Proceedings of the Seminar for Arabian Studies Volume 36 2006 Rob Carter, St John Simpson, 2006 Proceedings of the Annual Meeting of the Seminar for Arabian Studies 2005 Traditional Architecture of the Arabian Gulf R. Hawker, 2008-06-10 This book chronicles the florescence of architecture in the Arabian Gulf after the expulsion of the Portuguese in the early 1600 s It demonstrates how the power vacuum created by the collapse of Portuguese control over the trade routes in the Indian Ocean encouraged a growth in fortified architecture especially in Oman that radiated out to the surrounding region and was then slowly replaced by new patterns in domestic and public architecture and town planning throughout the Gulf as the trade lines were secured and the individual countries took the first steps towards the formation of today s modern nation states The book documents the buildings and crafts of this era and analyses them within the framework of the political economic and social information available through primary sources from the period in a way that is both intelligent and accessible It considers the settlements as part of a larger connected network of cities towns and villages and focuses both on how the buildings provided innovative solutions to the demanding climate and yet incorporated new decorative and functional ideas Topics are extensively and richly illustrated with colored photographs of the buildings as they are now black and white and color historic photographs from archival and museum collections line drawings and computer generated reconstructions The book is therefore attractive to a number of audiences including those who live in or travel to the Gulf as well as people with an interest in Arab and Islamic design culture and society vernacular architecture and post colonial approaches to colonial history Barāqish/Yathill (Yemen) 1986-2007 Sabina Antonini, Francesco G. Fedele, 2021-05-06 This richly illustrated volume presents the remarkable results of the Italian Archaeological Mission s investigations at the site of the walled town of Bar qish in interior Yemen ancient Yathill of the Sabaeans and Minaeans between 1986 and 2007 The Water Crisis in Yemen Christopher Ward, 2014-10-16 Christopher Ward provides a complete analysis of the water crisis in Yemen including the institutional environmental technical and political economy components He assesses the social and economic impacts of the crisis and provides in depth case studies in the key management areas The final part of the book offers an assessment of current strategy and looks at future ways in which the people of the country and their government can influence outcomes and make the transition to a sustainable water economy The Water Crisis in Yemen offers a comprehensive practical and effective approach to achieving sustainable and equitable management of water for growth in a country whose water problems are amongst the most serious in the world

Sasanian and Islamic Settlement and Ceramics in Southern Iran (4th to 17th Century AD) Seth M. N. Priestman, Derek Kennet, 2023-10-31 This monograph comprises the final publication of a study supported by the British Institute of Persian Studies and undertaken by Seth Priestman and Derek Kennet at the University of Durham The work presents and analyses an assemblage of just under 17 000 sherds of pottery and associated paper archives resulting from one of the largest and most comprehensive surveys ever undertaken on the historic archaeology of southern Iran The survey was undertaken by Andrew George Williamson 1945 1975 a doctoral student at Oxford University between 1968 and 1971 at a time of great progress and rapid advance in the archaeological exploration of Iran The monograph provides new archaeological evidence on the long term development of settlement in Southern Iran in particular the coastal region from the Sasanian period to around the 17th century The work provides new insights into regional settlement patterns and changing ceramic distribution trade and use A large amount of primary data is presented covering an extensive area from Minab to Bushehr along the coast and inland as far as Sirjan This includes information on a number of previously undocumented archaeological sites as well as a detailed description and analysis of the ceramic finds which underpin the settlement evidence and provide a wider source of reference By collecting carefully controlled archaeological evidence related to the size distribution and period of occupation of urban and rural settlements distributed across southern Iran Williamson aimed to reconstruct the broader historical development of the region Due to his early death the work was never completed The key aims of the authors of this volume were to do justice to Williamson s remarkable vision and efforts on the one hand and at the same time to bring this important new evidence to ongoing discussions about the development of southern Iran through the Sasanian and Islamic periods

The Evolution of Human Populations in Arabia Michael D. Petraglia, Jeffrey I. Rose, 2009-11-27 The romantic landscapes and exotic cultures of Arabia have long captured the interests of both academics and the general public alike The wide array and incredible variety of environments found across the Arabian peninsula are truly dramatic tropical coastal plains are found bordering up against barren sandy deserts high mountain plateaus are deeply incised by ancient river courses As the birthplace of Islam the recent history of the region is well documented and thoroughly studied However legendary explorers such as T E Lawrence Wilfred Thesiger and St John Philby discovered hints of a much deeper past during their travels across the subcontinent Drawn to Arabia by the magnificent solitude of its vast sand seas these intrepid adventurers learned from the Bedouin how to penetrate its deserts and returned with stirring accounts of lost civilizations among the wind swept dunes We now know that prior to recorded history Arabia housed countless peoples living a variety of lifestyles including some of the world s earliest pastoralist communities of incipient farmers fishermen dubbed the Ichthyophagi by ancient Greek geographers and Paleolithic big game hunters who were among the first humans to depart their ancestral homeland in Africa In fact some archaeological investigations indicate that Arabia was inhabited by early hominins extending far back into the Early Pleistocene perhaps even into the Late Pliocene

In the Land of the Ichthyophagi Mark J. Beech,2004 Abu Dhabi Islands Archaeological Survey Monograph 1 Fishing forms an important activity in many societies throughout the world today and played a significant role in the life and subsistence of many prehistoric societies Past archaeological research on fishing has often tended to concentrate on particular sites or chronological periods This study aims to adopt an inter disciplinary approach to model regional interactions between coastal communities and their environment The geographical framework for this study is the Arabian Gulf Gulf of Oman with a particular focus on the southern Gulf region and present day coastline of the United Arab Emirates The environmental and archaeological background to the region is considered first and modern fisheries data as well as ethnographic data relating to traditional fisheries is presented An evaluation is carried out of all the archaeological evidence for the adoption of particular fisheries technology The principal data forming the basis for this study are 23 archaeological fish bone assemblages from sites located throughout the Arabian Gulf Gulf of Oman The chronological focus is from the 5th millennium BC to the Late Islamic period In order to comprehend the regional variation in fisheries sites were selected on the basis that they represented a variety of site types in different environments scattered throughout the region This research provides for the first time a detailed insight into the status of past fisheries resources in the region as well as an insight into the fishing strategies utilised by the early coastal inhabitants of the Gulf during the course of the past 7000 years The work s special focus is on the use of biometrical techniques to enable size reconstruction of economically important fish groups The overall aim of this research the first in a planned series of Abu Dhabi Islands Archaeological Survey Monographs is to consider the interactions between the goals of the coastal societies their fishing strategies and environment the work overall goes some way towards addressing some of the key questions of relevance to the archaeology of south east Arabia
