Political Representation Cultural Memory In The Present:

Creating Political Presence Dario Castiglione, Johannes Pollak, 2018-12-28 For at least two centuries democratic representation has been at the center of debate Should elected representatives express the views of the majority or do they have the discretion to interpret their constituents interests How can representatives balance the desires of their parties and their electors What should be done to strengthen the representation of groups that have been excluded from the political system Representative democracy itself remains frequently contested regarded as incapable of reflecting the will of the masses or inadequate for today s global governance Recently however this view of democratic representation has been under attack for its failure to capture the performative and constructive elements of the process of representation and a new literature more attentive to these aspects of the relationship between representatives and the represented has arisen In Creating Political Presence a diverse and international group of scholars explores the implications of such a turn Two broad overlapping perspectives emerge In the first section the contributions investigate how political representation relates to empowerment either facilitating or interfering with the capacity of citizens to develop autonomous judgment in collective decision making Contributions in the second section look at representation from the perspective of inclusion focusing on how representative relationships and claims articulate the demands of those who are excluded or have no voice The final section examines political representation from a more systemic perspective exploring its broader environmental conditions and the way it acquires democratic legitimacy

Contested Memories and the Demands of the Past Catharina Raudvere, 2016-12-19 This book brings together new perspectives on collective memory in the modern Muslim world It discusses how memory cultures are established and used at national levels in official history writing through the erection of monuments the fashioning of educational curricula and through media strategies as well as in the interface with both artistic expressions and popular culture in the Muslim world at large The representations of collective memory have been one of the foremost tools in national identity politics grass root mobilization theological debates over Islam and general discussions on what constitutes the modern in the Middle East as well as in Muslim diaspora environments Few if any contemporary conflicts in the region can be understood in depth without a certain focus on various uses of history memory cultures and religious meta narratives at all societal levels and in art and literature This book will be of use to students and scholars in the fields of Identity Politics Islamic Studies Media and Cultural Anthropology

Literary Culture in Early Modern England, 1630-1700 Ingo Berensmeyer, 2020-06-22 This book explores literary culture in England between 1630 and 1700 focusing on connections between material epistemic and political conditions of literary writing and reading In a number of case studies and close readings it presents the seventeenth century as a period of change that saw a fundamental shift towards a new cultural configuration neoclassicism This shift affected a wide array of social practices and institutions from poetry to politics and from epistemology to civility

Fischer,2018-06-27 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Transcultural Literary Studies Politics Theory and Literary Analysis that was published in Humanities The Reagan Range James E. Combs,1993 Combs political science Valparaiso U tries to make sense of the Reagan presidency by linking it to the American popular culture that spawned and trained him and that he used so adeptly to his advantage No index Paper edition unseen 11 95 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Cultural Memory and Identity Politics Marita Sturken,1992 Scribal Representations and Social Landscapes of the Iron Age Shephelah Mahri Leonard-Fleckman,2025-01-17 Mahri Leonard Fleckman focuses on identity and representations of the proximate Other in the Shephelah borderlands in the southwestern region of Iron Age Israel ca 1200 586 BCE presenting irresolution as a practice for historians of the Hebrew Bible and ancient Levant Focusing on two sites Timnah and Gath she takes an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the region and journeys through texts and archaeology that bear witness to the social and political complexities of the Iron Age Shephelah borderlands

Historicality and Narcissistic Closure Andrew Baird,2003 Unionist Voices and the Politics of Remembering the Past in Northern Ireland Kirk Simpson,2009-08-21 In this book Simpson offers a reflective and theoretical explanation of the ways in which unionists conceive of the past in the present post conflict environment He considers the ways in which scholarly literature has often painted an outdated and inaccurate portrait of a highly complex people Social Bonds and Historical Time Torbjörn Gustafsson Chorell,2025-08-07 This book analyses the social dimension of historical time and explores how we emotionally and intellectually bind ourselves to the past and project these ties onto our present and future Gustafsson Chorell argues that historical time is inherently social and that the nexus of past present and future is constructed through social mechanisms Beginning with the concept of the historical imaginary this book examines the theoretical shift from future oriented to present oriented models of time and integrates insights from intellectual history philosophy and social theory This book demonstrates how a variety of social bonds such as emotion generation and authority can affect how historical time is demarcated Analysing key concepts such as desire for the past the impact of grief and nostalgia and the role of history in shaping expectations for the future the volume highlights the enduring significance of sociality even under new regimes of historicity such as the Anthropocene Ultimately Gustafsson Chorell offers a comprehensive view of how past present and future are interconnected and highlights the continued importance of thinking carefully about the relationship between time and history One Memorial, Many Narratives. A Comparison of Politics and Culture of Memory Between Okinawa and Mainland Japan Julia Swoboda,2019-02-22 Master s Thesis from the year 2017 in the subject Orientalism Sinology Japanology grade 1 0 University of Tübingen Asien Orient Institut AOI Abteilung Japanologie language English abstract The work present aims by means of a comparative approach on the basis of the bilaterally contested narratives around the Himeyuri no T Memorial and Museum to examine the predominant narratives about the HSC in Okinawa and Japan After assessing the differences and possible overlapping areas of both narratives in consideration of the respective historical and socio political contexts in which they developed the next step will lead from description to analysis of current processes of politics of memory and identity One particular interest is the question as to how the HSC narrative is utilized in Okinawan and mainland politics of memory and identity since 1945 Another question concerns the influence of Okinawa s politics of identity on Japan How has the wartime past been depicted so far and what are the bilateral claims to memory and its representation in the public sphere Finally to what extent is Okinawa able to influence the mainland s view of history and what implications does this have for the possibility of and limits to both an Okinawan Japanese identity and a conceptual shift towards a broader understanding of Japaneseness IBSS: Political Science: 2008 Vol. 57 The
