Prehistoric Settlement Patterns In The Texcoco Region Mexico:

Prehistoric Settlement Patterns in the Texcoco Region, Mexico Jeffrey R. Parsons, 1971-01-01 In this volume archaeologist Jeffrey R Parsons presents research based on an extensive 1967 survey of the Texcoco Region in the Valley of Mexico The sites are organized by time period from Middle Formative to Aztec Parsons describes the sites in detail and compares them to those of the same time periods in the Teotihuacan Valley and the Valley of Mexico in general

Prehistoric Settlement Patterns in the Texcoco Region, Mexico... Contrib. by Richard E. Blanton and Mary H. Parsons Jeffrey R.. Parsons, Richard E.. Blanton, Mary H.. Parsons, 1971 Prehistoric settlement patterns in the Texcoco region Jeffrey R. Parsons, 1971 The Early Mesoamerican Village Kent V Flannery, 2019-10-28 One of the classic works of archaeology The Early Mesoamerican Village was among the first studies to fully embrace the processual movement of the 1970s Dancing around an ongoing dialogue on methods and goals between the Real Mesoamerican Archaeologist the Great Synthesizer and the Skeptical Graduate Student it is both a seminal tract on scientific method in archaeology and a series of studies on formative Mesoamerica It critically evaluates techniques for excavation sampling of sites and regions and stylistic analysis as well as such theoretical factors of explanation as population pressure trade and religion and launched similar studies for several later generations of archaeologists A new Foreword by Jeremy Sabloff is featured in this edition

Prehispanic Settlement Patterns in the Upper Mantaro and Tarma Drainages, Junín, Peru Jeffrey R. Parsons, Charles M. Hastings, Ramiro Matos M., 2000-01-01 An archaeological study of ancient settlement patterns in Peru's rugged and diverse central highlands Archeology and Volcanism in Central America Payson D. Sheets, 2014-07-03 Scientists have long speculated on the impact of extreme natural catastrophes on human societies Archeology and Volcanism in Central America provides dramatic evidence of the effects of several volcanic disasters on a major civilization of the Western Hemisphere that of the Maya During the past 2 000 years four volcanic eruptions have taken place in the Zapotitán Valley of southern El Salvador One the devastating eruption of Ilopango around A D 300 forced a major migration pushing the Mayan people north to the Yucatán Peninsula Although later eruptions did not have long range implications for cultural change one of the subsequent eruptions preserved the Cerén site a Mesoamerican Pompeii where the bodies of the villagers the palm thatched roofs of their houses the pots of food in their pantries even the corn plants in their fields were preserved with remarkable fidelity Throughout 1978 a multidisciplinary team of anthropologists archeologists geologists biologists and others sponsored by the University of Colorado's Protoclassic Project researched and excavated the results of volcanism in the Zapotitán Valley a key Mesoamerican site that contemporary political strife has since rendered inaccessible The result is an outstanding contribution to our understanding of the impact of volcanic eruptions on early Mayan civilization These investigations clearly demonstrate that the Maya inhabited this volcanically hazardous valley in order to reap the short term benefits that the volcanic ash produced fertile soil fine clays and obsidian deposits Prehispanic Domestic Units in

Western Mesoamerica Robert S. Santley, Kenneth G. Hirth, 1992-11-23 Prehispanic Domestic Units in Western Mesoamerica presents different analytical approaches for interpreting household composition and cultural site formation processes in prehispanic western Mesoamerica Archaeological data collected using both stratigraphic and reconnaissance methods are combined with and interpreted using a combination of ethnohistoric ethnographic and ethnoarchaeological information The result is a richer and more complete picture of prehispanic household structure than any single analytic approach could produce on its own The book is organized into several sections based on common theme and geographic area The first three chapters provide a broad discussion of conceptual and methodological difficulties that archaeologists must resolve in the study of prehispanic households Subsequent chapters present case studies which examine households from two areas of western Mesoamerica the Central Mexican highlands and the Gulf Coast of Mexico Eight case studies from the Central Mexican highlands provide a longitudinal perspective on changing household composition Four of these examine households during the late Formative Classic Epiclassic and Early Postclassic periods 650 B C A D 1200 while four others focus specifically on household structure during the century immediately preceding the Spanish Conquest Two additional case studies provide comparative information on household organization in the South Gulf Coast region during the Classic period Prehispanic Domestic Units in Western Mesoamerica Studies of the Household Compound and Residence will be an excellent reference for all anthropologists and archaeologists interested in prehispanic western Mesoamerica Aztec Archaeology and Ethnohistory Frances F. Berdan, 2014-04-21 Machine generated contents note Part I Setting the Stage 1 Discovering uncovering and interpreting the Aztec world 2 The Aztecs as Mesoamericans Part II Aztec Society and Culture 3 Living on the land 4 Craft specialization commerce and trade 5 City states and imperial rule 6 Living as an Aztec social status and daily life 7 Religion science and the arts 8 The Aztec world an integrated view Early State Formation in Central Madagascar Henry T. Wright, 2007-01-01 Distant Madagascar the island at the end of the world has many lessons to teach The ancestors of the Malagasy people established themselves at least 1500 years ago Again and again since their arrival the Malagasy have created new kinds of political communities This study concerns archaeological survey and excavations in the indigenous state of Imerina in the central highlands Journal of Mesoamerican Studies, 1984 Formative Lifeways in Central Tlaxcala, Volume 1 Richard G. Lesure, 2014-12-31 This book the first of a projected three reports on excavations at Formative period sites in the state of Tlaxcala Mexico The transition to the Formative in the relatively high altitude study region is later than in choice regions for early agriculture elsewhere in Mesoamerica From 900 BC however population growth and sociopolitical development were rapid A central claim in the research presented here is that a macroregional perspective is essential for understanding the local Formative sequence In this volume excavations at three village sites Amomoloc Tetel and Las Mesitas and one modest regional center La Laguna are reported Ceramics are described in detail An innovative approach to the classification of figurines is presented and a Formative chronology for the region is proposed based on seriation of refuse contexts and radiocarbon dates The work concludes with a macroregional framework to be used in the analysis of subsistence social relations and political economy in forthcoming volumes 2 and 3 PREHISPANIC SETTLEMENT PATTERNS David John Wilson,1988-06-17 Subtitled A Regional Perspective on the Origins and Development of Complex North Coast Society Side-by-Side Survey Susan Alcock,John Cherry,2016-10-02 Twenty years ago John Cherry looked forward to the day when archaeological survey projects working around the Mediterranean region the Frogs round the pond would begin to compare and synthesize the information they had collected He anticipated researchers tackling big questions of interregional scope in new and interesting ways working at a geographical scale considerably larger than that of the individual survey Was his optimism misplaced Despite the extraordinary growth of interest in field survey projects and regional analysis and despite the developments in survey methodology that have been discussed and implemented in the past two decades few scholars have attempted to use survey data in a comparative mode and to answer the broad scale questions confronting social historians In this volume which is the outcome of an advanced Workshop held at the University of Michigan in 2002 a number of prominent archaeologists return to the question of comparability They discuss the potential benefits of working in a comparative format with evidence from many different Mediterranean survey projects and consider the practical problems that present roadblocks to achieving that objective From mapping and manuring to human settlement and demography environment and culture each addresses different questions often with quite different approaches together they offer a range of perspectives on how to put surveys side by side Contributors include Susan E Alcock John Cherry Jack L Davis Peter Attema Martijn van Leusen James C Wright Robin Osborne David Mattingly T J Wilkinson and Richard E Blanton Memoirs of the Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology, Harvard University Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology,1937 Anthropological Papers Joyce Marcus,1990 The Evolution of Social Systems J. Friedman,M. J. Rowlands,1978 WORLD ARCHEOLOGY ,1974 Vertebrate Faunal Remains from Grasshopper Pueblo, Arizona John W. Olsen,1990 Analyzes the bones of animals found at Arizona s 14th century Grasshopper Pueblo in order to determine seasonality of procurement the nature and underlying causes of hunter selectivity and situational factors such as time constraints task group size and distance from the village Aztec City-state Capitals Michael Ernest Smith,2008 The Aztecs ruled much of Mexico from the thirteenth century until the Spanish conquest in 1521 Outside of the imperial capital of Tenochtitlan various urban centers ruled the numerous city states that covered the central Mexican landscape Aztec City State Capitals is the first work to focus attention outside Tenochtitlan revealing these dozens of smaller cities to have been the central hubs of political economic and religious life integral to the grand infrastructure of the Aztec empire Focusing on building styles urban townscapes layouts and designs Michael Smith combines two archaeological approaches monumental excavations of pyramids palaces and public buildings and social excavations of houses workshops and fields As a result he is able to integrate the urban built environment and the lives of the Aztec peoples as reconstructed from excavations Smith demonstrates the ways in which these city state capitals were different from Tenochtitlan and convincingly argues that urban design is the direct result of decisions made by political leaders to legitimize their own power and political roles in the states of the Aztec empire
