The Irish Presbyterian Mind Andrew R. Holmes, 2018-09-13 The Irish Presbyterian Mind considers how one protestant community responded to the challenges posed to traditional understandings of Christian faith between 1830 and 1930 Andrew R Holmes examines the attitudes of the leaders of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland to biblical criticism modern historical method evolutionary science and liberal forms of protestant theology He explores how they reacted to developments in other Christian traditions including the so called Romeward trend in the established Churches of England and Ireland and the Romanisation of Catholicism Was their response distinctively Presbyterian and Irish How was it shaped by Presbyterian values intellectual first principles international denominational networks identity politics the expansion of higher education and relations with other Christian denominations The story begins in the 1830s when evangelicalism came to dominate mainstream Presbyterianism the largest protestant denomination in present day Northern Ireland It ends in the 1920s with the exoneration of J E Davey a professor in the Presbyterian College Belfast who was tried for heresy on accusations of being a modernist Within this timeframe Holmes describes the formation and maintenance of a religiously conservative intellectual community At the heart of the interpretation is the interplay between the Reformed theology of the Westminster Confession of Faith and a commitment to common evangelical principles and religious experience that drew protestants together from various denominations The definition of conservative within the Presbyterian Church in Ireland moved between these two poles and could take on different forms depending on time geography social class and whether the individual was a minister or a member of the laity

Ethnicity, Gender and the Subversion of Nationalism Bodil Folke Frederiksen, Fiona Wilson, 2014-02-04 This volume explores the politics of identity by analysing the intersections between ethnicity gender and nationalism in developing societies These markers of identity are not understood as constituting essences but as springing from people's core experiences yearnings and strategic life plans in a context where resources are scarce As such identities may be and are contested The intersections are traced across three areas social and cultural reproduction ideologies stereotypes and practices and nationalist politics and discourse which has tended to remove women from the public arena and construct an ideal of women's domesticity

An Oxford Companion to the Romantic Age Iain McCalman, Jon Mee, Gillian Russell, Clara Tuite, 1999-07-01 For the first time in this innovative reference book the Romantic Age is surveyed across all aspects of British culture rather than in literary or artistic terms alone The Companion's two part structure presents forty two essays on major topics by leading international experts cross referenced to an extensive alphabetical section covering all the principal figures events and movements in the broad culture of the period Aimed at students and general readers as well as scholars the essays constitute an accessible pluralistic and modern social history of the epoch the alphabetical entries can either be used alongside them for deeper information on specific subjects or as a free standing reference tool The volume as a whole embraces both high and low culture and explores its subject across the whole breadth of England Scotland Wales and Ireland The book s multi disciplinary approach treats Romanticism both in aesthetic terms its meaning for painting music design architecture and above all literature and as a historical epoch of revolutionary transformations which ushered in modern democratic and industrialized society In this period Wedgwood turned taste into a commercial enterprise Pierce Egan took Britain by storm with his sensational accounts of low life in the capital and Mary Shelley created in Frankenstein one of the enduring myths of scientific advance The Companion revitalizes canonical Romantic figures in the context of the historical events political and linguistic debates commercial pressures and plebeian subcultures of their day as well as bringing back into historical focus individuals and events whose impact has often been muffled or forgotten With over 100 integrated illustrations bibliographies accompanying all the major essays and an index to Part 1 this is the most comprehensive volume of its kind offering a unique breadth of information to scholars and students of eighteenth and nineteenth century British culture literature and history
