Risks And Reconstruction Experiences Of Resettlers And Refugees:

Risks and Reconstruction Michael M. Cernea, Chris McDowell, 2000-01-01 This book offers a multidimensional comparative analysis of two large groups of the world's displaced populations: resettlers uprooted by development and refugees fleeing military conflicts or natural calamities. The authors explore common central issues: the condition of being displaced, the risks of impoverishment and destitution, the rights and entitlements of those uprooted, and most important, the means of reconstruction of their livelihoods. Adapted from the Introduction. Risks and Reconstruction World Bank, 2000. Refugees, resettlers, risks, safeguards, reconstruction, population displacement, land loss, land-based relocation, joblessness, re-employment, China, homelessness, home reconstruction, housing, urban infrastructure, refugees, marginalization, re-inclusion, food security, health risks, property, resources, social re-articulation, community. Dam Development: Dynamics of Social Inequality in a Hydropower Project in Nepal Kavita Rai, 2005-09-08 Development-Induced Displacement and Resettlement Irge Satiroglu, Narae Choi, 2015-04-10 Every year millions of people are displaced from their homes, livelihoods, and communities due to land-based development projects. There is no limit to what can be called a development project. They can range from small-scale infrastructure or mining projects to mega hydropower plants, can be public or private, well-planned or rushed into. Knowledge of development-induced displacement and resettlement (DIDR) remains limited even after decades of experience and research. Many questions are yet unanswered: What is success in resettlement? Is development without displacement possible, or can resettlement be developmental? Is there a global safeguard policy, or do we need an international right not to be displaced? This book revisits what we think we know about DIDR. Starting with case studies that challenge some of the most widespread preconceptions, it goes on to discuss the ethical aspects of DIDR. The book assesses the current laws, policies, and rights governing the sector and provides a glimpse of how the displaced people defend themselves in the absence of effective governance and safeguard mechanisms. This book is a valuable resource for students and researchers in development studies, population and development, and migration and development. The Power of Labelling Rosalind Eyben, Joy Moncrieffe, 2013-09-05 The Power of Labelling illuminates a fundamental and intriguing dimension of social and political life. Striking cases from a range of policy contexts generate eye-opening analyses of labelling's causes and consequences, uses and abuses, and of alternatives in thinking and relating. DES GASPER INSTITUTE OF SOCIAL STUDIES THE HAGUE. The authors convincingly and often vividly explain how the unavoidable framings and labellings of the objects of policy secrete relations of power which can obscure as much as they reveal and often lead in policy itself to perverse outcomes. Their detail is riveting, their analyses persuasive, what they suggest realistic and deeply sensible. This immensely readable collection is indispensable for anyone who wants to think about how they think about development and should be forced on all who don't. GEOFFREY HAWTHORN, PROFESSOR OF INTERNATIONAL POLITICS, UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE. This is an essential book not only for those interested in understanding the development industry but also for development practitioners It discusses key questions concerning the ways in which knowledge is generated by development agencies and reaffirms the importance of understanding who categorizes people why and how R L STIRRAT PROFESSOR OF SOCIAL ANTHROPOLOGY UNIVERSITY OF SUSSEX Very important Martin Kalungu Banda Oxfam GB What does it mean to be part of the mass known as The Poor What visions are conjured up in our minds when someone is labelled Muslim What assumptions do we make about their needs values and politics How do we react individually and as a society Who develops the labels what power do they carry and how do such labels affect how people are treated This timely book tackles the critical and controversial issue of how people are labelled and categorized and how their problems are framed and dealt with Drawing on vast international experience and current theory the authors examine how labels are constituted and applied by a variety of actors including development policy makers practitioners and researchers The book exposes the intense and complex politics involved in processes of labelling and highlights how the outcomes of labelling can undermine stated development goals Importantly one of the book s principal objectives is to suggest how policy makers and professionals can tackle negative forms of labelling and encourage processes of counter labelling to enhance poverty reduction and human rights and to tackle issues of race relations and global security The Afterword encapsulates these ideas and provides a good basis for reflection further debate and action

African Land Rights Systems Tarimo, Aquiline, 2014-06-16 This book from ethical interdisciplinary and African perspectives unveils the root causes of the increasing land disputes Its significance lies upon the effort of presenting a broad overview founded upon a critical analysis of the existing land related disputes It is a perspective that attempts to evaluate the renewed interest in evolving theories of land rights by raising questions that can help us to understand better differences underlying land ownership systems conflict between customary and statutory land rights systems and the politics of land reform Other dimensions explored in the book include the market influence on land grabbing and challenges accompanying trends of migration resettlement and integration The methodology applied in the study provides a perspective that raises questions intended to identify areas of contention dispute and conflict The study which could also be categorized as a critical assessment of the African land rights systems is intended to be a resource for scholars activists and organizations working to resolve land related disputes

A Long Journey Home Luis Eduardo Pérez Murcia, 2025-09-01 Advancing contemporary scholarly debates on the role of home in understanding displacement and emplacement A Long Journey Home explores powerful personal narratives from Colombia The book examines the experiences of those whose sense of home has been disrupted by decades of conflict and violence It highlights the profound feelings of loss and the enduring struggle of living without a home an experience that can last for years or even decades Through these stories the book reveals how internally displaced people use creativity and imagination to remake their home while on the move

research attempts to reveal the complex socio cultural economic and environmental changes brought about by the state sponsored resettlement scheme Pawe in the northwestern lowlands of Ethiopia The autochthonous inhabitants of the area the Nilo Saharan speaking Gumuz and practicing shifting cultivation were confronted with a massive influx of about 80 000 relocated plough cultivators from various drought and famine stricken highland parts of the country From the contradictory strategies of livelihood and resource management of these two groups serious conflicts evolved which have so far not yet been overcome Wolde Selassie Abbute teaches at the University of Gttingen Germany

Risks in Africa Itaru Ohta,Gebre Yintiso,2005 As the plight of refugees around the world looms large as one of the central problems facing the international political community at the beginning of the 21st century the situations facing displaced persons in Africa are both acute manifestations of this global trend and unique in their particularities As the powerful nations of the world are mobilized to tackle domestic conflicts and their ensuing refugee problems in the Balkans the Middle East Southeast Asia and elsewhere African societies have typically been abandoned by the international community to resolving their own conflicts through their own means The authors of this volume examine both causes and effects of displacement in terms of both local and global politics environmental risks socio economic costs and policy and identity issues Combined these papers provide a powerful if not comprehensive overview of the variety and complexity of circumstances concerning displaced persons International Labour Documentation International Labour Office.
