Personal Relationships Their Structures And Processes:

Personal Relationships Harold H. Kelley, 2013-08-21 First published in 1982 This book summarizes certain concepts and evidence regarding the nature of close personal relationships Its purpose is to suggest how such relationships are to be conceptualized for scientific analysis What are the essential properties of a personal relationship What are its necessary defining structures and processes The material presented herein represents what Kelley has thought and learned about the social psychology of close relationships Personality and Close Relationship Processes Stanley O. Gaines, Jr, 2016-08-18 Few observers of relationship dynamics would dispute the claim of interdependence theorists that a defining feature of close relationships is the extent to which partners influence each other s thoughts feelings or behaviors However partners do not behave simply in response to each other s behavior both partners in a given relationship bring themselves indeed their selves into the relationship as well Not only are individuals selves enormously complex and rich in content but so too are the multitude of personality characteristics including traits values attitudes motives and emotions that contribute to selves richness Gaines Jr provides a major integration of research on personality with research on relationship science and demonstrates how personality constructs can be readily incorporated into the two most influential theories of close relationships attachment theory and interdependence theory This study will be of value to scholars in the fields of close relationships personality psychology communication studies and family studies The Divorce Process Craig Everett, 2021-03-24 Professionals who work with divorcing couples and their families will be inspired by this important book on effective clinical assessment and intervention The book blends a variety of expert contributions descriptive theoretical and empirical into a practical handbook that focuses on resources for dealing with the anger and pain of parting spouses and disrupted childhoods A rich array of clinically useful materials is provided The book covers background theory marital interaction the definition of clinical dysfunctions in children of divorce specific clinical features of childhood developmental levels post divorce reorganization and models of group work Public Relations As Relationship Management John A. Ledingham, Stephen D. Bruning, 2000 The emergence of relationship management as a paradigm for public relations scholarship and practice requires a close examination of just what is achieved by public relations its definition function and value and the benefits it generates Initiated by the editors interest in cross disciplinary exploration this volume evolved to its current form as a result of the need for a framework for understanding public relations and the potential impact of organization public relationships on the study practice and teaching of public relations Ledingham and Bruning include contributions that present state of the art research in relationship management applications of the relational perspective to various components of public relations and the implications of the approach to influence further research and practice The discussion conducted here is certain to influence and promote future theory and practice on the concept of relationship management Personal Relationships , 1981 Growing Together Frieder R. Youth Homelessness in Late Modernity David Farrugia, 2015-07-30 This book explores the identities embodied experiences and personal relationships of young people experiencing homelessness and analyses these in relation to the material and symbolic position that youth homelessness occupies in modern societies Drawing on empirical research conducted in both urban and rural areas the book situates young people's experiences of homelessness within a theoretical framework that connects embodied identities and relationships with processes of social change The book theorises a symbolic economy of youth homelessness that encompasses the subjective aesthetic and relational dimensions of homelessness This theory shows the personal interpersonal and affective suffering that is caused by the relations of power and privilege that produce contemporary youth homelessness The book is unique in the way in which it places youth homelessness within the wider contexts of inequality and social change Whilst contemporary discussions of youth homelessness understand the topic as a discrete social problem this book demonstrates the position that youth homelessness occupies within wider social processes inequalities and theoretical debates addressing theories of social change in late modernity and their relationship to the cultural construction of youth These theoretical debates are made concrete by means of an exploration of an important form of contemporary inequality youth homelessness
