Federal soldiers execute priests in front of their churches and massacre entire villages of people who continue to worship. The people rise in rebellion against their own government. The women form the Joan of Arc Women's Brigade which grows to 25 000 women strong between Guadalajara, Mexico City and all the surrounding villages. They go undercover to obtain information and smuggle ammunition and supplies to the men fighting. Mariana has a hardworking but idyllic life on a citrus ranch in California. She is sheltered and protected by her family and older brother Emilio. That is until tragedy strikes. Emilio is murdered. To cover up the crime, a powerful man has Mariana's family of seven deported to Mexico, a place she barely remembers. Her family is dropped off at the Tijuana border and forced to enter Mexico. Prohibition north of the border has caused Tijuana to erupt with new saloons, casinos and brothels, earning the nickname Satan's Playground. Mariana's father heads to Guadalajara to find work, leaving the rest of the family behind in Tijuana. Mariana's education and beauty give her many opportunities to help support her family, but she is overly naive. When Mariana trusts the wrong person and disgraces herself, her mother ships her off to Guadalajara to find her father, right into the heart of the rebellion. Mariana has never spent a single night away from her family. Now she is on a two-day train ride through the desert with nothing but a suitcase and an address. Will Mariana find her father before it is too late? Or will she end up dead along with the other 30 000 men, women and children who died fighting for their freedom.
