Course Offerings, Enrollments, and Curriculum Practices in Public Secondary School, 1972-73 Logan Osterndorf, Paul J. Horn, 1976 Mathematics Teacher Resource Handbook, 1993 Equitable School Scheduling Cheryl Hibbeln, Lori Rhodes, 2024-11-05 To understand a school's values and priorities look at its schedule When schedules do not meet the instructional needs of students the result is a pipeline from PreK through grade 12 that leaks students an outcome disproportionately experienced by students of color and other marginalized student groups This practical and thoughtful guide demonstrates how school and district scheduling teams can become Architects of Equity highly effective teams who design schedules that reflect their commitment to student achievement and social emotional wellbeing Including strategies to shift collective mindsets around scheduling organize and support teaching teams and ensure fiscal responsibility in scheduling Equitable School Scheduling is a vital resource for secondary school leaders committed to dismantling systemic inequities inherent in school structures Readers will learn how to Self assess site and or district data through a deep examination of the course of study site schedule's transcripts and graduation cohort outcomes Design and implement an Equitable Core a guaranteed set of courses that all students experience as a part of a meaningful graduation Prioritize underestimated and historically underserved students in the planning of the schedule Equitable School Scheduling helps school and district administrators use scheduling as a tool to transform the leaky pipeline to graduation into a meaningful path to post secondary success for all students On the Same Track Carol Corbett Burris, 2015-03-17 A public school principal's account of the courageous leaders who have dismantled the tracking systems in their schools in order to desegregate classrooms What would happen if a school eliminated the tracks that rank students based on their perceived intellectual abilities Would low achieving students fall behind and become frustrated Would their higher achieving peers suffer from a watered down curriculum Or is tracking itself the problem A growing body of research shows that tracking doesn't increase learning for the minority and low income students who are overrepresented in low track classrooms This de facto segregation has led many civil rights advocates to argue that tracking is turning back the clock on equal education. As a principal at a New York high school, Carol Corbett Burris believed that the curriculum for the best students was the best curriculum for all. She helped lead a bold plan to eliminate tracking from her school, and the results couldn't have been further from the doom and gloom scenarios of tracking proponents. Instead, there was a dramatic improvement in the achievement of all students across racial and socioeconomic divisions and a near elimination of the achievement gap. Today, due to those efforts, International Baccalaureate English is the twelfth grade curriculum for South Side students, and all students take the same challenging courses together to prepare them for college. In On the Same Track, Burris draws on her own experience, on the experiences of other schools, and on the latest research to make an impassioned case for detracking. Not only does the practice of tracking fail to benefit lower tracked students, as Burris shows, but it also results in the resegregation of classrooms. Furthermore, she argues that many of today's popular reforms emanate from the same sort and select mentality that reinforces social stratification based on race and class. On the Same Track is a rousing, controversial, and yet optimistic account of how we need to change our assumptions and policies if we are to live up to the promise of democratic public education. Only by holding all students to the same high standards can we ensure that all have the same opportunity to live up to their full potential.

El-Hi Textbooks and Serials in Print, 2006 El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print, 2005, 2005 Curriculum Review, 1985 Prealgebra Katherine Yoshiwara, 1997. This text was written to help ease the transition from the numerical skills of arithmetic to the more abstract world of algebra. The text concentrates on conceptual understanding in place of rote application of algorithms and encourages students to explore algebraic concepts in an informal way to build a foundation for the subsequent formal study of algebra as recommended in the NCTM Standards. Where's the Math? Stephanie Lessman, 2004 Long-term Situational Problem Solving in Middle School Mathematics Pamela Susan Knight, 1991
