INNOVATION AND CHANGE IN THE HUMAN SERVICES Nicholas D. Richie, Diane E. Alperin, 2002-01-01 This second edition of Innovation and Change in the Human Services considerably updates and expands the previous volume. An overview of the development of human services over the course of the twentieth century culminates in an evolutionary model which illustrates how human services generally progress from an initial individual problem stage to one of considerable governmental involvement and media attention. Eight specific human services are discussed in detail: hospices for those with life limiting illness, continuing care retirement communities, services for those with HIV/AIDS, domestic assault services, day care for children, services for the homeless, lifelong occupational counseling, and services for Alzheimer's patients. A full chapter is devoted to some of the major events of the last decade of the twentieth century: the Clinton Health Care Plan, the Welfare Reforms of 1996, and the Oregon Death with Dignity Act. The chapter on human services education compares degree programs in human services and social work and suggests a functional approach which would allow the human services worker to move easily from one setting to another due to having mastered a common core curriculum with universal applicability. The last chapter deals with human services issues of considerable importance at the start of the twenty first century including the corporatization of human services, the privatization of human services, Social Security reform, and healthcare reform. This material is expected to be of use not only to educators and students in the human services but also to policy analysts and health services administrators/practitioners who face everyday the challenge of refining/adapting the programs they administer, study, and support.

Mind as Machine Margaret A. Boden, 2006 The development of cognitive science is one of the most remarkable and fascinating intellectual achievements of the modern era. It brings together psychology, neuroscience, artificial intelligence, computing, philosophy, linguistics, and anthropology in the project of understanding the mind by modelling its workings. Oxford University Press now presents a masterful history of cognitive science told by one of its most eminent practitioners.

Philosophical Issues of Human Cyborgization and the Necessity of Prolegomena on Cyborg Ethics Greguric, Ivana, 2021-10-22 We are currently living in an age of scientific humanism. Cyborgs, robots, avatars, and bio-technologically created beings are new entities that exist alongside biological human beings. As with many emerging technologies, many people will find the concept foreign and frightening. There is a strong possibility that these entities will be mistreated. Philosophical Issues of Human Cyborgization and the Necessity of Prolegomena on Cyborg Ethics discusses the ethics of human cyborgization as well as emerging technologies of robots and avatars that exhibit human-like qualities. The chapters build a strong case for the necessity of cyborg ethics and protocols for preserving the vitality of life within an ever-advancing technological society. Covering topics such as cyborg hacking, historical reality, and naturalism, this book is a dynamic resource for scientists, ethicists, cyber behavior professionals, students, and professors of both technological and philosophical studies, faculty of higher education, philosophers, AI engineers, healthcare professionals,
