Predator Actd A Case Study For Transition Planning To The Formal Acquisition Process:

The Predator ACTD Michael R. Thirtle, Robert V. Johnson, J. L. Birkler, United States. Department of Defense. Office of the Secretary of Defense, 1997 In this analysis we closely detail the Predator Advanced Concept Technology Demonstration ACTD and also document the important demonstration and transition issues from the project that can be applied to other ACTDs

The Predator ACTD; A Case Study for Transition Planning to the Formal Acquisition Process, 1997 In July 1995 a new endurance unmanned aerial vehicle UAV flew over Bosnia to surveil and provide all weather reconnaissance and image gathering in an operational i.e. conflict environment Representing a new capability for the Department of Defense DoD this UAV represented above all a departure from DoD's usual way of doing acquisition business The study documented in this report was completed in support of RAND research on Advanced Concept Technology Demonstration ACTD programs for the Office of the Secretary of Defense The effort was conducted from July until December 1996 and documents research on the Medium Altitude Endurance MAE Unmanned Aerial Vehicle ACTD program also known as the Predator UAV Specifically RAND was tasked to examine two questions 1 what were the overarching lessons learned from the Predator ACTD and 2 Which lessons can be generalized and applied to other ACTD programs In this analysis we closely detail the Predator ACTD and also document the important demonstration and transition issues from the project that can be applied to other ACTDs The intent of this work is to improve the ACTD process and the transition of ACTDs to formal acquisition programs This report should be of interest to those involved in acquisition program offices and ACTD programs Der konventionelle

Enthauptungsschlag im Kontext moderner Kriege Florian Angerer, 2010 Luftkrieg 2 Weltkrieg Golfkrieg Irak Afghanistan Israel Palästina Libanon Kaukasus Libyen In zunehmendem Masse hat sich in den letzten Jahren in der Luftkriegsstrategie ein Wandel hin zu neuen Vorgehensweisen abgezeichnet der in Zukunft weiter an Bedeutung gewinnen wird Die Strategie der sogenannten Enthauptungsschläge die sich spätestens seit dem Zweiten Weltkrieg von 1991 etabliert hat ist als wichtiger Teil dieser Entwicklung zu betrachten Als Enthauptungsschlag wird eine durch Luftkrieg verursachte irreversible Ausschaltung der politischen und militärischen Führung eines Staates oder einer nicht staatlichen international agierenden Organisation als defensive Massnahme bezeichnet Die Ergebnisse der Untersuchung gewähren einen Überblick über die allgemeinen Kriterien zur Durchführung eines Enthauptungsschlages und zeigen die Risiken und Chancen dieser Vorgehensweise im nationalen und internationalen Kontext anhand verschiedener Konflikte auf u.a. in Afghanistan Irak Palästina Libanon und im Kaukasus Unmanned William M. Arkin, 2015-07-28 Unmanned is an in depth examination of why seemingly successful wars never seem to end The problem centers on drones now accumulated in the thousands the front end of a spying and killing machine that is disconnected from either security or safety Drones however are only part of the problem William Arkin shows that security is actually undermined by an impulse to gather as much data as possible the appetite and the theory both skewed towards the notion that no amount is too much And yet the very endeavor of putting fewer human in potential danger places everyone in greater danger Wars officially end but the Data Machine lives on forever Throughout his career Arkin has exposed powerful secrets of so called national security and intelligence Now he continues that tradition The most alarming book about warfare in years Unmanned is essential reading for anyone who cares about the future of mankind

Contractor Logistics Support in the U.S. Air Force Michael Boito,Cynthia R. Cook,John C. Graser,2009 The Air Force has several options for sustaining weapon systems and components but has in recent years increasingly chosen contractor logistics support CLS over organic support Still questions remain about costs and efficiency even about whether CLS is the best option The authors explored these by reviewing the relevant government and DoD documents and data and by speaking with various knowledgeable individuals The authors noted that CLS contracts have often gone to original equipment manufacturers because lacking the technical data the Air Force could not choose a third party They also noted that contracts that guarantee large annual sums limit the Air Force s ability to adjust when its own funding changes and that the reasons underpinning these decisions are not always complete or consistent across the service Centralizing and standardizing data and the related management skills would help make them available across the Air Force More important to retain all its choices for logistics services throughout a system s life cycle the Air Force should acquire the technical data or data rights near the start of the acquisition process Cumulated Index to the Books ,1999 Astronomical Odds Geoffrey

Sommer,2005 Addresses the cosmic impact hazard the threat to the Earth posed by asteroids and comets as an extreme example of a low probability high consequence policy problem This analysis presents a comprehensive framework for dealing with the technical and societal uncertainties surrounding the impact hazard It reviews the physical nature of the threat and both the history and mechanisms of society s response to the hazard dwelling on the social costs of false positives The author constructs an illustrative cost benefit model on the foundations of prior work with parameters of social response added and then varied to assess the robustness of a proposed policy intervention social reassurance by means of a demonstrated mitigation capability He concludes by noting that a common flaw of prior analysis is to give lip service to low probability and to focus instead on high consequence that there is frequent confusion between ex ante and ex post perspectives that uncertain costs are often treated as nonexistent costs and that warning is a social function not a technical function and those who issue warnings of a given hazard should not stand to benefit from those warnings An Enduring Framework for Assessing the Contributions of Force Structure to a Coercive Strategy Eric A. Beene,2002 The US Department of Defense is still struggling to define itself in the post Cold War age over a decade after the new period has begun With a strategy and force structure review occurring on average every two years the military has still not been able to generate a consistent basis on which to justify its force structure or its strategy This paper uses a decision analysis framework as a foundation for creating such a basis Instead of depending on leadership for guidance which changes with destabilizing regularity this paper relies on the theories of coercion that began in the Cold War era These theories have particular value today especially in light of the many innovations the nation has undertaken in the past decade Modified and translated for modern conventional warfare these theories form the basis for a framework of enduring requirements for any military force that undertakes a coercive strategy This paper develops this framework to the operational level of analysis and it is applied to two developmental air platforms the Global Hawk Endurance Unmanned Aerial Vehicle and the Unmanned Combat Air Vehicle The unique contributions of these two platforms become apparent using this framework and the value of the framework is depicted as it points to areas for future improvement in these systems Finally the paper makes a comparison between this framework and traditional analyses and strategy review processes and it shows the unique and enduring value of this analytical framework for assessing the contributions of air power platforms
