Prehistoric Painted Pottery Of Southeastern Arizona:

Prehistoric Painted Pottery of Southeastern Arizona Robert A. Heckman, Barbara K. Montgomery, Stephanie Michelle Whittlesey, 2000 This volume is a guide to the painted ceramics of southeastern Arizona one of the most interesting culturally diverse and relatively unknown regions of the American Southwest a crossroads and meeting ground for many different prehistoric peoples The volume was commissioned by the U S Army Garrison Fort Huachuca for a class on the ceramics and prehistory of southeastern Arizona Because the class was designed primarily for avocational archaeologists the guide describes the painted ceramics and prehistory of the region in an informal and easy to understand format The guide focuses on the time between a d 650 and 1450 when painted pottery was made The focus is painted pottery because it encodes diverse social ideological functional and temporal information The pottery discussed in this guide represents ceramics commonly found in southeastern Arizona centering on the Garden Canyon site at Fort Huachuca To set the stage the authors provide a history of archaeological research in southeastern Arizona an overview of culture history between a d 650 and 1450 and comments on the history and use of pottery classification in the Southwest The guide focuses on lesser known and poorly described ceramics of the region such as Babocomari Dragoon San Simon and Trincheras pottery using the framework of ceramic tradition as a heuristic device Black and white and color illustrations richly display the diversity of ceramic design and form

The Davis Ranch Site Rex E. Gerald, 2019-04-30 In this new volume the results of Rex E. Gerald's 1957 excavations at the Davis Ranch Site in southeastern Arizona's San Pedro River Valley are reported in their entirety for the first time Annotations to Gerald's original manuscript in the archives of the Amerind Museum and newly written material place Gerald's work in the context of what is currently known regarding the late thirteenth century Kayenta diaspora and the relationship between Kayenta immigrants and the Salado phenomenon Data presented by Gerald and other contributors identify the site as having been inhabited by people from the Kayenta region of northeastern Arizona and southeastern Utah The results of Gerald's excavations and Archaeology Southwest's San Pedro Preservation Project 1990-2001 indicate that the people of the Davis Ranch Site were part of a network of dispersed immigrant enclaves responsible for the origin and spread of Roosevelt Red Ware pottery the key material marker of the Salado phenomenon A companion volume to Charles Di Peso's 1958 publication on the nearby Reeve Ruin archaeologists working in the U S Southwest and other researchers interested in ancient population movements and their consequences will consider this work an essential case study

The Hohokam and Their World Linda M. Gregonis, Victoria Riley Evans, 2025-03-04 People traveling around the Sonoran Desert will see the traces of an ancient society the Hohokam through the material that they left behind pottery shell ornaments carved stone and rock imagery The Hohokam and Their World offers readers the opportunity to explore how these various images and objects may have been used by the Hohokam and what the icons and objects may have meant including how the Hohokam conveyed ideas about water the Sonoran Desert the ocean travel ancestors and the cosmos

Authors Linda M Gregonis and Victoria R Evans discuss how artists drew inspiration from their Sonoran Desert homeland and were also influenced by the cultures of western Mexico the hunter gatherers of the western desert the Mogollon to the east and the Pueblo cultures of the northern Southwest Unlike traditional archaeological texts this book takes a holistic approach by examining a diverse range of artistic expressions used by the Hohokam From intricately crafted pottery to mesmerizing carvings in rock each medium offers a unique glimpse into the Hohokam s relationship with their environment and the wider world Whether you re planning a visit to national parks or museums in the Southwest or simply intrigued by ancient civilizations The Hohokam and Their World is a must read The work includes a glossary of key archaeological and anthropological terms as well as endnotes and an extensive list of references for those who want to dig deeper A History of the Ancient Southwest Stephen H. Lekson, 2009 According to archaeologist Stephen H Lekson much of what we think we know about the Southwest has been compressed into conventions and classifications and orthodoxies This book challenges and reconfigures these accepted notions by telling two parallel stories one about the development personalities and institutions of Southwestern archaeology and the other about interpretations of what actually happened in the ancient past While many works would have us believe that nothing much ever happened in the ancient Southwest this book argues that the region experienced rises and falls kings and commoners war and peace triumphs and failures In this view Chaco Canyon was a geopolitical reaction to the Colonial Period Hohokam expansion and the Hohokam Classic Period was the product of refugee Chacoan nobles chased off the Colorado Plateau by angry farmers Far to the south Casas Grandes was a failed attempt to create a Mesoamerican state and modern Pueblo people with societies so different from those at Chaco and Casas Grandes deliberately rejected these monumental hierarchical episodes of their past From the publisher The second printing of A History of the Ancient Southwest has corrected the errors noted below SAR Press regrets an error on Page 72 paragraph 4 also Page 275 note 2 regarding absolute dates 50 000 dates was incorrectly published as half a million dates Also P 125 lines 13 14 Between 21 000 and 27 000 people lived there should read Between 2 100 and 2 700 people lived there

The Connected Past Tom Brughmans, Anna Collar, Fiona Susan Coward, 2016 One of the most exciting recent developments in archaeology and history has been the adoption of new perspectives which see human societies in the past as in the present as made up of networks of interlinked individuals This view of people as always connected through physical and conceptual networks along which resources information and disease flow requires archaeologists and historians to use new methods to understand how these networks form function and change over time The Connected Past provides a constructive methodological and theoretical critique of the growth in research applying network perspectives in archaeology and history and considers the unique challenges presented by datasets in these disciplines including the fragmentary and material nature of such data and the functioning and change of social processes over long timespans An international and multidisciplinary range of scholars debate both the rationale and practicalities of applying network methodologies addressing the merits and drawbacks of specific techniques of analysis for a range of datasets and research questions and demonstrating their approaches with concrete case studies and detailed illustrations As well as revealing the valuable contributions archaeologists and historians can make to network science the volume represents a crucial step towards the development of best practice in the field especially in exploring the interactions between social and material elements of networks and long term network evolution

Crossroads of the Southwest David E. Purcell, 2008-12-18 Arizona is a land of diverse landscapes often strikingly juxtaposed In the upper Gila River Valley of southeastern Arizona the basin surrounding the modern town of Safford encompasses the intersection of different environments and prehistoric cultures The Hohokam of the Sonoran Desert Mogollon of the San Simon Valley and mountain highlands Anasazi of the Colorado Plateau and Apache of the mountains and plains all lived in this region during the Ceramic period A D 600 1450 Crossroads of the Southwest presents the results of new archaeological research that sets aside long standing theoretical constraints to examine anew three central themes in Southwestern archaeological study culture identity and migration Six innovative studies by top regional scholars utilize both new data and classic studies to examine a region long overlooked by archaeologists

Prehistory and Early History of the Malpai Borderlands Paul R. Fish, 2006 Prehispanic and early historic archaeological information for the Malpai Borderlands of southwest New Mexico and southeast Arizona is reviewed using data derived from field reconnaissance discussion with relevant scholars archival resources from varied agencies and institutions and published literature Previous regional research has focused on late prehistory A D 1200 to 1450 shaping the scope of cultural historical overview and providing an opportunity to examine relationships with Casas Grandes Paquime to the south A second important objective of current study is the exploration of prehispanic and early historic human impacts to Borderlands ecosystems particularly in relation fire ecology A recommended sequence of future research is intended to address significant questions surrounding both culture history and anthropogenic environments in the Malpai Borderlands
