Prehistoric Man In The Ciskei Transkei:

Prehistoric Man in the Ciskei & Transkei Robin M. Derricourt, 1977 Gemeinschaft, Gleichheit, Mobilität Tilman Lenssen-Erz, 2001-01-01 Ancient African Metallurgy Michael S. Bisson, Terry S. Childs, Philip De Barros, Augustin F.C. Holl, Joseph O. Vogel, 2000-08-16

Gold Copper Iron Metal working in Africa has been the subject of both public lore and extensive archaeological investigation Here four of the leading contemporary researchers on this topic attempt to provide a complete synthesis of current debates and understandings Where how and when was metal first introduced to the continent How were iron and copper tools implements and objects used in everyday life in trade in political and cultural contexts What role did metal objects play in the ideological systems of precolonial African peoples Substantive chapters address the origins of metal working and the technology and the various uses and meanings of copper and iron An ethnoarchaeological account in the words of a contemporary iron worker enriches the archaeological explanations This book provides a comprehensive timely summary of our current knowledge

Archaeologies of Cultural Contact Timothy Clack, Marcus Brittain, 2022-08-11

Archaeologies of Cultural Contact undertakes an exploration of cultural transfer with a particular focus on the combination and modification of both material and behavioural attributes under conditions of contact From globalization and displacement to cultural legitimization and identity politics the modern world is characterised by and articulated through dynamics of contact and transfer This book recognises that creolization ethnogenesis hybridity and syncretism are analytical concepts and social processes relevant not only to the postcolonial contexts of the twentieth century but also to wide ranging instances where contact is made between cultural groups Indeed in representing the re working of pre existing cultural elements they were crucial and ever present features of the human past Ranging in their analytical frame scale and geographical and temporal location the chapters in this volume demonstrate the diverse understandings that can be gained from explorations into the material remains of past contact exposing and overcoming various limitations of competing models of cultural change They permit insights into not only cultural change and difference but also the processes of appropriation resistance redefinition and incorporation Together the contributions articulate the perspectives that concern practices in relations to people places and things and note how power dynamics mediate social interactions and sustain and constrain forms of cultural contact This book will be of interest to researchers and students in archaeology as well those from cognate disciplines particularly anthropology and history

Participatory Archaeology and Heritage Studies Peter R. Schmidt, 2019-12-13

Participatory Archaeology and Heritage Studies Perspectives from Africa provides new ways to look at and think about the practice of community archaeology and heritage studies across the globe Long hidden from view African experiences and experiments with participatory archaeology and heritage studies have poignant lessons to convey about local initiatives local needs and local perspectives among communities as diverse as an Islamic community on the edge of an ancient city in Sudan to multi ethnic rural villages near rock art sites in South Africa

Straddling both heritage studies and archaeological practice this volume incorporates a range of settings from practical experiments with sustainable pottery kilns in Kenya to an elite palace and its hidden traditional heritage in Northwestern Tanzania to ancestral knowledge about heritage landscapes in rural Ethiopia The genesis of participatory practices in Africa are traced back to the 1950s with examples of how this legacy has played out over six decades setting the scene for a deeply rooted practice now gaining widespread acceptance The chapters in this book were originally published in the Journal of Community Archaeology and Heritage

The Peopling of Africa James L. Newman, 1995-01-01 Discovering the African past takes one on a journey back to the origins of humanity over four million years ago which is where James L Newman begins his account of the continent's peoples He ends it at the onset of the colonial era in the late nineteenth century noting that Africa and Africans deserve to be known on their own terms and to achieve this goal we need to improve our understanding of what took place before colonialism rewrote many of life's rules African identities constitute one of Newman's main themes and thus he discusses the roles played by genetic background language occupation and religion Population distribution is the other main theme running through the book As a geographer the author uses regions spaces and places as his filters for viewing how Africans have responded through time to differing natural and human environmental circumstances Drawing on the fields of biology archaeology linguistics history anthropology and demography as well as geography Newman describes the richness and diversity of Africa's inhabitants the technological changes that transformed their lives how they formed polities from small groups of kin to states and empires and how they were influenced by external forces particularly the slave trade Maps are an important part of the book conveying information and helping readers interrelate local regional continental and global contexts
