

Проблемные инновации в обработке данных без полноценной информации об объекте исследования и ограничений на область применения

В статье исследуются вопросы, связанные с проблемными инновациями в обработке данных, на примере моделей коррекции остатками, которые нашли широкое применение в первую очередь среди экономистов. Показывается необходимость глубокого, содержательного анализа исследуемых экономических систем, четкого определения допустимых областей применения новых эконометрических моделей и методов.

1. Введение

Стремление управлять процессами в обществе, не имея полноценной информации, связано с огромными рисками. Чем ближе к границе непознанного, тем выше риск использования инноваций. Прежде инновационная деятельность человека была нацелена на то, чтобы более эффективно возделывать и использовать то, что создано Природой. Сегодня он пытается возместить нехватку природных ресурсов, дополнить то, что дает ему Природа, для поддержания жизненных сил, усовершенствовать свой организм, управлять процессами в обществе, не имея полноценной информации. Все это связано с рисками для самого человека.

Так, в начале 2009 г. за рубежом стали публиковаться статьи, в которых на примере работ в области социальной нейронауки показано, что при анализе результатов исследований часто применяются ненадежные статистические методы и доля статей с некорректным отбором данных значительна (например, сотрудники Массачусетского технологического института (MIT) пришли к выводу, что в области функциональной магнитно-резонансной томографии в 28 исследованиях из 55 методы были ненадежны). В конце апреля 2009 г. другой группой ученых были найдены ошибки в 57 из 134 последних статей в этой же области. Как отмечается в [Vul et al. (2009)]; [Бердичевский и Бегли (2009)], то же самое возможно и в исследованиях, относящихся к электроэнцефалографии и к другим областям нейронауки, а возможно, вообще и к другим областям науки.

Очевидно, после наук о жизни в первую очередь это может относиться к исследованиям в области общественных наук. Последнее объясняется тем, что результаты эконометрической обработки экономико-статистической информации могут быть использованы для построения моделей, предназначенных для прогнозирования общественных процессов, но не учитывающих целый ряд факторов и явлений и в результате при определенных условиях (например, в случае шоковых воздействий, кризисных явлений и т. п.) дающих неверные оценки.

При этом, по-видимому, в большинстве случаев нельзя говорить об асимметричности информации, т. е. о том, что производители и разработчики инноваций сознательно утаива-
