Point No Point Sujata Bhatt,2012-07-27 Sujata Bhatt's first book of poems the award winning Brunizem appeared in 1988 In a very short time she has gained recognition as one of the distinct and reckonable new voices She has things to say about her native India and her native tongue Gujarati about America and Britain and about Germany where she now lives She is the New Statesman declared one of the finest poets alive and alive in a unique way to language to issues of politics and gender to place and history Hers is a remarkable complete imagination generous and at the same time unsparingly severe in its quest for the difficult truths of experience Collected Poems Sujata Bhatt,2013-09-15 This book gathers four decades of writing published in collections from Brunizem in 1988 to Pure Lizard in 2008 It maps the poet's trajectory following her exile from her homeland India and her mother tongue Gujarati to the landscapes and languages of the USA and then Europe Urgent compassionate and inventive Bhatt's work forms a uniquely sustained project of reinvention and rediscovery Here is a chance to see Sujata Bhatt's favourite themes strengthened by re-gathering A common theme is language the very stuff of poetry given special insight by her travels and her multilingual experience In India she says it is a sin to be rude to a book The Stare considers two babies human and monkey gazing at each other curiously one with language the other with who knows Elsewhere she considers the loss of her mother tongue dead in her mouth but returning to her in dreams A broad minded humane imaginative book Gillian Clarke National Poet of Wales Sujata Bhatt leads the reader through the bright familiar world and on into the dark until her words pierce that darkness offering a light that will challenge and reward Here are poems that move confidently through that dangerous border world between the real and the surreal illuminating both This book is a treasure house of modern magical poems John F Deane Point No Point Jane Munro,2006-03-07 Point No Point's title comes from a landform an actual point on the west coast of Vancouver Island which seems when approached from the other side to be no point at all and it alerts us to the fact that Jane Munro's poems are situated in a deep sense They live in situ in the way they inhabit their native place intimate with its mists its mosses and lichens with the salmonberry and false lily of the valley of their ecosystem They are also situated temporally evoking sharply etched memories visions and dreams a real time visit to her father's boatyard a dream visit with her mother from a time before the poet was conceived a flashback to the sixties rendered in extreme close up By their musical attunement and the acuity of the focus they demonstrate how such deep situation may come about how we might bring language to the task of living in a way which is fully present In the long culminating poem Moving to a Colder Climate Munro brings all these elements into play summoning her father's bold obstreperous ghost to be present as a new house is built situated in this language Her gifts as a poet acuity candour musicality make Point No Point a work of unforgettable witness Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson,2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide A History of Twentieth-Century British Women's Poetry Jane Dowson,Alice Entwistle,2005-05-19 Publisher Description New Illustrated Edition of Dr. Webster's Unabridged Dictionary of All the Words in the English Language Noah Webster,1864 Poems Edited with Introductions, Various Readings and Notes by J. Schipper William Dunbar,1891 The Complete Works of Robert Burns (self-interpreting) Robert Burns,1886 Dr. Webster's complete dictionary of the English language Noah Webster,1864 The topic of loss and separation in poetry Hanno Frey,2003-03-26 Seminar paper from the year 2000 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 2.0 University of Hamburg FB Anglistik course Seminar II language English abstract As the title suggests this term paper deals with the topic of loss and separation in poetry The texts which have been chosen as relevant material are the poems THE BREAK AWAY by Anne Sexton SHE IS AWAY by Kenneth Rexroth and RIVER ROAD by Stanley Kunitz¹ These three poems center around the same problem but they differ not only in the perspective of the lyrical I² but also in certain stylistic devices It is the aim of this term paper to point some of these differences out and to describe the concept of loss and separation i.e. how loss and separation are perceived in each case by the lyrical I In this context it should be mentioned that not all relevant elements of each poem can be taken into consideration doing so would go beyond the scope of this term paper³ Consequently the main idea is to present some basic ideas In some cases it will be necessary to look at certain parts of a poem in great detail There will also be some autobiographical references to the lives of the authors mainly to Anne Sexton and Kenneth Rexroth as only very few material has been available about Stanley Kunitz In doing so the reader must be aware of the fact that the poems do surely not present totally autobiographical experiences nevertheless it seems to be quite impossible to strictly keep these out of them
