British Literature and Technology, 1600-1830 Kristin M. Gerten, Aaron R. Hanlon, 2023-01-13 British Literature and Technology 1600 1830 examines the relationship between literature and technology in two directions not only the impact of technology on Enlightenment British literature but also the impact of literature on conceptions of attitudes toward and implementations of technology in the period

Surprise Christopher R. Miller, 2015-09-25 Today in the era of the spoiler alert surprise in fiction is primarily associated with an unexpected plot twist but in earlier usage the word had darker and more complex meanings Originally denoting a military ambush or physical assault surprise went through a major semantic shift in the eighteenth century from violent attack to pleasurable experience and from external event to internal feeling In Surprise Christopher R. Miller studies that change as it took shape in literature ranging from Paradise Lost through the novels of Jane Austen Miller argues that writers of the period exploited and arbitrated the dual nature of surprise in its sinister and benign forms Even as surprise came to be associated with pleasure it continued to be perceived as a problem a sign of ignorance or na vet an uncontrollable reflex a paralysis of rationality and an experience of mere novelty or diversion for its own sake In close readings of exemplary scenes particularly those involving astonished or petrified characters Miller shows how novelists sought to harness the energies of surprise toward edifying or comic ends while registering its underpinnings in violence and mortal danger In the Roman poet Horace s famous axiom poetry should instruct and delight but in the early eighteenth century Joseph Addison signally amended that formula to suggest that the imaginative arts should surprise and delight Investigating the significance of that substitution Miller traces an intellectual history of surprise involving Aristotelian poetics Cartesian philosophy Enlightenment concepts of the passions eighteenth century literary criticism and aesthetics and modern emotion theory Miller goes on to offer a fresh reading of what it means to be surprised by sin in Paradise Lost showing how Milton s epic both harks back to the symbolic functions of violence in allegory and looks ahead to the moral contours of the novel Subsequent chapters study the Miltonic ramifications of surprise in the novels of Defoe Haywood Richardson Fielding and Sterne as well as in the poems of Wordsworth and Keats By focusing on surprise in its inflections as emotion cognition and event Miller s book illuminates connections between allegory and formal realism between aesthetic discourse and prose fiction and between novel and lyric and it offers new ways of thinking about the aesthetic and ethical dimensions of the novel as the genre emerged in the eighteenth century

A Reference Guide for English Studies Michael J. Marcuse, 1990-01-01 This text is an introduction to the full range of standard reference tools in all branches of English studies More than 10 000 titles are included The Reference Guide covers all the areas traditionally defined as English studies and all the field of inquiry more recently associated with English studies British and Irish American and world literatures written in English are included Other fields covered are folklore film literary theory general and comparative literature language and linguistics rhetoric and composition bibliography and textual criticism and women s studies The English Novel, 1700-1740 Robert Letellier, 2003-02-28 The English novel written between 1700 and 1740 remains a comparatively neglected area In addition to Daniel Defoe whose Robinson Crusoe and Moll Flanders are landmarks in the history of English fiction many other authors were at work These included such women as Penelope Aubin Jane Barker Mary Davys and Eliza Haywood who made a considerable contribution to widening the range of emotional responses in fiction These authors and many others continued writing in the genres inherited from the previous century such as criminal biographies the Utopian novel the science fictional voyage and the epistolary novel This annotated bibliography includes entries for these works and for critical materials pertinent to them The volume first seeks to establish the existing studies of the era along with anthologies It then provides entries for a wide ranging selection of works which cover fictional theoretical historical political and cultural topics to provide a comprehensive background to the unfolding and understanding of prose fiction in the early 18th century This is followed by an alphabetical listing of novels their editions and any critical material available on each The next section provides a chronological record of significant and enduring works of fiction composed or translated in this period The volume concludes with extensive indexes Donne and the Politics of Conscience in Early Modern England Meg Lota Brown, 2021-11-22 Donne and the Politics of Conscience in Early Modern England examines the responses of John Donne and his contemporaries to post Reformation debate about authority and interpretation It argues that the legal and epistemological principles as well as the narrative practices of casuistry provided an important resource for those caught in the welter of conflicting laws and religions The first two chapters explore the political historical and theological contexts of casuistry locating Donne in debates about the limits of reason and the relativity of law and ethics Chapter three addresses Donne s concern with problems of moral decision and action of knowledge and definition in five of his prose works Chapter four examines ways in which his verse assimilates and wittily subverts casuists responses to epistemological and linguistic uncertainty The study is particularly useful for literary critics intellectual historians and theologians The Unpublished Plays of Richard Cumberland Richard Cumberland, 1991 This volume contains the comedies The Country Attorney and The School for Widows variations on the theme of the ethics of inheritance The two three act comic operas that form a second set of plays demonstrate the power of the Lord Chamberlain s office in denying Richard II a license because of its treatment of the Peasant Revolt of 1381 and forcing the dramatic weakening of the play in the revision The Armorer Psychology and Literature in the Eighteenth Century Christopher Fox, 1987 A Being More Intense Paula R. Backscheider, 1984 The Politics of Narrative Kenneth Wayne Graham, 1990 Published in 1794 at a watershed of English political and literary life Caleb William remains Godwin s most durable and readable novel Political philosophical and aesthetic currents combined with the writer s sense of liberalism and repression produced a unique portrayal of the destructive power and influence of government The Age of Johnson , 1988 Books in Print , 1991 Framing Feeling

Barbara M. Benedict, 1994 How did eighteenth century literature confront sentimentalism By examining novels periodicals and literary miscellanies Framing Feeling demonstrates that writers and publishers muted sentimental ideals This book analyzes fictional conventions that authorize conservative notions of gender aesthetics and politics even in works considered revolutionary

Women, Letters, and the Novel Ruth Perry, 1980 The King's Business Sir Robert Wilmot, 1996

Books for College Libraries: Language and literature, 1988 Enlightening Allegory Kevin Lee Cope, 1993

Enlightening Allegory makes an assault on the Augustan face of a slippery literary form Offering 15 essays on the theory texts and even historical implementations of allegory during the Enlightenment it aims to provide both an encyclopaedic introduction to and an innovative analytic exploration of this much misunderstood mode Essays from eminent established scholars like Hazard Adams Paul Korshin Dustin Griffin and John Shawcross as well as from upcoming talents like Peter Walmsley Janet Wolf Neil Saccamano and Veronica Kelly are included

Vathek & the Escape from Time Kenneth Wayne Graham, 1990 Critical Approaches to Teaching Swift Peter J. Schakel, 1992 This collection offers a survey of the directions Swift criticism has moved in the 20th century summarizing the main trends and movements and showing where major critics of and books on Swift fit in It is a guide to Swift scholarship its approaches and assumptions for the non expert The variety of criticism taken by the contributors including several postmodern essays is mirrored in the diversity of the contributors themselves from England Northern Ireland Canada Australia and the USA Among the Swiftians are Clive T Probyn J A Downie John Traugott Claude Rawson A B England Christopher Fox and Leon Guilhamet

From Eternity to Time Aino Mäkilä, 2007 This study examines different conceptions of time in Daniel Defoe's 1660-1731 novels The temporal aspects of the novels are surveyed taking into account the historical situation of the novel as a genre and contemporary conceptions of time The modernisation process of the Western world serves as a wider context of the study as present research indicates that Defoe's novels exemplify a multilayered shift from pre modern Western conceptions of time to those of the modern age The author also explores gendered time and economic and cultural values of time in Defoe's novels The book contributes a fresh analysis of Defoe's novels and demonstrates the crucial relation between historical cultural conceptions of time and the historically changing genre of the novel
