Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, Riding the High Wire Robert A. Trennert, 2011-05-18 Riding the High Wire is the first comprehensive history of aerial mine tramways in the American West describing their place in the evolution of mining after 1870 Robert A Trennert shows how the mid nineteenth century development of wire rope manufacturing made it possible for American entrepreneurs such as Andrew S Hallidie and Charles Huson to begin erecting single rope tramways in the 1870s and 1880s Their inventions were followed by the more substantial double rope systems imported from Europe By the turn of the century aerial tramways were common throughout western mining regions hauling everything from gold and silver ore to coal and salt and changing the face of the industry Aerial mine tramways proved to have a special fascination people often rode them for a thrill sometimes with disastrous results They were also very temperamental needed constant attention and were prone to accidents The years between 1900 and 1920 saw the operation of some of the west s most spectacular tramways but the decline in high country mining beginning in the 1920s coupled with the development of more efficient means of transportation made this technology all but obsolete by the end of the Second World War Historians and the general reader will be equally enthralled by Trennert s fascinating story of the rise and fall of aerial mine tramways The Bystander ,1880 Catalog of Copyright Entries, Third Series Library of Congress. and leaving for France Trust me Part one includes several stories about Brittany many of which will surely appeal to foodies Brittany has played a major part in my life both as a child when we bought the house I was seven years old Rough floors a malfunctioning fireplace dampness abounded a small gas powered stove no refrigerator and an outhouse We would go to bed with multiple blankets and a hot water bottle to ward off the incredibly damp sheets Those days at the house in the country provided me with rich content for many of my stories Importantly in my stories I have tried to convey what our Brittany was like as we lived in the French countryside that had not significantly changed since the 1940 s Part two I recount my childhood having grown up in Paris the leafy suburb of Neuilly sur Seine a stone s throw from the city limits and the 16e arrondissement where we attended school We lived in a newly built spacious apartment We had all the room to make trouble Paris in the late 1950 s and early 1960s had the Algerian conflict as a backdrop and the OAS planted bombs in theaters and cafes The trials and tribulations of a young American particularly my challenges in surviving the French school system I never got really got it despite their best efforts to drive it home whatever the cost or the pain I was more than glad to leave school and I retained for many years a deep sense of discomfort well into my adult life Many years later I happened to have a most incredible dinner at the Caf Bergamote a cozy little resto nestled on the Left Bank at 8 rue Montfaucon in the 6th arrondissement Join me for dinner please In part three I take a slow leisurely journey towards the coast eventually reaching the Mediterranean I recount a most memorable dinner in a little restaurant tucked away in the 12th Century fortified village of Rivesaltes in the Languedoc Roussillon region truly spectacular and wonderfully enjoyable is all I can say and all with a charming host and hostess Moving generally southward join me at a table Chez M man a tasty Bouchon Lyonnais if ever there was one and located very near the charming Place Bellecour on the rue des Maronniers Typical foods on the menu include andouille grilled chitterlings sausage tripe pig or cow s stomach or boudin noir blood sausage Other more recognizable dishes include chicken liver salad Cerverlas raw pork sausages and Quenelles flour egg and cream dumplings May I suggest one or two wonderful Beaujolais for your dining pleasure

Writing from the perspective of an art historian and a former public relations person for Playboy Julie Wosk examines the role of machines in helping women reconfigure and transform their lives In this text she takes her readers through a gallery of fiction and high and low art which depicts women in their association with machines From sitting at the spinning wheel to typing at the typewriter to driving automobiles piloting airplanes pounding rivets and then working on the computer Wosk tells the story of women celebrating their new liberties and growing competency but along the way gives interesting examples of ambivalence male engendered sexual fantasy and fears of displacement Highwire John Brummett,1995-11-02 Called the best of the journalistic Clinton watchers Garry Wills Time Brummett brings political savvy and a fresh plainspoken style to this evenhanded eye opening informed account of the president s transformation from small state politician to world leader Report of the ...
