantasies beneath the hysteria Calling himself a crisis agnostic Anderegg persuasively argues that needless worry has negative consequences for families and for our culture as a whole The cardinal rules of good parenting moderation empathy and temperamental accommodation with one s child are simple he says and are not likely to be improved upon by the latest scientific findings Anderegg helps parents to understand the difference between wise vigilance and potentially crippling anxiety and to gain the confidence to trust their own common sense How to Talk
