Prestige Authority And Power In Late Medieval Manuscripts And Texts:

Prestige, Authority and Power in Late Medieval Manuscripts and Texts Felicity Riddy, 2000-12-19 A range of manuscripts and texts from various social contexts studied for what they reveal of that social background

Cistercians, Heresy, and Crusade in Occitania, 1145-1229 Beverly Mayne Kienzle, 2001 The present book examines this important but little studied aspect of Cistercian history to probe how and why the Order undertook endeavours that drew the monks outside their monastic vocation The analysis of texts about the preaching campaigns and of their contexts seeks to retrieve the role of preaching and to reconstruct what was preached in the light of its historical and specifically monastic context Monastic texts and their contexts furnish the keys to understanding how medieval monastic authors perceived heresy preached and wrote against it

The Problem of Labour in Fourteenth-century England James Bothwell, P. J. P. Goldberg, W. M. Ormrod, 2000 Attitudes towards labour in the wake of the Black Death shown to range from early protest literature to repressive authoritarianism At the very moment that the image of the honest labourer seemed to reach its apogee in the Luttrell Psalter or a few decades later in Piers Plowman the dominant culture of the landed interests was increasingly suspicious of what it described as the idleness greed and arrogance of the lower orders Labour was one of the central issues during the fourteenth century the natural disasters and profound social changes of the period created not merely a problem of labour but also new ways of discussing and supposedly solving that problem These studies engage with the contrasting and often competing discourses which emerged ranging from the critical social awareness of some of the early fourteenth century protest literature to the repressive authoritarianism of the new national employment laws that were enforced in the wake of the Black Death and were expressed in counter cultures of resistance and dissent

Reimagining History in Anglo-Norman Prose Chronicles John Spence, 2013 The medieval Anglo Norman prose chronicles are fascinating hybrids of history legends and romance Their prime subject is the history of England but they also shed much light on other networks of influence such as those between families and religious houses This book studies the essential characteristics of the genre for the first time situating Anglo Norman prose chronicles within the multilingual cultures of late medieval England It considers the chronicles treatment of the legendary history of Britain legends about English heroes accounts of the Norman Conquest and histories of

The Songs and Travels of a Tudor Minstrel Andrew Taylor, 2012 A reconstruction of the life and works of a sixteenth century minstrel showing the tradition to be flourishing well into the Tudor period Richard Sheale a harper and balladeer from Tamworth is virtually the only English minstrel whose life story is known to us in any detail It had been thought that by the sixteenth century minstrels had generally been downgraded to the role of mere jesters However through a careful examination of the manuscript which Sheale almost certainly wrote Bodleian Ashmole 48 and other records the author argues that the oral tradition remained vibrant at this period contrary to the common idea that print had by this stage destroyed traditional minstrelsy The author shows that under the patronage of Edward Stanley earl of Derby and his son from one of the most important aristocratic families in England Sheale recited and collected ballads and travelled to and from London to market them Amongst his repertoire was the famous Chevy Chase which Sir Philip Sidney said moved his heart more than with a trumpet Sheale also composed his own verse including a lament on being robbed of 60 on his way to London the poem is reproduced in this volume ANDREW TAYLOR lectures in the Department of English University of Ottawa

Heresy and Heretics in the Thirteenth Century Lucy J. Sackville, 2011 Heresy is always relative the traces that it leaves to us are distorted and one sided In the last few decades historians have responded to these problems by developing increasingly sophisticated methodologies that help to unravel and illuminate the tangled layers from which the texts that describe heresy are built but in the process have made our reading of heresy fractured and disconnected Heresy and Heretics seeks to redress this by reading the different types of anti heretical writing as part of a wider connected tradition considering all the principal orthodox treatments of heresy for the first time Drawn from the mid thirteenth century a time when both medieval heresy and the church's response to it were at their zenith they describe a spectrum of material that ranges from the theological arguments of some of the greatest thinkers of the age to the homely sermons of the wandering preachers In considering the whole scope of anti heretical writing from this narrow period it becomes apparent that far from being an artificial construct isolated from reality the church's treatment of heresy in fact had a far more complex relationship with its subject matter Dr Lucy Sackville teaches in the Department of History University of York

Henry V Gwilym Dodd, 2013 Henry V 1413-22 is widely acclaimed as the most successful late medieval English king In his short reign of nine and a half years he restored the reputation of the English monarchy both at home and abroad and united the English people behind the crown following decades of upheaval and political turmoil But who was the man behind these achievements How did he acquire such a glorious reputation The ground breaking essays contained in this volume provide the first concerted investigation of these questions in over two decades ranging broadly across his life

The York Mystery Plays Margaret Rogerson, 2011 Essays on the York Mystery Plays uniting voices from the scholarly world with the York community that has assumed responsibility for their production today The York Play of Corpus Christi also known as the York Cycle has been central to the study of early English theatre for over a century and a touchstone for the revival of medieval dramatic practice for over fifty years But these two endeavours have often found little common ground This volume therefore accomplishes something very important It brings together scholars of medieval English drama and places them in dialogue with experienced practitioners from the community Together they share a common commitment to understanding how performances matter to the communities that produce them and how plays intersect with other public activities CAROL

SYMES Professor of History University of Illinois at Urbana This volume provides a wealth of new insights into the performance of mystery plays in medieval York and their modern revival It utilises both academic study and the practical experience of those who now produce the cycle within York itself on wagons in the street in an approximation of their original performance A number of topics are covered The manuscript is linked to Richard III the Masons are introduced as non guildsmen in an enterprise assumed to be guild specific families not just male heads of households are shown to be important to the dramatic narrative and cognitive theory elucidates performance past and present Recent productions are discussed in lively detail by those directly responsible for them leading to analyses of performances in Israel Spain and Australia not all of them of a predictable kind which offer further angles on the medieval dramatic tradition Professor Margaret Rogerson teaches in the Department of English at the University of Sydney Contributors Margaret Rogerson Keith Jones Richard Beadle Sheila K Christie Mike Tyler Jill Stevenson Elenid Davies Ben Pugh Peter Brown Tony Wright Steve Bielby Emma Cunningham Alan Heaven Linda Ali Paul Toy Gweno Williams John Merrylees David Richmond Alexandra F Johnston Sharon Aronson Lehavi Pamela M King Christians and Jews in Angevin England Sarah Rees Jones, Sethina Claire Watson, 2013 The mass suicide and murder of the men women and children of the Jewish community in York on 16 March 1190 is one of the most scarring events in the history of Anglo Judaism This book sets it into the context of other attacks on Jews across England at the time looks at how the narrative of events was created and considers the circumstances and processes through which Christian and Jewish neighbours became enemies and victims Wills and Will-making in Anglo-Saxon England Linda Tollerton, 2011 A study of the implications and practices of wills and will making in Anglo Saxon society and of the varieties of inheritance strategies and commemorative arrangements adopted A remarkable series of Anglo Saxon wills have survived spanning the period from the beginning of the ninth century to the years immediately following the Norman Conquest Written in Old English they reflect the significance of the vernacular not only in royal administration during this period but in the recording of a range of individual transactions They show wealthy laymen and women and clerics from kings and bishops to those of thegny status disposing of land and chattels and recognising ties of kinship friendship lordship and service through their bequests and whilst land is of prime importance the mention in some wills of such valuable items as tableware furnishings clothing jewellery and weapons provides an insight into lifestyle at the time Despite their importance no study has hitherto been specifically devoted to Anglo Saxon wills in their social and historical context a gap which this book aims to fill While the wills themselves can be vague and allusive by establishing patterns of bequeathing and by drawing on other resources the author sheds light on the factors which influenced men and women in making appropriate provision for their property Linda Tollerton gained her PhD from the University of York Analecta Cartusiana, 1970 Mönche und Nonnen, die "das Bessere gewählt" hatten (Lukas 10,42) James Hogg, 2008 The Text in the Community Jill Mann, Maura Nolan, 2006 These essays discuss a wide range of literary and art historical topics
