Private Worlds Of Dying Children:

The Private Worlds of Dying Children Myra Bluebond-Langner, 2020-05-05 Winner of the Margaret Mead Award A classic moving study of terminally ill children that emphasizes their agency and shows how we can relate to dying children more honestly The death of a child writes Myra Bluebond Langner poignantly underlines the impact of social and cultural factors on the way that we die and the way that we permit others to die In a moving drama constructed from her observations of leukemic children aged three to nine in a hospital ward she shows how the children come to know they are dying how and why they attempt to conceal this knowledge from their parents and the medical staff and how these adults in turn try to conceal from the children their awareness of the child's impending death In contrast to many parents doctors nurses and social scientists who regard the children as passive recipients of adult actions Bluebond Langner emphasizes the children's role in initiating and maintaining the social order Her sensitive and stirring portrait shows the children to be willful purposeful individuals capable of creating their own worlds The result suggests better ways of relating to dying children and enriches our understanding of the ritual behavior surrounding death

Healing the World's Children

Cynthia Comacchio, Janet Golden, George Weisz, 2008-06-26 Essays range from historical overviews and historiographic surveys of children's health in various regions of the world to disability and affliction narratives from polio in North America to AIDS orphans in post Apartheid South Africa to interpretations of artistic renderings of sick children that tell us much about medicine family and society at specific times in history

Children's Palliative Care in Africa Justin Amery, 2009 Children's palliative care has developed rapidly as a discipline as health care professionals recognise that the principles of adult palliative care may not always be applicable to children at the end of life The unique needs of dying children are particularly evident across Africa where the scale of the problem is overwhelming and the figures so enormous that they are barely comprehensible over 400 000 children in Africa died from AIDS in 2003 and out of the 166 000 children a year diagnosed with cancer 84% of these are in the developing world Despite the enormous need provision of children's palliative care in Africa is almost non-existent with very few health workers trained and confident to provide care for dying children The challenges of providing palliative care in this setting are different to those in more developed countries contending with the shortage of physical and human resources in addition to the vast scope of the care needed Written by a group with wide experience of caring for dying children in Africa this book provides practical realistic guidance on improving access to and delivery of palliative care in this demanding setting It looks at the themes common to palliative care including communication assessment symptom management psychosocial issues ethical dilemmas end of life care and tips for the professional on compassion and conservation of energy but always retains the focus on the particular needs of the health care professional in Africa Whilst containing some theory the emphasis is on practical action throughout It will provide health care professionals working in Africa and other resource poor settings with the confidence knowledge and capacity to improve
