Secret Cemetery:

The Secret Cemetery Doris Francis, Leonie Kellaher, Georgina Neophytou, 2020-07-12 Burial sites have long been recognized as a way to understand past civilizations Yet the meanings of our present day cemeteries have been virtually ignored even though they reveal much about our cultures Exploring an extraordinarily diverse range of memorial practice Greek Orthodox Muslim Jewish Roman Catholic and Anglican as well as the unchurched The Secret Cemetery is an intriguing study of what these places of death mean to the living Most of us experience cemeteries at a ritualized moment of loss What we forget is that these are often places to which we return either as a general space in which to contemplate or as a specific site to be tended These are also places where different communities can reinforce boundaries and even recreate a sense of homeland Over time ritual artefact and place shape an intensely personal landscape of memory and mourning a landscape more alive more actively engaged with than many of the other places we inhabit The Secret Cemetery Doris

Francis, Leonie Kellaher, Georgina Neophytou, 2020-07-12 Burial sites have long been recognized as a way to understand past civilizations Yet the meanings of our present day cemeteries have been virtually ignored even though they reveal much about our cultures Exploring an extraordinarily diverse range of memorial practice Greek Orthodox Muslim Jewish Roman Catholic and Anglican as well as the unchurched The Secret Cemetery is an intriguing study of what these places of death mean to the living Most of us experience cemeteries at a ritualized moment of loss What we forget is that these are often places to which we return either as a general space in which to contemplate or as a specific site to be tended These are also places where different communities can reinforce boundaries and even recreate a sense of homeland Over time ritual artefact and place shape an intensely personal landscape of memory and mourning a landscape more alive more actively engaged with than many of the other places we inhabit The Ethics of Everyday Life Michael Banner, 2014-10-23 The moments in Christ's human life noted in the creeds his conception birth suffering death and burial are events which would likely appear in a syllabus for a course in social anthropology for they are of special interest and concern in human life and also sites of contention and controversy where what it is to be human is discovered constructed and contested In other words these are the occasions for profound and continuing questioning regarding the meaning of human life as controversies to do with IVF abortion euthanasia and the use of bodies or body parts post mortem plainly indicate Thus the following questions arise how do the instances in Christ's life represent human life and how do these representations relate to present day cultural norms expectations and newly emerging modes of relationship themselves shaping and framing human life How does the Christian imagination of human life which dwells on and draws from the life of Christ not only articulate its own but also come into conversation with and engage other moral imaginaries of the human Michael Banner argues that consideration of these questions requires study of moral theology therefore he reconceives its nature and tasks and in particular its engagement with social anthropology Drawing from social anthropology and Christian thought and practice from many periods and influenced especially by his engagement in public policy matters including as a member of the UK's Human Tissue Authority

Cemeteries of Ambivalent Desire Marie Theresa Hernández, 2008 Growing up as the daughter of a funeral director in Fort Bend County Texas Marie Theresa Hernández was a frequent visitor to the San Isidro Cemetery a burial place for Latino workers at the Imperial Sugar Company based in nearby Sugar Land During these years she acquired from her father and mother a sense of what it was like to live as an ethnic minority in Jim Crow Texas Therefore returning to the cemetery as an ethnographer offered Hernández a welcome opportunity to begin piecing together a narrative of the lives and struggles of the Mexican American community that formed her heritage However Hernández soon realized that San Isidro contained hidden depths The cemetery was built on the former grounds of an old slave owning plantation Her story quickly burgeoned from one of immigrant laborers working the land of the giant sugar company to one of the slave laborers who had worked the sugar plantations decades before but whose history had been largely wiped out of the narrative of the affluent white majority county Much like an archeologist Hernández began carefully brushing away layers of time to reveal the fragile entombed remnants of a complex unknown past A professional photographer as well as a scholar Hernández provides visual images to spur the reader's imagination and anchor the narrative in historical reality She mines interviews newspaper accounts and other primary sources interpreted through her own rich sense of place and time to reconstruct the identity of a community where the Old South the wealthy New South and the culture from south of the border all come together to form an almost iconic symbol for today's America In this complex and nuanced self-reflexive ethnography Hernández interweaves personal memory and group history ethnic experience and class even death and life A General Index to the Private Laws and Special Acts of the State of Connecticut Connecticut, 1897
