An Illustrated Short History of Progress Ronald Wright, 2006 In these acclaimed CBC Massey Lectures Ronald Wright argues that each time history repeats itself the price goes up The twentieth century was a time of runaway growth in human population consumption and technology placing a colossal load on all natural systems He demonstrates how our modern predicament is as old as civilization a 10 000 year experiment we have participated in but seldom controlled Only by understanding the patterns of human triumph and disaster can we recognize the experiment's inherent dangers and shape its outcome Wright's provocative text evokes striking images across time and space starting with Paul Gauguin's painting D O Venons Nous Que Sommes Nous O Allons Nous Where do we come from What are we Where are we going three questions that perfectly summarize the focus of his lectures In this new edition illuminating illustrations and sidebars complement Wright's arguments and allow readers to witness further evidence supporting his cautionary tale pub desc A Short History of Progress Ronald Wright, 2005 From Neanderthal man to the Sumerians to the Roman Empire A Short History of Progress dissects the cyclical nature of humanity's development and demise the 10 000 year old experiment that people have unleashed but have yet to control Reconstructing Value Elizabeth Kurucz, Barry Colbert, David Wheeler, 2013-03-05 Reconstructing Value prepares contemporary business leaders for the increasingly important task of developing a sustainability vision and translating it across levels in an organization The book is based on insights gained over the past decade from research involving hundreds of practitioners front line managers to senior executives who have been working to integrate sustainability within their organizations It illustrates how building capacity for managing the complex issues of sustainability requires key process skills that leaders need to develop This book equips readers to respond to the risks and opportunities presented by global sustainability issues and reinvent new ways of doing business that will enhance organizational effectiveness while also building a more sustainable world Each chapter includes process questions to guide reflective practice and to build the requisite leadership capabilities for turning a sustainability vision into a value added organizational strategy Reconstructing Value helps readers to build integrative thinking skills such as how to engage critical complexity strategic and design thinking capabilities to enable organizational change that can assist them with becoming successful sustainability champions within their organizations The Anansi Reader Lynn Coady, 2007 In 1967 then unknown writers David Godfrey and Dennis Lee founded a small press they grandly named The House of Anansi after an African trickster spider god Their goal was to publish groundbreaking new Canadian work in three core genres literary fiction poetry and topical nonfiction Forty years later Anansi is not only going strong but enjoying a fascinating creative renaissance bolstered by both its important backlist and its renewed commitment to seeking out the best new writers and ideas to publish alongside its established ones Assembled by award winning writer Lynn Coady The Anansi Reader features excerpts from ten of the best books from each decade of the existence of the press for a total of 40 entries Samples from

Interview with Ronald Wright a novelist essayist historian philosopher and the author of nine books including the 2004 CBC Massey Lectures A Short History of Progress which won the Libris Award for Nonfiction Book of the Year and was subsequently produced as a documentary film with Martin Scorsese as its executive producer. Wright is also a compelling and well regarded speaker who began as an archaeologist and then returned to it later looking for patterns in the rise and fall of human societies. He says it tells us that people all over the world time and again have made similar advances and mistakes. When societies fail and almost all do sooner or later the story is remarkably consistent. Conscious Endeavors Robert Martin Abbott, 2009. Written by one of Canada's most experienced sustainability strategists this collection of essays and speeches organized into four sections Origins Homage Reflection and Renewal blends business advice autobiographical reflection and poetic meditation to explain why companies have a responsibility to protect the environment. Drawing on examples from economics environmental studies history and popular culture the discussions show that humans like to elevate themselves and do good for others ideals that transcend the importance of profit and loss. Canadian Who's Who 2008 Elizabeth Lumley, 2008-01-05.
