

Political Socialization

Gender and Ethnicity

Gender and ethnic identity affect our political loyalties. Men are more likely to vote Republican than women. Black voters are more likely than white voters to cast ballots for Democrats.

Peer Groups

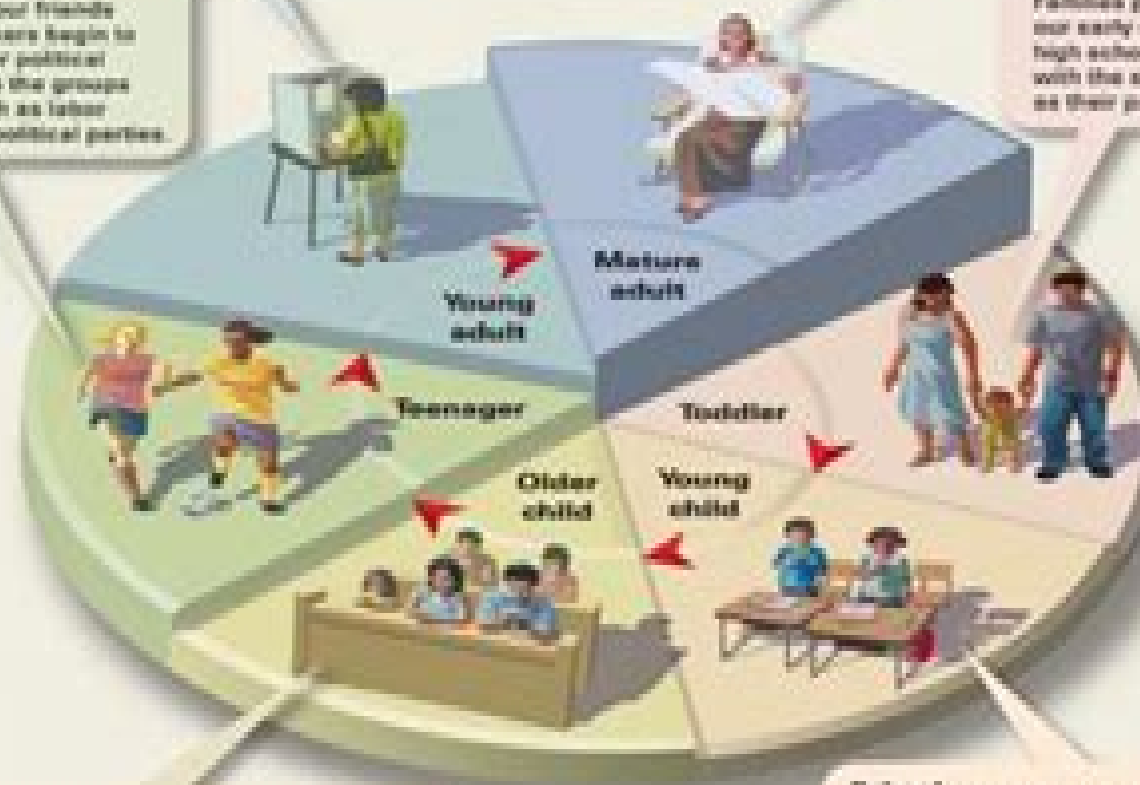

As we age, our friends and co-workers begin to influence our political views. So do the groups we join, such as labor unions and political parties.

News Media

The news media influence what we pay attention to as adults. The effects of the media vary with our reading and viewing habits.

Family

Families play a large role in our early socialization. Most high school seniors identify with the same political party as their parents.

Religion

Religious teachings help shape political values. People may have more conservative or more liberal views based on their religious beliefs.

School

Schools teach us to love our country, respect the law, and value our rights. The more education Americans get, the more likely they are to participate in politics.

be explored in the substantive discussions of democracy and democratisation in relation to individuals as well as political systems. If educational policy is social policy, if a democratic society demands citizens who are educated and thus capable of political action, the themes Political Education and Political Socialisation need to be addressed anew and this is equally important for a rethinking of the future of the political more generally. The contributions to the book contribute to a challenging debate.
