Preface To History:

A Preface to History Carl G. Gustavson ,1955 Winning the West with Words James Joseph Buss,2012-09-13 Indian Removal was a process both physical and symbolic accomplished not only at gunpoint but also through language In the Midwest white settlers came to speak and write of Indians in the past tense even though they were still present Winning the West with Words explores the ways nineteenth century Anglo Americans used language rhetoric and narrative to claim cultural ownership of the region that comprises present day Ohio Indiana and Illinois Historian James Joseph Buss borrows from literary studies geography and anthropology to examine images of stalwart pioneers and vanished Indians used by American settlers in portraying an empty landscape in which they established farms towns and civilized governments He demonstrates how this now familiar narrative came to replace a more complicated history of cooperation adaptation and violence between peoples of different cultures Buss scrutinizes a wide range of sources travel journals captivity narratives treaty council ceremonies settler petitions artistic representations newspaper editorials late nineteenth century county histories and public celebrations such as regional fairs and centennial pageants and parades to show how white Americans used language metaphor and imagery to accomplish the symbolic removal of Native peoples from the region south of the Great Lakes Ultimately he concludes that the popular image of the white yeoman pioneer was employed to support powerful narratives about westward expansion American democracy and unlimited national progress Buss probes beneath this narrative of conquest to show the ways Indians far from being passive participated in shaping historical memory and often used Anglo Americans own words to subvert removal attempts By grounding his study in place rather than focusing on a single group of people Buss goes beyond the conventional uses of history giving readers a new understanding not just of the history of the Midwest but of the power of creation narratives Catalogue of the Astor Library (continuation) Astor Library,1886 *The Works of Oliver Goldsmith: Prefaces and introductions. The south in the revolution 1763-1789 Wendell Holmes Stephenson,Ellis Merton Coulter,1962 Appian Luke Pitcher,2025-03-17 This volume presents the first comprehensive study in English of the Roman History by Appian of Alexandria Appian was an Egyptian Greek and Roman citizen who wrote his history of Rome in twenty four books covering the period from the foundation of the city to Trajan s wars in the middle of the second century CE Luke Pitcher explains and analyses what it is known about Appian s life the structure of his work which has not survived completely intact and his use of sources He then examines how Appian organizes and structures his material and the considerations which inform his treatment of spaces peoples politics and individuals within history A full appreciation of Appian s achievement requires an awareness of the deeper structures of the Roman History as a whole in particular how the first half of the work which unusually covers Roman conquests area by area rather than in one long chronological sweep lays the ground for the second where towering personalities such as Julius Caesar bring an end to the Roman Republic in the five books of the Civil Wars The closing chapters build on these arguments to create a picture of what Appian tries to achieve in his history and what this says about him as a historian

O'Malley,2014-10-24 Guided by Ezra Pound s dictum Make it new a generation of writers set out to create fiction and poetry that was unlike anything that came before it However as Seamus O Malley shows historical narrative was a key site for modernist experimentation Taking three of literary modernism s major figures Joseph Conrad Ford Madox Ford and Rebecca West Making History New demonstrates how the movement s literature not only engaged with history but also transformed traditional approaches to its telling in unique ways Informed by Paul Ricoeur s belief that narrative is necessary to comprehend historical processes the study closely examines four major modernist historical novels Conrad s Nostromo interrogates the very term history as it relates the political tumult of a fictitious Latin American country while Ford s The Good Soldier mirrors the cyclical nature of historiography with a protagonist who returns repeatedly to intense periods of his own past to better comprehend them Two epochal World War I novels The Return of the Soldier and Parade s End depict shell shocked veterans that illustrate the paradox of an accurate historical rendering achieved through the process of amnesia These novels in O Malley s view lead to the high point of what he terms modernist historiography Rebecca West s innovative 1941 travelogue Black Lamb and Grey Falcon and its preoccupation with history s impossibility The monograph concludes with a brief consideration of how historians since World War II have adopted some of the approaches to narrative inaugurated by literary modernists while wrestling with how to relate unthinkable atrocities such as genocide Ultimately Making History New foregrounds narrative s essential role as a bridge between fiction and history as it explores the process by which collective human experience becomes historical narrative
