Confronting the Past Seymour (Sy) Gitin, J. Edward Wright, J. P. Dessel, 2006-06-30 William G Dever is recognized as the doyen of North American archaeologist historians who work in the field of the ancient Levant He is best known as the director of excavations at the site of Gezer but has worked at numerous other sites and his many students have led dozens of other expeditions He has been editor of the Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research for many years

professor in the influential archaeology program at the University of Arizona and now in retirement continues actively to write and publish In this volume 46 of his colleagues and students contribute essays in his honor reflecting the broad scope of his interests particularly in terms of the historical implications of archaeology

Lahav II: Households and the Use of Domestic Space at Iron II Tell Halif James W. Hardin, 2010-06-30 This volume focuses on the reconstruction of household organization during the Iron II period at Tell Halif It centers in particular on one four room pillared type building located in Area F7 of Field IV and on its remains which were sealed in a massive destruction that eclipsed the site in the late eighth century B C E This study was first prepared as a Ph D dissertation for the Department of Near Eastern Studies at the University of Arizona Hardin 2001 and has since been amplified and embellished by further research Published here are the results of research deliberately designed by the author to provide for more complete recovery and detailed recording in the field of all artifacts and other remains within a special refined three dimensional grid matrix These data in turn established a framework for studying the formation processes active on the materials and for conducting a spatial analysis of the assemblages in the building Along with developing ethnographic and ethnoarchaeological inferences these techniques are used to identify activities activity areas and social organization related to the building ultimately defining an archaeological household consisting of the pillared dwelling and its occupants Finally these conclusions are also related to reconstructions of the Iron II period household suggested by Hebrew Bible sources

The Oxford Encyclopedia of Archaeology in the Near East Eric M. Meyers, American Schools of Oriental Research, 1997 This comprehensive five volume work analyzes the archaeological and linguistic data that pertain to the broad cultural milieu of the ancient Near East the crossroads of three of the world's most influential religions Judaism Christianity and Islam Ranging from prehistoric times up to the early centuries of the rise of Islam the work covers the civilizations of Syria Palestine Mesopotamia Anatolia Iran Arabia Cyprus Egypt and the coastal regions of North and East Africa It includes 1 125 alphabetically arranged entries on sites languages material culture archaeological methods organizations and institutions and major excavators and scholars of the field This one of a kind accessibly written reference brings new breadth to the study of archaeology in the biblical world making it a valuable resource not only to scholars and students of archaeology but also to those with an interest in ancient art and architecture languages history and religion Alibris com

Field O Marylinda Govaars, Marie Spiro, L. Michael White, 2009 In the northwest quarter of the site of Caesarea Maritima is Field O the location known as the synagogue site and Jewish Quarter Although excavated in 1956 and 1962 archaeologists and scholars researching the excavation results have been limited to seeing a brush choked patch of excavated ruins viewing a few artifacts in museums and to the frustrating examination of the confusing often contradictory published preliminary reports For whatever reason there was no final report published and there were no published photographs site plans or plans of the structures This lack of clear understanding threatened to keep the site out of the corpus of synagogue sites forever Now comprehensive research has discovered previously unknown records from the 1962 excavations and produced a comparative study of the 1945-46, 1956-62 and 1982-84 excavation photographs and the complete findings from the Joint Expedition to Caesarea Maritima survey and excavation seasons Included for the first time are a site plan of the excavated remains and reconstruction drawings of the excavated structures Encyclopedia of Prehistory Peter N.
