Industrialisation and Race Relations Guy Hunter, 1965 Selected Documentation for the Study of Race Relations, 1958 Theology and Race Relations Joseph T. Leonard, 1963 A stark and undramatic presentation of the basic principles of Catholic moral theology and an application of these principles to areas of interracial behaviour Stresses the function and necessity of charity in resolving this problem Perception and Prejudice Jon Hurwitz, Mark Peffley, 1998-01-01 Based on one of the most extensive scientific surveys of race ever conducted this book investigates the relationship between racial perceptions and policy choices in America The contributors leading scholars in the fields of public opinion race relations and political behavior clarify and explore images of African Americans that white Americans hold and the complex ways that racial stereotypes shape modern political debates about such issues as affirmative action housing welfare and crime The authors make use of the largest national study of public opinion on racial issues in more than a generation the Race and Politics Study RPS conducted by the Survey Research Center at the University of California The RPS employed methodological improvements made possible by Computer Assisted Telephone Interviewing a technique that enables analysts to combine the internal validity of laboratory experiments with the external validity of probability sampling Taking full advantage of these research methods the authors offer highly nuanced analyses of subjects ranging from the sources of racial stereotypes to the racial policy preferences of Democrats and Republicans to the reasons for resistance to affirmative action Their findings indicate that while crude and explicit forms of racial prejudice may have declined in recent decades racial stereotypes persist among many whites and exert a powerful influence on the ways they view certain public policies

Prejudice and Race Relations Raymond W. Mack, 1970 Non Aborginal material Psychology and Race Peter Watson, 2017-09-05 Since the problems of race relations are worldwide the international origins and perspectives of this excellent and timely book are especially advantageous More research has been done in the United States than elsewhere on the psychology of race relations so it is appropriate that a plurality of the chapters of this book are by American authors a stellar group that includes leading contributors to our contemporary knowledge of the topic Contributors from the English speaking Commonwealth countries are next in number followed by authors from the United Kingdom where race related issues have only recently become a salient concern of politics and social ethics The editor has assigned topics to his carefully chosen author experts not by country or region but by matching the expertise of each author against a need for coherent analysis of the important aspects of psychology and race Psychology and Race is divided into two major parts The first half of the book looks at the interracial situation itself The first section concentrates on the majority or dominant group and describes the development and measurement of racial awareness and prejudice and techniques for reducing prejudice the second section focuses on the reactions of subordinate or minority groups and the third deals with specific aspects of interpersonal interaction attitudes behavior and performance when the people concerned are of different races The book also looks at those areas of life where race is relevant and where psychology can help in an understanding of the situation The scope of this volume the distinction of its authors and the hardheaded sense of reality it brings to the discussion of these extremely complex issues will make it an invaluable resource not only for teachers and students but also for everyone concerned in any way with this most pressing issue of our times
