Proceedings Of The 17th International Seaweed Symposium Cape Town 2001:

Marine Bioactive Compounds Maria Hayes, 2011-11-19 The aim and scope of this book is to highlight the sources isolation characterization and applications of bioactive compounds from the marine environment and to discuss how marine bioactive compounds represent a major market application in food and other industries It discusses sustainable marine resources of macroalgal origin and gives examples of bioactive compounds isolated from these and other resources including marine by product and fisheries waste streams In addition it looks at the importance of correct taxonomic characterization Coral Reefs of the Gulf Bernhard Riegl, Sam J. Purkis, 2012-04-13 Coral Reefs of the Gulf Adaptation to Climatic Extremes is a complete review and reference for scientists engineers and students concerned with the geology biology or engineering aspects of coral reefs in the Middle East It provides for the first time a complete review of both the geology and biology of all extant coral areas in the Gulf the water body between Iran and the Arabian Peninsula In summer this area is the hottest sea with abundant coral growth on earth and already today exhibits a temperature that is predicted to occur across the tropical ocean in 2100 Thus by studying the Gulf today much can be learned about tomorrow s world and the capability of coral reefs to adapt to climatic extremes This volume provides the most authoritative and up to date review of the coral reefs in the Gulf It can be used as a volume of general reference or as a textbook treating recent coral reefs Written by local and international experts the text is richly illustrated and will remain a standard reference for the region for decades to come Contributions stretch from climatology through geology biology ecological modelling and fisheries science to practical conservation aspects The book is useful for the technical expert and casual reader alike Biodiversity in the Marine Environment Philippe Gouletquer, Philippe Gros, Gilles Boeuf, Jacques Weber, 2014-02-18 The oceans cover over 70% of our planet They are host to a biodiversity of tremendous wealth Its preservation is now a global priority featuring in several international conventions and a confirmed objective of European policies and national strategies Understanding the dynamics and the uses of the marine biodiversity is a genuine scientific challenge Fourteen international experts have got together and identified five priority research themes to address the problem based on analysing the state of knowledge Seventeenth International Seaweed Symposium A. R. O. Chapman, Robert J. Anderson, Ian R. Davison, Valerie J. Vreeland, 2003 Seaweeds are members of intertidal and subtidal marine communities of organisms that have been subjects of intensive academic investigation over several decades This work has contributed greatly to our understanding of community ecology physiology phylogeny and taxonomy In addition to their academic significance seaweeds and their products have enormous economic importance generating in excess of US 3 billion per year in revenues The International Seaweed Symposia are unique gatherings of industrialists and academics who are interested in sharing the findings of their research on marine macroalgae The papers in these Proceedings represent the majority of communications presented at the 17th symposium held in Cape Town in 2001 The selection of articles covers technical aspects of the seaweed industry including extraction processing utilization and marketing of products Of particular importance is the wide range of papers on seaweed farming The Proceedings also includes several papers that deal with management of wild resources In addition to industrial utilization of seaweeds and their products current studies within the academic fields of taxonomy ecology phylogeny and physiology are included Some of these papers seem remote from any industrial perspective but in fact utilization of living organisms must depend on an adequate knowledge of biology Among living organisms seaweeds are a very under studied group and this almost certainly acts as barrier to further industrial production Rural Development Abstracts ,2004 Seafood Processing By-Products Se-Kwon Kim,2014-04-08 The seafood processing industry produces a large amount of by products that usually consist of bioactive materials such as proteins enzymes fatty acids and biopolymers These by products are often underutilized or wasted even though they have been shown to have biotechnological nutritional pharmaceutical and biomedical applications For example by products derived from crustaceans and algae have been successfully applied in place of collagen and gelatin in food cosmetics drug delivery and tissue engineering Divided into four parts and consisting of twenty seven chapters this book discusses seafood by product development isolation and characterization and demonstrates the importance of seafood by products for the pharmaceutical nutraceutical and biomedical industries Journal of Shellfish Research ,2007

Biological Invasions in Marine Ecosystems Gil Rilov,Jeffrey A. Crooks,2008-11-12 Biological invasions are considered to be one of the greatest threats to the integrity of most ecosystems on earth This volume explores the current state of marine bioinvasions which have been growing at an exponential rate over recent decades Focusing on the ecological aspects of biological invasions it elucidates the different stages of an invasion process starting with uptake and transport through inoculation establishment and finally integration into new ecosystems Basic ecological concepts all in the context of bioinvasions are covered such as propagule pressure species interactions phenotypic plasticity and the importance of biodiversity The authors approach bioinvasions as hazards to the integrity of natural communities but also as a tool for better understanding fundamental ecological processes Important aspects of managing marine bioinvasions are also discussed as are many informative case studies from around the world Research Highlights ,2001 A Taxonomic and Geographical Catalogue of the Seaweeds of the Western Coast of Africa and Adjacent Islands D. M. John,2004 The Emirates Peter Hellyer,Simon Aspinall,2005 Comprehensive reference book on the entire range of wildlife in the United Arab Emirates

Marine Algae Leonel Pereira,Joao Magalhaes Neto,2014-09-26 This book is divided into three thematic areas The first covers a revision of the taxonomy of algae based on the algae portal as well as the general aspects of biology and the methodologies used in this branch of marine biology The second subject area focuses on the use of algae in environmental assessment with an intensive implementation in Western economies and some emerging economies The third topic is the potential use of algae in various industries including food pharmaceuticals cosmetics agricultural fertilizers and the emerging biofuels industries Australian Systematic Botany ,2006 Proceedings of the 8th International Coastal
