Travel Tales Monthly Michael Brein, Ph.D., 2014-11-20

Michael Brein's Travel Tales Monthly is a monthly bookazine release of simply incredible travel tales told 10 at a time. Michael Brein aka The Travel Psychologist has made it his life's passion to interview now more than 1 750 world adventurers and travelers he has met throughout his world travels to more than 125 countries over the last four decades. You wouldn't believe the incredible stories people have told me about their travels says Michael when he talks about the nearly 10 000 travel tales he has amassed over the years in this way. Stories run the gamut of the good the wonderful and the magical as well as indeed the bad the horrible and the truly horrific. These are simply stated great stories. Stories are told mainly in the present tense by interviewees but sadly some are revealed about travelers who unfortunately did not live to tell their tales. These have often been related by weary bleary eyed travelers who felt that these tales should also be told into the pages of Travel Tales Monthly and then into the volumes of The Travel Psychologist Travel Tales Series ebooks will go the formerly untold tales of close calls dangers and great escapes the mystical spiritual and the paranormal meeting people making friends and incredible hospitality harassment by beggars hustlers and con artists of all kinds formidable characters met and phenomenal experiences had and much much more all in the form of about 200 ebooks covering all sorts of subjects countries and themes. The intent of Travel Tales Monthly is to present collections of tales each month introducing you to the stories as they make their way into The Travel Psychologist Travel Tales Series in the form of completed standalone ebooks in the series. The telling of travel stories by Michael Brein via his Travel Tales Monthly as well as his travel tales ebook series is travel storytelling par excellence but with one significant difference. Michael Brein is the world's first and perhaps only travel psychologist. Thus he tells the travel stories with a particular unique psychological bent there's a lot of travel psychology behind everyone's sharing of their experiences. With deft and persistence Michael hones in on and ferrets out the usually heretofore unexplored and untold truly psychological netherworld that lurks just below the surface of most people's travel experiences bringing them into full view. For instance what led up to a good or wonderful travel experience. How can we experience more of same. What was behind the horrific life threatening or pickpocketing experience that got you caught up in in that one horrendous moment. Let's unravel bad experiences piece by piece to see how this might have been avoided in the first place. Let's unfold wonderful travel experiences to see how these may be repeated. What are some of the philosophical and life changing insights gained from mystical experiences in one's travels. What's it like to experience your roots. How does it feel to be the first white person that others have ever seen. How does it feel like to be touched by a stranger. What is real fear like. On and on Michael Brein delves into travel experiences from the standpoint of what is interesting what is to be learned and what is to be gained. How can this be made to happen again. Or NOT at all. Michael Brein is sure that you will be mesmerized and captivated by the stories you read in his Travel Tales Monthly and in his Travel Psychologist Travel Tales

Series In this Issue No 5 Nov 2014 The November issue features such tales as The Black Book Confessions of a Customs Officer and Confessions of a Stewardess whereby travelers get themselves into trouble by behaving and acting in ways that make them guilty of doing dubious things while traveling overseas It is difficult enough to stick to the straight and narrow back home But what are the consequences of acting and behaving illegally or immorally in a foreign land And in one of our featured stories for this month The Black Book our traveler toys dangerously with several U S Federal authorities and becomes her own worst enemy And even worse and unbelievably a Pan Am stewardess gets in over her head by daring to become the mistress of the president of an Asian country How sensible or dangerous is that Acting in ways contrary to good common sense we have in this month s issue a number of travelers who dare to taunt fate in the face of possible dangerous and disastrous consequences And finally you will also see some aspects of travel that you yourself may not ever have even considered before And once again you will certainly experience vicariously those odd vagaries of travel life that can await you and can suddenly appear just around the corner at just about any turn along the way Winding up this month s issue is George Wingfield our guest contributor for this month who describes the hilarious antics of some very odd touring clients he has worked with in the U K

Perceptions of the Prehistoric in Anglo-Saxon England Sarah Semple,2013-10 Represents an unparalleled exploration of the place of prehistoric monuments in the Anglo Saxon psyche and examines how Anglo Saxon communities perceived and used these monuments during the period AD 400 1100 An Archaeology of Natural Places Richard Bradley,2013-04-15 This volume explores why natural places such as caves mountains springs and rivers assumed a sacred character in European prehistory and how the evidence for this can be analysed in the field It shows how established research on votive deposits rock art and production sites can contribute to a more imaginative approach to the prehistoric landscape and can even shed light on the origins of monumental architecture The discussion is illustrated through a wide range of European examples and three extended case studies An Archaeology of Natural Places extends the range of landscape studies and makes the results of modern research accessible to a wider audience including students and academics field archaeologists and those working in heritage management

Mining and Quarrying in Neolithic Europe Anne Teather,Peter Topping,Jon Baczkowski,2019-06-30 The social processes involved in acquiring flint and stone in the Neolithic began to be considered over thirty years ago promoting a more dynamic view of past extraction processes Whether by quarrying mining or surface retrieval the geographic source locations of raw materials and their resultant archaeological sites have been approached from different methodological and theoretical perspectives In recent years this has included the exploration of previously undiscovered sites refined radiocarbon dating comparative ethnographic analysis and novel analytical approaches to stone tool manufacture and provenancing The aim of this volume in the Neolithic Studies Group Papers is to explore these new findings on extraction sites and their products How did the acquisition of raw materials fit into other aspects of Neolithic life and social networks How did these activities merge in creating material items that underpinned cosmology status and identity What are the geographic similarities constraints and variables between the various raw materials and how does the practise of stone extraction in the UK relate to wider extractive traditions in northwestern Europe Eight papers address these questions and act as a useful overview of the current state of research on the topic The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2009 Whitaker's Books in Print ,1998 Thomas Hardy & John Cowper Powys Jeremy Robinson,1991 Dictionary of Earth Mysteries Janet Bord,Colin Bord,1996 An A Z guide to the ancient sites legends mysteries of Britain The dictionary includes stone circles burial grounds the green man folklore and ley lines Bronze and the Bronze Age Martyn Barber,2002 The authors explains how and why metal objects were made and used during the 1500 years of the Bronze age and shows their significance for the people who used them Cornish Bronze Age Ceremonial Landscapes C. 2500-1500 BC Andy M.
