Wesley Allen,2010-04-21 The major shift in the study and practice of preaching in the 1970s and 1980s labeled the New Homiletic turned toward the hearer The purpose of preaching focused less on persuasion and more on transformation less on asserting religious truths and more on offering an experience of the gospel Instead of viewing language as referential its creative evocative nature began to be emphasized Thus homiletical strategies utilizing induction celebration story narrative structures and moves replaced a deductive propositional approach to preaching Now three and a half decades after this shift began preachers recognize that the homiletical landscape has continued to evolve in ways that influence how preaching ought to be done for example the rise of postmodernity the decline of the mainline church cultural pluralism and biblical and theological illiteracy Those considered to be the pillars of the New Homiletic David Buttrick Fred Craddock Eugene Lowry Henry Mitchell and Charles Rice discuss how to change their homiletical approach for a new day Each of these distinguished scholars offers a lecture describing how his mind has changed preaches a sermon reflecting these changes and participates in a panel discussion with younger respondents Publisher description Preaching to Second Generation Korean Americans Matthew D. Theology and the Interhuman Robert R. Williams, 1995 The essays in this volume are intended to recognize honor and respond to the multifaceted thought of Edward Farley The title for this volume is meant to articulate both a central theme developed in Edward Farley's constructive theology and a broad connection between theology and other concerns reflective ontology and deconstruction intersubjectivity ethics and social political criticism of advanced industrial society The different voices and levels of concern of the contributors reflect the diverse and wide ranging character of Farley's work In his preface editor Robert Williams notes that Farley's constructive theology was inaugurated in his theological prolegomena Ecclesial Man 1975 that appropriated not only Husserl's phenomenological method for theology but also Husserl's concept of the life world Lebenswelt The life world as the concrete historical a priori underlying theoretical thought is an interhuman domain that is also the locus of faith and ethics Hence the title of this book Theology and the Interhuman Theology and the Interhuman then represents more than a collection of essays in honor of an influential scholar and teacher While the various contributions concentrate on historical philosophical theology theological education and various areas of practical theology they do so in a way that continues and expands conversations that have been and will be going on for some time BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Religion Index Two, 1998
