Police Principles And The Problem Of War:

Police Principles and the Problem of War Charles Reith,1992-02 Theories and Origins of the Modern Police Clive Emsley,2017-07-05 This volume is the first of four that will provide some of the most significant English language articles on the historical development of the police institution The articles included in this volume are broadly of two kinds The first introduce some of the theoretical outlines that have been suggested for the origins and development of modern police institutions across Europe The second explore the systems of enforcement and the criticisms of them that had emerged on the eve of the revolutionary upheavals which convulsed Europe and inflicted a terminal blow to the ancien r me at the close of the eighteenth century Serve and Protect Tobias Winright,2020-11-13 This collection of essays on policing and the use of force while written over the course of the last twenty five years remains relevant and timely Although issues in policing and questions about excessive force and brutality have been addressed by criminologists sociologists philosophers and criminal justice ethicists only a handful of theological ethicists treat this pressing matter While the Christian moral tradition has a voluminous record of theological attention to violence and nonviolence war and peace there is a dearth of references to policing And most considerations of criminal justice issues by Christians and their churches concentrate on prison reform or abolition and the death penalty but not policing These essays authored by a theological ethicist possessing professional experience in law enforcement seek to fill this curious gap They offer a framework for moral reasoning concerning the justification for police use of force and the just application of such force and they propose just policing as a model that is consonant with promoting a just peace in communities and society In addition they explore the implications of such an approach for wider international questions about just war terrorism the responsibility to protect and post war justice
