Der neue Atlas der Weltgeschichte John Haywood, 2002

The Divine Feminine in Ancient Europe Sharon Paice MacLeod, 2013-12-23 This book is an exploration of the spiritual traditions of ancient Europe focusing on the numinous presence of the divine feminine in Russia Central Europe France Britain Ireland and the northern regions Drawing upon research in archaeology history sociology anthropology and the study of religions to connect the reader with the myths and symbols of the European traditions the book shows how the power of European goddesses and holy women evolved through the ages adapting to climate change and social upheaval but continually reflecting the importance of living in an harmonious relationship with the environment and the spirit world From the cave painting of southern France to ancient Irish tombs from shamanic rituals to Arthurian legends the divine feminine plays an essential role in understanding where we have come from and where we are going Comparative examples from other native cultures and quotes from spiritual leaders around the world set European religions in context with other indigenous cultures      Atlas of Past Times John Haywood,2002 Atlas containing 100 specially drawn full color maps that relate the story of humankind from its beginnings in Africa to the present day      Indo-European Origins John V. Day,2001 A comprehensive survey of the evidence from biological anthropology for Indo European origins based on the author s Ph D thesis prepared under Professor James Mallory The author first considers the various ways that languages can spread and the possible biological implications of these expansions He then embarks on an exhaustive survey of over 2 600 books and articles relating to the physical anthropology of the earliest identified speakers of Indo European languages based on ancient texts artworks and lexicons Covering Europe and Asia from the Neolithic onwards His study surveys dermatoglyphics mummified corpses skeletal remains and genetic material for evidence of ancient population movements An attempt is then made to integrate findings from biological anthropology with data from linguistics archaeology and social anthropology to test the validity of migration theories in relation to the dispersal of the Indo European languages and the possible location of a hypothesized proto Indo European language The bibliography lists over 2 600 books and articles      The Nordic Scimitar Ørjan Engedal,2002 Based on the author s thesis this short study looks at social stratification elitization and ideology in the Scandinavian Bronze Age Engedal s study focuses on a particular artefact type a curved bronze sword known as the scimitar that is thought to have originated in Anatolia      The Journal of Education ,1888

The Journal of the Royal Society of Antiquaries of Ireland Royal Society of Antiquaries of Ireland,1998      Visual Culture and Archaeology Robin Skeates,2005-12-21 This book draws on the complementary fields of visual cultural studies and interpretative archaeology to examine how successive generations transformed their visual culture to construct themselves It explores this process through an extended case study of art and social life in prehistoric south east Italy between the Upper Palaeolithic and the Bronze Age A central argument of the book is that a wide range of visually communicative artworks were consumed and produced in the cultural process Such objects range from portable artefacts to installations within sites to monumental structures in the landscape all of which were interwoven with people s bodies in the experiences of daily life and special performances More specifically it is argued that these powerful aesthetic objects were actively used by people across space and time to perceive the world around them and to reproduce their social lives They helped people to establish personal and collective boundaries identities and relationships to acquire and exercise power to promote ideologies and to contest them especially at time of social tension

Europe Between the Oceans Barry W. Cunliffe, 2008 Distinguished archaeologist Cunliffe views Europe not in terms of states and shifting political land boundaries but as a geographical niche particularly favored in facing many seas in this history that presents an engaging new understanding of Old Europe

Hoppea, 2006 American Book Publishing Record, 1998 Atlas of World Art Oxford University Press, 2004 The Atlas of World Art maps the cumulative traces of humankind's artistic activity and demonstrates the importance of physical and political geography for the history of the world's art This stunning volume is the first to treat the art of the whole world from prehistory to present day and to show the importance of natural and social factors in shaping artistic activity The Atlas is divided into seven parts each devoted to a specific time period Art of the Hunter Gatherer 50 000 5 000 BCE Art Agriculture and Urbanization 5 000 500 BCE Art War and Empire 500 BCE 600 CE Art Religion and Empire 600 1500 Art Exploitation and Display 1500 1800 Art Industry and Science 1800 1900 Art Competition and Identity 1900 2000 Each section opens with a helpful timeline for that period bringing together important dates from across various cultures Within each section the spreads are organized by four broad geographic regions the Americas Europe Africa and Asia and the Pacific With dramatic full color maps as well as commentaries and illustrations the Atlas of World Art is an authoritative comprehensive and elegant volume

Choreographing Identities Anthony Shay, 2006-09-25 This volume looks at how various cultures use dance as a visual representation of their identity and how traditional dances change over time Chiefly the work focuses on cultural representation and how it is sometimes manipulated

Talanta, 2002 Mesolithic Studies at the Beginning of the 21st Century Nicky Milner, Peter C. Woodman, 2005 The term Mesolithic was born in the nineteenth century from the need to label a hiatus period and was not generally accepted as a useful term by many scholars until around fifty years later It has been championed by some but still concerns others because of the difficulty of defining what it represents This volume highlights the enthusiasm for Mesolithic studies in the 21st century and the feeling that there is a need to explore the many facets of Mesolithic lifeways Approaches are now moving away from the traditional Mesolithic canon that seems to have been based on a particular set of biological and or ecological perspectives and are now looking for new directions and new theoretical arenas which can only help stimulate Mesolithic debate The papers in this volume take a range of approaches to a period that has largely been devoid of explicit theoretical discussion They deconstruct and explore a broad variety of subjects including mobility complexity seasonality death burial gender sexuality social relations music human agency ethnoarchaeology and emotion
