Praying The Gospels Through Poetry Lent To Easter:

Praying the Gospels Through Poetry Peggy Rosenthal, 2002 Sometimes we find that the best loved Gospel stories become so familiar that we can no longer respond to them writes Rosenthal Poetry's special art is to cast a fresh eye on the too familiar Poetry's fresh eye may startle us with its different view Praying the Gospels through Poetry Lent to Easter casts the fresh eye of poetry on the Gospel readings for Lent and Holy Week as a new way to enter the Gospel stories and pray with them more fully Useful for individuals or small groups each chapter includes reflection on a poem pertaining to the Gospel by a contemporary with one exception poet including David Craig George Herbert Andrew Hudgins Mark Jarman Paul Mariani Vassar Miller Eric Pankey Ku Sang Liliana Ursu and Karol Wojtyla Pope John Paul II Preaching the Poetry of the Gospels Elizabeth Michael Boyle, 2003 Can an understanding of the poetics of the Gospels together with a reading of poetry inspired by them make the homily an art form as compelling as a poetry performance In Preaching the Poetry of the Gospels Elizabeth Michael Boyle O P offers a preaching guide to the Sunday Lectionary using the insights of poets to enliven and elicit more powerful homilies Preaching the Poetry of the Gospels demonstrates that not only the Fourth Gospel but also the Synoptics can be read with special understanding when they are interpreted as narrative poetry For each Sunday from the first Sunday in Advent through Trinity Sunday the author offers a poet's reflection on the literary devices in the liturgical texts and a gathering of poems about the gospel event Chapters are Incarnation Advent to Epiphany Redemption Ash Wednesday through Holy Week Resurrection The Sundays of Easter Transformation Ascension to Trinity Sunday and Reclaiming the Poetry of Ordinary Time Traditions of the Ancients Marcia Ford, 2006-04-01 What was old is new and relevant again For many Christians today the growing desire for a deeper faith experience is being met in the study and application of ancient worship practices Traditions of the Ancients is filled with candidly informative looks at such themes as mysticism praying for the gift of tears reciting the Jesus prayer and asking God for the gift of bereavement Music at Midnight John Drury, 2013-08-29 George Herbert wrote but never published some of the very greatest English poetry recording in an astonishing variety of forms his inner experiences of grief recovery hope despair anger fulfilment and above all else love He was born in 1593 and died at the age of 39 in 1633 before the clouds of civil war gathered his family aristocratic and his upbringing privileged He showed worldly ambition and seemed sure of high public office and a career at court but then for a time lost himself in a humble way devoting himself to the restoration of the church at Leighton Bromswold in Buckinghamshire and then to his parish of Bemerton three miles from Salisbury whose cathedral music he called my heaven on earth When in the year of his death his friend Nicholas Ferrar leader of the quasi monastic community at Little Gidding published Herbert's poems under the title The Temple his fame was quickly established Because he published no English poems during his lifetime and dating most of them exactly is impossible writing Herbert's biography is an unusual challenge In this book John Drury sets the poetry in the whole context of the poet's life and times so that the reader can understand the frame of mind and kind of society which produced it and depth can be added to the narrative of Herbert's life T S Eliot What we can confidently believe is that every poem in the book The Temple is in tune to the poet's experience His Herbert is not the saintly figure who has come down to us from John Aubrey but a man torn for much of his life between worldly ambition and the spiritual life shown to us so clearly through his writings The result is the most satisfying biography of this exceptional English poet yet written
