Privatization In The Transition To A Market Economy:

Privatization in the Transition to a Market Economy John S. Earle, Roman Frydman, Andrzej Rapaczynski, 1993
Privatization policies are the centrepiece of the historically unique transformation of the centrally planned into market economies. Yet the peculiarities of the privatization process in Eastern Europe are little understood in the West because of differences in historical socio-political and economic contexts relative to Western experience. Most research on privatization in the West is rather theoretical and thus pays insufficient attention to these contexts perhaps because their importance is not widely appreciated and because there has been little information about them available. Moreover, the significant differences among East European countries in contexts and in policies are not well understood even within the region again because of a lack of information.

Privatization of Agriculture in New Market Economies: Lessons from Bulgaria Andrew Schmitz, 1994-11-30
This book is about economic transformation in agriculture and the adjustments needed in public and private strategies to facilitate it. The book uses theory from the social and physical sciences and practical experience gained throughout the world to recommend strategies that are generally applicable to new market economies in transition. Bulgaria is used as a case example because it provides an empirical reference of interest because of its diversity, its massive restructuring and its precollectivization history as an efficient sector. The book also provides a means for coordinating output from a variety of projects currently active in Eastern Europe.
