Rising In The East The Regeneration Of East London:

London's Turning Michael J. Rustin, 2016-12-14 The Thames Gateway plan is the largest and most complex project of urban regeneration ever undertaken in the United Kingdom This book provides a comprehensive overview and critique of the Thames Gateway plan but at the same time it uses the plan as a lens through which to look at a series of important questions of social theory urban policy and governmental practice It examines the impact of urban planning and demographic change on East London's material and social environment including new forms of ethnic gentrification the development of the eastern hinterlands shifting patterns of migration between city and country the role of new policies in regulating housing provision and the attempt to create new cultural hubs downriver It also looks at issues of governance and accountability the tension between public and private interests and the immediate and longer term prospects for the Thames Gateway project both in relation to the Olympics effect and the growth of new forms of regionalism Rising in the East? Tim Butler, Michael Rustin, 1996

Ethnologia Europaea Vol. 34:2 Gösta Arvastson, Tim Butler, 2004 Ethnologia Europaea has set itself the task of breaking down not only the barriers which divide research into Europe from general ethnology but also the barriers between the various national schools within the continent With this manifesto Ethnologia Europaea was started in 1969 Since then it has acquired a central position in the international co operation between ethnologists in the various European countries in the East as well as in the West It is however a journal of topical interest not only for ethnologists but also for anthropologists social historians and others studying the social and cultural forms of everyday life in recent and historical European societies Multicultures and Cities Gösta Arvastson, Tim Butler, 2006 In the planning of city development it is important that different groups should be able to live in peaceful coexistence This is how the concept multicultural came about During the 1970s multiculturalism was developed into a model of political democracy a strategy for society's rapid change The term multiculturalism suggests that contemporary urban cultures somehow co exist in a condition of mutual respect and possible equality The new multiculturalism seems very different from the migration that took place in the 1960s and 1970s The essays in this collection address the general themes of ethnicity and contemporary European urbanism in many different ways examining a wide variety of cities and city pairings The common bond in these writings is the impact that a contemporary merging of ethnicity and culture is having on the new urbanity that is now widely accepted as driving the new Europe The effect is far greater than might be predicted from the relative social powerlessness of many of the bearers of these cultures At the same time existing urban processes continue to ensure the marginality of these groups

Dritter Sektor/Drittes System Karl Birkhölzer, Ansgar Klein, Eckhard Priller, Annette Zimmer, 2015-02-27 In diesem Band wird eine Bilanz der Entwicklung des Dritten Sektors Dritten Systems gezogen Behandelt werden die theoretische Fundierung und praktischen Schlussfolgerungen für die weitere Entwicklung Eastern Promise Tim Butler, 2000 What are the challenges that face a new campus for a university particularly in an area such as East London which is in need of regeneration and investment Can a university become integrated into the community and at the same time contribute to the regeneration of that community both by helping individuals and the community as a whole If so what can it do and how The authors consider these questions in relation to the new campus of the University of East London which is situated in Docklands The essays in this book consider how the university should adapt itself to these changing needs and expectations They argue that there can no longer be a single model of what a university should be Non traditional universities need to redefine their roles and find new ways of meeting local needs This will include new relationships between teachers and students more involvement in the regeneration of the local economy including in the cultural industries more involvement in training including a role in lifelong learning access courses and other intermediate forms of education new partnership with other agencies local industry the local state and voluntary agencies London Calling Tim Butler, Garry Robson, 2003-08

Symbolizing both commerce and culture London has always been a magnet for the ambitions of the middle classes However the past three decades have witnessed a dramatic fragmentation in inner city Londons social map New and highly distinctive middle class neighbourhoods have sprung up where embattled workers seek to combat the deleterious effects of long working hours travel and stress on traditional family values This book is the first to explore the powerful impact of globalization on Londons economy and those who are caught up in it More and more people are responding to the negative effects of working life as well as the lack of structure in their lives and particularly those of their children The gentrification of certain areas and the differences among them directly reflects this desire to impose cultural values and structure on urban surroundings How do these areas reflect middle class values ideologies lifestyles social backgrounds and occupational choices and how have old neighbourhoods been refashioned and made amenable to middle class life In what ways has family life been affected by this new emphasis on values structure and security and what does the future hold This fascinating book provides the first sustained analysis of the profound effects of globalization on city dwellers Its original account of the relationship between urban space and cultural reproduction will inspire new research for years to come Ethnologia Europaea, 2004

Marginal Groups and Mainstream American Culture Yolanda Estes, 2000 They are often portrayed as outsiders ethnic minorities the poor the disabled and so many others all living on the margins of mainstream society Countless previous studies have focused on their pain and powerlessness but that has done little more than sustain our preconceptions of marginalized groups Most accounts of marginalization approach the subject from a distance and tend to overemphasize the victimization of outsiders Taking a more intimate approach this book reveals the personal moral and social implications of marginalization by drawing upon the actual experiences of such individuals Multidisciplinary and multicultural Identity on the Margin addresses marginalization at a variety of social levels and within many different social phenomena going beyond familiar cases dealing with race ethnicity and gender to examine such outsiders as renegade children conservative Christians and the physically and mentally disabled And because women are especially subject to the effects of marginalization feminist concerns and the marginalization of sexual practices provide a common denominator for many of the essays From problems posed by complimentary racism to the status of gays in Tony Blair s England from the struggle of Native Americans to preserve their identities to the singular problems of single mothers Identity on the Margin takes in a broad spectrum of cases to provide theoretical analysis and ethical criticism of the mechanisms of identity formation at the edges of society In all of the cases the authors demonstrate the need for theory that initiates social change by considering the ethical implications of marginalization and criticizing its harmful effects Bringing together accounts of marginalization from many different disciplines and perspectives this collection addresses a broad audience in the humanities and social sciences It offers a basis for enhancing our understanding of this process and for working toward meaningful social change

Placing London John Eade,2000 London continues to fascinate a vast audience across the world and an extensive diverse literature now exists describing and analyzing this metropolis The central question what is London has produced many answers but none of them the author argues uncovers the complex ways in which knowledge is constructed in the diverse attempts to represent places and people On the contrary a gulf has opened up between analysis of contemporary London as a global postcolonial city on the one hand and historical accounts of the imperial capital on the other The author shows how the gap can be bridged by combining an analysis of the representation over time by various experts of London and certain localities with an investigation of the ways in which residents have represented their communities through struggles over symbolic and material resources

The Seduction of Place Joseph Rykwert,2000 Lonely and emotionally impaired everyman Jimmy Corrigan is given the opportunity to meet the father he never had This is the spark for an improvisatory romance which gingerly ignores all sense of plot and drama The reader is transported between 1890 s Chicago and 1980 s small town Michigan helped along by thousands of coloured illustrations and diagrams which provide a startling illusion of life and movement The bulk of the book is supported by fold out instructions an index paper cut outs and brief notes

The City Builders Susan S. Fainstein,2001 This revised edition examines major redevelopment efforts in New York and London to uncover the forces behind these investment cycles and the role that public policy can play in moderating market instability It chronicles the progress of three development projects in New York and three in London
